This institution, in compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Executive Order 11246 as amended, Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, and other federal laws and regulations does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion, handicap, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. This includes, but is not limited to admissions, employment, financial aid, and educational services.
University of Illinois professor Dr. David S. Seigler and Colonel Jerry Wayne Grizzle of Edmond will be inducted into the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame during homecoming activities Oct. 8 on the Weatherford campus.

Seigler, a native of Wichita Falls, Texas, is a 1961 graduate of Southwestern where he majored in chemistry. Grizzle graduated from SWOSU in 1976 majoring in accounting.

The pair will be recognized at the Southwestern Alumni and Friends Luncheon at 11:30 a.m. in the Student Union Ballroom with formal induction scheduled during halftime of the 2 p.m. homecoming football game at Milam Stadium. SWOSU President Dr. Joe Anna Hibler will present each recipient with a plaque.

Tickets for the luncheon are $8 and must be purchased or reserved in advance. Tickets are available in the SWOSU Development and Alumni Office located in Room 201 of the Administration Building. Tickets can be reserved by calling (405) 774-3267.

Dr. David S. Seigler is currently a professor in the Department of Plant Biology and Horticulture at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He has been at the Illinois university since 1970. During that time, Seigler has authored or coauthored over 100 publications and has participated in several book projects. His latest book “Plant Secondary Metabolism,” will be released soon by Chapman and Hall of New York City.

Seigler’s research focus has been on the role of plant compounds in biological problems, such as plant insects, plant fungal and plant herbivore interactions. Much of his work has involved cyanide and tannins from plants and study of acacia and passiflora species. He has conducted research in several Latin American countries and received a Fulbright-Hays Lecturing Research Grant to teach at the...
Seigler is married to Weatherford native Janice Cline. They have two daughters: Dava Carson of Champaign, Ill., and Rebecca Musgrove of Urbana, Illinois. The Seiglers also have four grandchildren.

Colonel Jerry Wayne Grizzle is president and chief executive officer of Skolniks Bagels, a nationwide producer of bagels, in Oklahoma City. He is also deputy commander of the 45th separate infantry of the Oklahoma Army National Guard. He is the youngest full colonel in the state of Oklahoma. Grizzle will be inducted into the Officer Candidate School Hall of Fame in Fort Benning, Ga., in early September.

As deputy commander, Grizzle is responsible for all matters affecting the combat readiness of the command which consists of 3,300 soldiers. He was named to the post in July. He has been involved in the Army National Guard for come 22 years. Later this year, he will complete the process of becoming a brigadier general.

Grizzle is a native of Oklahoma City and a graduate of Tulsa Nathan Hale High School. He attended Southwestern on a football scholarship and was active in Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He earned his bachelor's degree from SWOSU and completed a master's degree from the University of Central Oklahoma in 1983.

He continues to participate and support many educational and civic-oriented events. He has been active with the SWOSU School of Business Alumni Association and currently serves on the Board of Directors of the SWOSU Foundation. Grizzle and his wife recently established a $50,000 endowment with the SWOSU Foundation.

Grizzle's wife, Shawn, is also a Southwestern graduate. Shawn (Pearsall) earned her bachelor's degree in 1975 and master's in 1979. They have two children: Brittany Nicole and Matthew Ryan.

Southwestern Oklahoma State University women's rodeo team won the national championship title at the 1994 College National Finals Rodeo which finished up June 19 in Bozeman, Mont.

Dr. Don Mitchell's women's team easily won the title with 780 points. This title was the second one for Dr. Mitchell's women's program which also won the national title in 1988.

Tori Woodard, junior from Miles City, Mont., and Shelley Johnston, senior from Garden City, Kan., led the SWOSU women to the title. Woodard won the women's all-around title with 360 points, while Johnston was runner-up with 295. Johnston has won the all-around title in 1993. The other member of Southwestern's national title team was Shelley's sister, Kelley Johnston.

The SWOSU men's team also fared well at this year's CNFR finishing fourth. The cowboys were shooting for their third straight national title, but Vernon Texas Junior College snapped the streak.

Southwestern did have a men's reserve champion as senior Craig Miller of Miles City, Mont., finished second in the average of saddle bronc riding with scores of 71, 71, and 70 for a total of 221. Southwestern's Woodard also won a reserve championship in barrel racing.

Other top finishes by SWOSU cowboys and cowgirls were turned in by Shelley Johnston, Kelley Johnston and Eric Mouton of Lafayette, La.

Shelley Johnston took first place in the first go-round of goat tying and breakaway roping with 8.0 and 2.7 times, respectively. She also was third in the second go-round of goat tying with a 7.9 time. Kelley Johnston ended up fourth in the average of breakaway.

Mouton split first and second in the first go-round of bareback with a score of 76.

Southwestern has now won five national rodeo team titles. The men's squad owns titles in 1985, 1992 and 1993, while the women have national titles in 1988 and this year in 1994.
Golf team places in national tourney

Southwestern's golf team placed 15 in the 1994 NAIA National Golf Tournament held in late May at the Tulsa Country Club in Tulsa, OK.

Cecil Perkins' Bulldogs survived the cut after the first two rounds of action and finished with rounds of 301-308-317-299 for a totals of 1225. Winning the championship was Huntingdon, Ala., with a 1773 score.

Southwestern's scores were Shannon Friday, Guthrie, 300; Casey McCoy, Oklahoma City (Putnam City), 309; Bret Matlock, Clinton, 310; Matt Jett, Oklahoma City (PC North), 311; and Bill Jennings, Moore, 317.

Southwestern's latest team visit to the national tourney came in 1990. This year's squad finished second at the district tourney, falling by only two shots to OCU which earned the automatic berth to the national tourney. SWOSU was ranked high enough in the national poll to land an at-large berth.

Baseballers named to NAIA All-District Teams

SWOSU baseball player Chuck Frizzell of Weatherford was named to the 1994 NAIA All-District 9 first team, while three other Bulldogs were named to the second team.

Selected to the second team were catcher Ricky Condit, Locust Grove; pitcher Doug Kaiser, Weatherford; and third baseman Jason Ward, Cleveland.

Frizzell was a repeat selection from 1993 in the district first team. The Bulldog first baseman hit .319 during his senior season and led the team in RBIs (42) and home runs (10). He was honored on the first team by being named designated hitter.

Ward was a newcomer to the team after transferring from Connors State Junior College. The junior led the team in hitting with a .359 batting average. He led the team in runs (46), hits (52) and doubles (13). He was second in RBIs (38) and home runs (7) behind Frizzell.

Condit also joined the Bulldogs in 1994 having transferred from Cowley County Community College in Arkansas City, KS. Condit also a junior was a steady force at catcher for the Bulldogs. He was fourth on the team in RBIs with 22. He also had 9 doubles and 3 home runs during the year.

Kaiser, a senior, pitched a team high 97.1 innings during the season and ended up with a 4.623 earned run average. He pitched 11 complete games and ended up with an 8-6 record. He struck out 80 batters and only walked 26.

Larry Geurkink's squad ended the 1994 season with a 22-22 record and qualified for the NAIA District 9 playoffs.
It's not too often that an employee retires after working 38 years for the same employer. But it's more unique when there are two at the same time.

Dr. H.F. Timmons and Dr. Albert Gabriel are retiring from Southwestern Oklahoma State University this summer. Both came to Southwestern in the same year of 1956 and now both are leaving in the same year of 1994.

Dr. Timmons is retiring as Dean of the School of Health Sciences, while Dr. Gabriel is leaving his post as chairman of the Economics/Business Administration Department in the School of Business. The two have been fixtures around the Southwestern campus for a long time even though both of them agree that when they first came to SWOSU, it would only be for a short time.

The year was 1956 and Southwestern's enrollment was around 1,200 which is just one-fourth of today's 5,000 enrollment on the Weatherford campus. The Student Union opened that year and work started that fall on Rankin Williams Field House. The atmosphere was different than today.

Dr. Timmons added with a laugh, "You not only knew the students, but you knew about them."

Timmons and Gabriel, who are good friends, have seen many changes throughout the years at Southwestern. They have seen the building of four of the six dormitories and the construction of major buildings such as the Math and Business Building, the Chemistry/Pharmacy/Physics Building, the Al Harris Library, and the Fine Arts Center. They have seen the campus grow from a small area to what it is today.

"The contributions they have made are far-reaching on this campus," Dr. Hibler said. "They have impacted so many students and have provided leadership in so many aspects of the university. You don't replace the kind of contributions they have made in the past 38 years."

"Southwestern has been a way of life for them—not just a way to make a living," Dr. Hibler said.

Timmons was teaching at Central High School in Oklahoma City when he decided to accept the position at Southwestern where he taught half-time in biology and half-time in chemistry. Timmons had earned his bachelor's degree from Oklahoma State University and both his master's and doctorate from the University of Oklahoma.

Timmons has served the university in a number of capacities—including acting dean of the School of Pharmacy twice—and has served as president of the Faculty Senate and Faculty Association, sponsor of the student senate for seven years, faculty sponsor for Rho Chi honorary pharmacy fraternity and recently chairman of the university segment of the SWOSU Foundation's "Building on Our Heritage" capital campaign.

Gabriel has been at Southwestern since receiving his master's degree from the University of Oklahoma. He received his bachelor's degree from Central State University in Edmond. He did take a leave of absence from his job at SWOSU to complete his doctorate at Michigan State University. In the School of Business, Gabriel has taught everything except for accounting.

He has served as chairman of the Economics/Business Administration Department since 1977. He has also been involved in the Faculty Senate and has served on the university's Athletic Council and various committees.

Timmons retired from Southwestern on June 30, while Gabriel's last day was the end of July.

As Timmons reflected, "There's not many of us left of that 1956 vintage."
Clifford T. Meece of Sallisaw was named the Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Pharmacy Outstanding Alumnus for 1994 during the annual senior awards banquet held recently on the Weatherford Campus.

A native of Granfield, Meece is a member of the Southwestern Class of 1959 and is currently the co-owner of the Wal-Mart Pharmacy in Sallisaw. He has been a strong supporter of the SWOSU School of Pharmacy.

Meece has been active in both his community and profession of pharmacy. He is first vice president of the Oklahoma Pharmaceutical Association and will serve as president in two years. He has also served on several key committees in OPhA.

In Sallisaw, he has been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club and serves as a deacon in the Sallisaw Church of Christ. He has received numerous awards including Outstanding Citizen Award from the Sallisaw Chamber and Distinguished Service Award from the Oklahoma State School Board Association.

He and his wife Francis have two children, Lee Ann and Mike. Both children are SWOSU pharmacy graduates. Lee Ann graduated in 1988 and lives in Pampa, Texas, while Mike graduated in 1991 and lives in Tulsa. The entire family are all lifetime members of the SWOSU Pharmacy Alumni Association.

Dr. Robert Sweet elected President of American Diabetes Association

Robert A. Sweet, M.D. of Springfield has been elected President of the American Diabetes Association, Missouri Affiliate, Inc. Dr. Sweet, a practicing endocrinologist and Medical Director of the Center for Internal Medicine, will lead the more than 25,000.

"The next two years will be quite a challenge" said Sweet, "we have much work to do in the area of treating people with diabetes."

Dr. Sweet graduated from Burns Flat High School and is a 1968 SWOSU pharmacy graduate. He and his wife Barbara have two children, Tiffany and Robert Jr.
AT&T donates $100,000 computer lab

Students at both branches of Southwestern will have the opportunity to utilize an innovative technology to enrich their educational experiences with new computer laboratories donated by AT&T.

The grant is valued at $100,000, according to President Dr. Joe Anna Hibler, who recently received notification of the donation. AT&T publicly announced the grant June 8, 1994.

Through its University Donation Equipment Program, AT&T is providing multimedia computer laboratories valued at $3.5 million to 35 colleges and universities in the United States, Brazil, Nicaragua, Russia, and Taiwan.

The only other school in Oklahoma to receive the grant was Oklahoma State University in Stillwater.

Through its University Donation Equipment Program, AT&T is providing multimedia computer laboratories valued at $3.5 million to 35 colleges and universities in the United States, Brazil, Nicaragua, Russia, and Taiwan.

The only other school in Oklahoma to receive the grant was Oklahoma State University in Stillwater.

The donation at each school will employ networked computing which integrates computers, applications software, communications, and data networks to provide information management solutions.

Each lab will include 20 multimedia work stations, high-capacity CD-ROM storage, a server (or host computer that connects the work stations), a laser printer, networking hardware, and related software.

The computer equipment being donated to this school will be utilized as a part of the university’s video distance learning network. The video network, constructed by AT&T and Dobson Fiber, is scheduled to be extended in the future to high schools, vocational technical schools, and community learning centers throughout the state.

The computers are manufactured by AT&T Global Information Solutions. The AT&T University Equipment Donation Program is an invitational program that has contributed more than $290 million worth of computer equipment to colleges and universities since it began in 1984.

AT&T has been working on the project with the SWOSU Office of Sponsored Programs, directed by Dr. Bill Kermis, and Dr. Les Price, director of the video distance learning network.

Want to have your cake and eat it, too? It’s possible.

Successful alumni of our colleges agree they owe their success to the faculties and institutions that graduated them. Many alumni plan to “give back” to their schools some kind of remuneration, as a thank you, for their success.

Some wish to give money; others endow property to a school of their choice. In every case, schools are always in need of additional funds for their budget. Most colleges and universities have special committees dedicated to fund raising for their institutions.

If you have been planning to give back to your school, here is an idea you can use. The feelings of most alumni is that they want to make gifts, but they would also like to have control of their funds in case of an emergency.

Controlling the funds of your gift until your death, or until you are sure you won’t need them can be accomplished now through a special type of Certificate of Endowment Annuity. You may have access to your gift at any time, but at your death, the gift will be passed directly to the school of your choice without probate. Furthermore, it is not necessary to mention this gift in your will.
Eight recognized at luncheon

President Dr. Joe Anna Hibler recently honored area residents for their contributions to Southwestern Oklahoma State University Foundation. Jerry and Linda Allen, Dr. Richard and Madeline Baugher, Marion and Dolores Davidson, all of Weatherford, and Jim and Helen King of Altus are members of the President's Club. This club recognizes members who donate at least $1,000 during a fiscal year. They were honored with a plaque presentation during a luncheon held at Weatherford.
Supporters contributed generously to Southwestern in 1993 donations.

Please note
This is a complete listing of the donors for the calendar year 1993. The new policy will be that each spring the donor list will appear in Echoes from the Hill and each fall the alumni list will appear.

A partial donor list was in the fall 1993 issue.
Reasons gift giving is important

Taxpayers will need to uncover new deductions to cope with higher tax bills, and contribution deductions are the easiest place to dig. Carefully choosing your gift and how to give it provides more support than you ever imagined. Here are the benefits:

• Income Tax Savings
  Every dollar you contribute can yield a charitable deduction that will cut your taxes.

• Capital Gains Tax Savings
  If you give securities or other appreciated property that you have owned more than one year, you can avoid the tax on the gain. However, your deduction will be figured on the full market value.

• Estate Tax Savings
  Gifts made during your lifetime or through your estate help reduce your estate tax.

• High Brackets Can Increase Tax Savings
  The new, higher income tax rates make charitable deductions more valuable. For example, a $1,000 gift saves $280 for a taxpayer in the 28% bracket, making the real cost of the gift $720. The same $1,000 gift in the 39.6% bracket saves $396, costing the donor just $604.

  Suppose your own stock has doubled in value since you bought it. The chart (below) shows the tax savings you could realize with a gift of stock this year.

  Each year, thousands of people contribute their time, talents, and money to the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Foundation. Indeed, private philanthropy is the foundation of our charitable endeavor and we hope you will want to continue this worthwhile tradition.

Hiler wins Thomas P. Stafford Scholarship

Kristie Hiler, senior at Weatherford High School, has received this year’s General Thomas P. Stafford Scholarship at Southwestern Oklahoma State University.

The scholarship is a full scholarship which is renewable each year. All college expenses are paid. Stafford started the scholarship in 1993 when he, along with the help of several New York Stock Exchange companies, started an endowment to benefit Weatherford High School graduates who plan to attend school at SWOSU.

Hiler is the daughter of David and Linda Hiler of Weatherford. She has been active in choir and band serving as drum major. She has participated in Future American Teachers, Future Homemakers of America. Also she has participated in the Weatherford Drug-Free Youth Program, and was named in the listing of Who's Who Among American High School Students.
Old Music Building makes way for new renovations

Demolition of the Old Music Building on the SWOSU campus at Weatherford started Saturday, June 11.

The building, located just to the northeast of the Administration Building in the middle of the campus, is being torn down to accommodate a new 60,000 square foot classroom building which will be built as the result of the recent state-wide bond issue (State Questions 649 and 650) passed by Oklahoma residents.

SWOSU officials recently retrieved a time capsule which was placed in the Old Music Building back in 1925. Included in the capsule were lists of the members of the State Board of Affairs, State Board of Education, County Superintendents of Southwestern Oklahoma and the 1925 state legislature.

Also included were the 1925-26 fall quarterly bulletin of Southwestern State Teacher's College, the Nov. 3, 1925 issue of The Southwestern newspaper, a 1900 quarter and a 1925 penny.

The new buildings should be completed by fall 1995.

Southwestern’s music department well-represented in state auditions

Five vocal music students from Southwestern were among the winners at the recent state auditions of the National Association of Teachers of Singing held in Stillwater.

Amy Wegner of Ardmore, Billy Zang of Altus, John Ward of Cordell and Matt Magill and Nancy Simpson, both of Weatherford, were all winners in their divisions at the auditions which attracted over 200 vocal students from colleges and universities in Oklahoma.

Wegner won first place in sophomore, while Magill took first place in the high school men competition. Zang was second in senior men, while Ward was second in upper graduate men. Simpson finished third in lower graduate women. The finalists are students of Dr. Debra Spurgeon and Dr. Charles Chapman of the SWOSU music faculty.

Southwestern’s band will march in the homecoming parade held in downtown Weatherford at 10 a.m.!

Notes on Former Faculty

Dr. Elbert L. Little, Jr., an Okie from Muskogee who lives in Arlington, Va., with botanist wife Ruby, claims to be one of the oldest living former professors of Southwestern Oklahoma State University.

He was assistant professor of biology from January 1930 to July 1933. His specialty is writing tree identification books. He has written about 25, some with co-authors, more in preparation.

He had a long career with the USDA Forest Service and now in retirement he is a research associate for the Smithsonian Institute in the Department of Botany.

Also, he revised the popular handbook, Forest Trees of Oklahoma. Two of his recent Oklahoma awards are Distinguished Oklahoma Scientist in 1992 awarded by the Oklahoma Academy of Science and The Professional Achievement Alumni Award of the University of Oklahoma.
Dr. John Folks named new Dean of School of Education

Dr. John Folks, superintendent of Midwest City-Del City Public Schools since 1988 and former Oklahoma State Superintendent, has been appointed Dean of the School of Education at SWOSU.

After earning a bachelor’s degree in education from the University of Oklahoma in 1970, Folks started in the field of education. He was teacher and coach at Thomas Jefferson High School in Port Arthur, TX and Western Heights High School in Oklahoma City before joining the Oklahoma State Department of Education in 1975.

While at the state department, he served as assistant controller, controller, director of secondary education and associate deputy state superintendent of public instruction before becoming state superintendent in 1984. He was state superintendent until 1988 when he took the superintendent position at the Mid-Del school district. The district has over 15,000 students and 1,700 employees.

Folks led the implementation of the Teacher Education Reform Act in Oklahoma and has served on national boards and commissions associated with teacher education.

Twenty-two new faculty hired for fall term at Weatherford and Sayre Campuses

There will be several new faces on the Southwestern Oklahoma State University campuses at Weatherford and Sayre starting this fall.

SWOSU Academic Vice President Dr. Bob Brown said there will be 20 new faculty on the Weatherford campus and two on the Sayre campus. The new faculty will be meeting with other faculty and administrators on Aug. 22, to kick off the 1994-95 academic year.

The new faculty members are replacing Southwestern faculty members who either left for other jobs or announced their retirements. Among those retiring this summer included Dr. Virginia Dick and Dr. Keren Miller, both in the home economics department; Claude D. Kezer, language arts; Dr. Wanda Stimson, elementary and special education; Dr. Edward Neparko, chemistry; and Earl Raleigh, office administration/business education department.

Dr. Dick and Dr. Miller were long-time faculty members having taught various courses in the home economics department. Dr. Miller started at SWOSU in 1966, while Dick started her career at Southwestern in 1968.

Kezer was also at SWOSU for over 25 years. He started in 1969, taught speech and theatre classes and was involved in numerous theatrical productions. Dr. Stimson taught in the School of Education since 1983. She was very active in special education activities of SWOSU.

Neparko and Raleigh were also long-time faculty members. Neparko came to SWOSU in 1963 while Raleigh started in 1969. Neparko taught various courses in the chemistry department, while Raleigh taught in the School of Business.
