THE BEGINNING

We are what has gone before us in the spirits and minds of those who know and shape us . . .

Waving, emerald, musky grasslands, far from civilization, in a savage and wild land, beckoned to the boomers and sooners of land rush days. Eager men and women with the adventurous itch to begin anew, to make their own individual life for themselves, flooded over the southwestern part of Oklahoma.
These were proud people with a zest and will to live that few have equaled since.

A college is reflective of its environment and those who created it. Southwestern reflects this spirit of its founding fathers.
These pioneers came to a raw and untamed grassland and through sheer will and hard work wrought a living from its rich soil and built a town that would one day give birth to a state senator and one of the first men to go to the moon. Southwestern State College is proud of the fine heritage these early settlers left, for it was their spirit and fortitude that later built the Southwestern Normal School in 1903. It was in this year that concerned Oklahomans in the Southwest realized the need for quality education. Southwestern was ultimately established to train teachers for the future builders of Oklahoma.
On a fine day in February, 1899, shortly after the Choctaw railroad reached Weatherford, a milling crowd of possibly 600 people including the governor of the Territory and practically his entire legislature toiled by horse and buggy and afoot through ankle deep sand up a wagon road leading to the top of an open hill a half mile north of the new site of the town.

Newspaper accounts of the day claimed that that hectic day would prove to be the real beginning of the choice of Weatherford as the site for the establishment of the state institution called Southwestern Normal School. It was also asserted that the location of the state school here would save Weatherford, despite its head start as one of the first towns of importance in central western Oklahoma "from later obscurity and eclipse."

Three men, Beeks Erick, Ed Keen, and a Dr. Ballard were playing a heads-up game to get the governor, mustached Cassius M. Barnes, and his legislature into Weatherford that day. The territorial legislature had chosen several prospective towns as sites for institutions, and others were to come. Consequently, Erick, Keen, and Ballard got together and decided that Weatherford should have one of the "plums," not caring whether it was a college, penitentiary, hospital or what, just so it was a territorial institution.

Erick had the land for the site. He had come in with the new town's founding and had purchased the land on which Weatherford now stands. The forty acres composing the present college campus was part of a quarter section Erick called his homestead, though he did not actually homestead it but merely purchased a relinquishment from the original settler.
While Ballard induced the governor and the lawmakers to leave their regular session at the capital in Guthrie and come to Weatherford to inspect the proposed site of the new institution, Beeks Erick set about arranging for a special train at Oklahoma City to bring the party of governor, legislators, and their friends who wanted to see the “wild west” to Weatherford. It was only a few months after the railroad line had reached Weatherford, and it was said that the railroad provided all of the transportation without cost, as was the frequent policy of railway companies upon reaching new land.

A large committee, which included practically every responsible business man (except saloonkeepers) in Weatherford was formed to meet the dignitaries. A man named Colonel Hamilton, described as a “Chicago ward-heeler,” was to make the speech of welcome. Marion Truex, livery stableman, was in charge of the conveyance and rounded up every rig in town to fill the bill.

It was a gala day in Weatherford. The town provided free meals for the official visitors and many others as well. At his hotel Keen fed between 30 and 40 people. Ed Sullivan at the Sullivan Hotel served several hundred meals. In all, it was reported that some 300 people took advantage of the free dinners.
Finally, after all were well fed, and, according to at least one account were quite happily under the influence of whiskey, the party was led north of town to a hill covered with waist-high bluestem grass. It was a primitive western Oklahoma hill, elevated somewhat above the surrounding hills, unchanged since the days four centuries before when the white man first moved onto the North American continent to begin civilizing it.

Below to the south lay the town of Weatherford. Between the summit of the hill and the town lay an open slope, a pasture. Eastward the eye could carry across white shining sheets of sand and cedar-choked canyons twenty miles to the thin dark stripe on the horizon that marked the blackjacks on the banks of the South Canadian River.

The town leaders considered the reception a big success, but in reality it was only the beginning of a hot court fight to secure the institution. The committee Barnes appointed to select a site for the Southwestern Normal School did approve Weatherford. However, the committee went out of office when Governor Burns' term ended in 1901. The new committee, chosen by the new Governor Ferguson selected Granite as the site, and the fight was on.

Dr. J. J. Williams was the most prominent in leading the fight. He was elected Territorial Senator from this district. George Ruddell, a loyal Republican and Adolph Bollenback, editor of the Custer County Republican, a weekly newspaper that later became the Weatherford Booster, aided in the battle.

Construction actually began at Granite but the Weatherford men claiming the old committee's decision had been official, filed an injunction against the construction at Granite, and the injunction was sustained by Judge Bureem of the district court.

With the whole southwestern part of the state watching the fight, Weatherford finally won in district court and the victory was upheld in the Territorial Supreme Court. Bonfires and joyful shouting crowds greeted each of these victories and so great was the jubilation at the final clinching decision that many old buildings in Weatherford were torn down and sacrificed to the victory of bonfire flames.
Finally, after all of the long struggles, the first school year began in September of 1903, with James Robert Campbell serving as president. The cornerstone of the old Administration Building was the first completed on campus. With great ceremony the cornerstone was laid on July 4, 1903. In December of that year its doors were officially opened. While the building was going up, classes were held in several downtown buildings including the Congregational church, store buildings, and a number of vacant saloons.

The name of the school has gone through quite a few changes since then. In 1921 we became Southwestern State Teachers College, and in 1939 the school became Southwestern State College of Diversified Occupations. During the first week of March, 1941 the name was changed to Southwestern Institute of Technology, and then later to Southwestern State College.
The city of Weatherford has always been one of Southwestern State College's best promoters. During the early 1920's, Weatherford, in conjunction with the Normal School printed a pamphlet extolling the virtues of both the institution and its home community. As the brochure is interesting for drawing analogies between then and now, we have elected to print it in its entirety.

"The Southwestern State Normal School is located in the city of Weatherford, Oklahoma, which has a population of 2,500, an abundance of pure water, electric light and power, sanitary sewers, good sidewalks, and splendid shade trees.

"The purpose of the institution is the training of teachers for the public schools of Oklahoma.

"There is a power house, and a janitors' home on the campus. About 2,500 beautiful shade trees adorn the campus and driveways. No Normal School in Oklahoma is better equipped. Tuition is free to residents of Oklahoma.

"There are athletic games, lectures, musicales, chautauquas, and other brilliant features which give life to the school.

"Southwestern leads the State Normals in its athletic spirit. Football, basketball, volleyball, tennis, track work, and other features form the main athletic exercises.

"There are also basketball courts, tennis courts, football field, baseball diamond and the like. Tournaments of all kinds are held here. The S.W.I.M. is one of Southwestern's most interesting and unique features."
At one time six years of work was available at Southwestern State Normal, of which two were of college rank. Provision was also made for the instruction of some 250 courses.

The school year was divided into four terms — the fall term, the winter term, the spring term, and the summer term. The summer term was considered unique in its character in that it was heavily attended by teachers coming from all over the state.

"Board is reasonable and that in the best homes of the city. The health of Weatherford is unsurpassed by any town in the state. It is also a town of churches and church people, and maintains a splendid high school. It possesses all the features necessary for the making of a great institution."
Quite obviously, to anyone who would care to take a look around, there have been quite a few changes in Southwestern State College during its metamorphosis that has taken over seventy years up to this date.

The old Administration Building, the original structure on campus, was destroyed in a blaze that occurred in the late 1930's. Other buildings have been added to the basic campus layout over the years, serving one function, then another. Dormitories have been expanded and newer housing has been constructed, making the campus a pleasing blend of the old and new.

But many things have remained unchanged over the years. There is still the large annual influx of bright-eyed freshmen, beginning their first melodramatic separation from home. New friendships are begun, obstacles are overcome, and knowledge is arduously absorbed. But this is just part of continuing life... life at Southwestern State College.
ORGANIZATIONS
"Rush" is the lifeblood of the four social fraternities of the Southwestern campus, therefore there is a need for an organization to govern the rush activities. This is one of the main purposes of the Interfraternity Council.

The Interfraternity Council is composed of three members from each of the social fraternities. Officers of the council are rotated each year between the fraternities. Each fraternity has the presidency every fourth year. The 1973-74 officers are: Bob Wilson, president; David Brooks, vice-president; Ted Hood, secretary; and Randy Hagood, treasurer.

(a) Cecil Mouser, Lucian Lee, and Mark Mattison; (b) Bob Wilson; (c) Mark Burdick; (d) Mark Marshall; (e) Randy Haygood; (f) Doug Tippens.
The Southwestern State College Panhellenic Council is the governing board for the two Greek sororities, Gamma Phi Beta and Sigma Kappa, on the Weatherford campus. The Council is composed of members from both of the sororities and is sponsored by Dean Freda Johnson. It is responsible for directing Rush Week and social activities on campus.

Gamma Phi Beta is a new name on campus this year but the faces of the organization are quite familiar. They are those which used to be associated with the name "Tri-C's." The ultimate goal was accomplished when on May 5, 1973, the Tri-C's were initiated into Gamma Phi Beta.

The first officers of the Delta Zeta Chapter of Gamma Phi Beta were Brenda Smith, president; Terri Gilmore, vice president; Cindy Toal, recording secretary; Pam Lofties, corresponding secretary; Shari Taylor, treasurer; Kenna Osborn, parliamentarian and Toni Shaklee, Panhellenic representative.

Gamma Phi's Tricia King, Terri Gilmore, and Cathy Farnsworth were listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Other distinguished titles went to Melissa Livingston, Sigma Tau Gamma White Rose Queen, and Gayle Smith, Pi Kappa Alpha Sweetheart. The entire chapter received the Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy for the highest overall grade point for the fourth year in a row.

Gamma Phi's also produced and sponsored the annual Girl of the Year Pageant and participated in the All-School Follies.
With the construction of their new lodge and apartment house under way the members of Pi Kappa Alpha hope to occupy their new dwellings in the very near future. The new housing is under way north of the football field on 7th and Davis Road.

Pi Kappa Alpha Eraternity was chartered at Southwestern State College in 1965. It was previously known as Beta Tau eta. Pi Kappa Alpha strives to help young men develop scholastically, morally, and socially.

The "Pikes" are presently planning to make money for the Muscular Dystrophy Drive.

The 1973-74 officers are: Marvin Hyde, president; Mike Jordon, vice president; Brian Leonard, secretary; and Randy Hagood, treasurer. Dr. Albert Gabriel is the faculty advisor for the Pikes.
Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa Sorority was originally founded 100 years ago on November 9, 1874, and was chartered on the Southwestern State College campus in November of 1963.

Throughout the years Sigma Kappa has been one of the most active organizations on campus. Not only are these ladies involved with many campus activities, but they make weekly visits to one of the local nursing homes. Money-making projects for the Sigma Kappas included selling raffle tickets for prizes. One such contest yielded $100 worth of groceries from the United Supermarket for the lucky winner.

Rush activities were an important part of the Sigma Kappa’s success. During the fall semester it gleaned a pledge class which increased the organization’s membership by 14.

Officers for 1973-74 were, Gayle Burrow, president; Connie Stinson, vice president; Elaine Phillips, secretary; Jan Hopkins, corresponding secretary; and Susie Hoffman, treasurer.

The 1973-74 school year was a busy year for the men of the Beta Phi chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma. Sig Tau-sponsored fund-raising activities acquired the cash that was used to finance important civic functions, including their annual "Toys For Tots" campaign that was conducted in association with the Oklahoma National Guard.

The fraternity recently acquired a new house at 810 North Bradley. The men of Sigma Tau Gamma spent long hours in the process of remodeling the structure for their purposes.

The Sigma Tau Gammas were involved in intramural football, finishing the regular season with a 6-1-1 record. They were, however, defeated in the playoffs.

Serving as officers for the 1973-74 year were, Mark Mattison, president; Cecil Mouser, vice president in charge of membership; Duane Crothers, vice president in charge of scholarship; Wayne Horin, vice president in charge of finance; Micky Wilson, member at large; Mike Osborn, chaplain; and Danny Dorset, sentinel.

Tekes are a big booster of the Southwestern Bulldog football team. They turn out in full force for all the home games and you can count on seeing their bell sitting in front of the stands on the 35 yard line.

The TKE entry for the 1973 Follies was a sketch about the life of "Adam and Eve." Eve was portrayed by DeAnn Whittington and Blaine Wofford came on strong in his portrayal of the "snake."

There's no room for wallflowers in Tau Kappa Epsilon. Among other things their social calendar includes the annual Homecoming party, Christmas party, Red Carnation Ball, and last but not least, the end of the year Shipwreck party.

The chapter sweetheart for 1973-74 was Gayle Gum, Alva freshman.
Phi Delta Theta

The founding organization of Phi Delta Theta was begun on the SWSC campus in 1966 under the auspices of the Diners. Five years later, on December 11, 1971, the Diners received their charter, becoming an affiliate of Phi Delta Theta.

Phi Delta Theta has continued the fine Diner tradition of fierce competition in intramural sports, blood drives, and participation in student government.

The Phi Delts had fourteen members in the student senate during the past year, while the president of the Student Association has been a member of Phi Delta Theta five out of the last six years.

Phi Delta Theta is proud of its competitive spirit and assuredly will continue to do its part in making Southwestern State College a better school.

Activities Council

Composed of volunteer students from all groups on campus, the Activities Council was one of the prime contributors to the social life of Southwestern State College students. In addition to sponsoring several dances during the past year, the Council, working in conjunction with local businessman Ken St. Clair, was also one of the driving forces responsible for the Rare Earth concert early last Fall.

In keeping with tradition, the Activities Council once again sponsored the annual Follies last Spring entitled "You've Come A Long Way Baby, But Look Where You've Been." Sparkling petite Kathy Farnsworth, under the sponsorship of Alpha Psi Omega, nabbed the title of Follies Queen, while other entrants of Alpha Psi Omega swept through the evening winning in almost all categories.
Attempting to better student life at Southwestern was the major objective of the Student Senate during the past year. The Senate, the legislative branch of the Student Association, planned many activities this year, including movies, dances, and campus improvements.

During the fall semester some of the movies shown were Sleuth, Slaughterhouse 5, and Sterile Cuckoo. The Student Senate also engaged several groups for dances, including Punkin and Caliope. Painting the north wall of Milam Stadium and placing more bicycle racks around campus were two improvements completed in the fall.

The officers of the Student Association were John Trussell, president; Butch Williams, vice-president; Sally Simon, secretary; Eldon Hodges, treasurer; and Mike Jordan, publicity director, with Dr. Homer F. Timmons and Mr. Robert Wininger serving as faculty sponsors.
The newest thing in Greek organizations on the SWSC campus was the Alpha Gamma Delta Colony. It was a women's fraternity established at SWSC on November 8, 1973.

The aims of the fraternity were scholarship, friendship and altruism.

The girls are already well organized and planned to visit Padre Island, Texas during the spring break.

Officers of Alpha Gamma Delta were Sara Sturgeon, president; Debi Drake, vice president; Becky Brown, secretary; Kathie Crooks, treasurer; Gaye Thomas, rush chairman; and Patty Rochwell, social chairman.
Baptist students at SWSC have met for fellowship since 1924 when Dr. Dora Ann Steart organized the Baptist Student Union to promote the personal growth in Christ so necessary for young people today. The present location of the BSU was secured in 1968 and the present building was completed in 1971.

Regular activities of the week included a daily Noonday worship at 12:30 and evening Vespers on Thursday. Weekend Retreats were planned for both fall and spring semesters. The State BSU Convention is held at OSU on the second weekend of March.

Ramona Ballew was crowned 1973 Homecoming Queen at the annual Homecoming Assembly. Representing the BSU, Ramona was selected by the student body from a list of five finalists. She was a sophomore special education major from Memphis, Texas.

The 1973-74 officers were: Roy Coleman, president; Don Walker, vice-president; Rhonda Johnson, secretary; Ramona Ballew, summer missions; Rodney Neufeld, local missions; Janie Cook, music chairman; Jolee Reiswig and David Love, outreach co-chairmen; Wilmer Cooper, devotional chairman; Larry Boggs, noonday chairman; Kent House and Betty Smuddick, publicity co-chairmen; Jim Morrison, director.

The Baptist Student Union was sponsored by Dr. Joe Phillips.
The United Campus Ministry is a Christian ministry to the campus of Southwestern State College. The UCM is sponsored by the Catholic, Christian, Episcopal, Lutheran, Presbyterian, United Methodist, and United Church of Christ denominations. With a rich and diverse tradition, the UCM seeks to promote the growth of religious faith and involvement in the world of the twentieth century.

The Political Science Association is an organization of students who through principle and example try to develop more intelligent, aggressive, and dedicated citizenry. They promote fellowship and scholarship to obtain these goals. The PSA annually sponsors Law Day on the Southwestern campus.

The 1974 officers were Chris Caldwell, president; Mike Connelly, vice president; Rick Outhier, first vice-chairman; and John Wampler, secretary-treasurer. The Political Science Association’s faculty sponsor was Ed Rolison.
Afro-American Club

The Afro-American Club was established at SWSC for the purpose of allowing Black students to gain a greater understanding and a broader knowledge of the Afro-American cultural heritage. It also helps bring Black students together and offers them an opportunity to work together.

One of the major events sponsored by the Afro-American Club is the Miss Black Southwestern Pageant. From the 1973 pageant the Afro-American Club selected Miss Gaylean Stevenson as their queen. Miss Stevenson was chosen from a field of eight contestants on the basis of talent, beauty, charm, and poise. Miss Stevenson was a freshman from Duncan.
The Indian Heritage Club was established with the primary purpose of preserving Indian heritage at Southwestern State College. It also promotes pride in the Indian heritage. The club is the hub around which Indian students from any tribe can come for fellowship, counsel and information. It meets every Friday at 6:30 in the Student Union.

The Indian Heritage Club has a number of activities during the year. The club sponsors the Indian Awareness Week during the month of April, along with a few Pow Wows during the year. The club earns money during the year by selling raffle tickets for items such as shawls, blankets, and other things associated with the American Indian.

The 1973-74 officers were Michael Aitson, president; Arlen Rhodes, vice-president; Rachel Smith, secretary-treasurer; Israel Aunko, reporter; and Jewell Aitson and Charles (Bucky) Boyton, senators. The club is sponsored by Dr. Stuart Burchett.
The Southwestern Bulldog Rodeo team has proven that it takes more than sweat and muscle and guts to be a rodeo star. As Valerie Davis proves, a pretty face is often part of the bill too.

The Rodeo Team won ribbons in both the women's and men's events in every category. Some winners were Billy Kenmore, Joe Griffis and Dean Richardson in ribbon-roping, Bill Beatty and Tommy Cochran in saddle bronc riding, Miss Davis in barrel racing and Bill Beatty in bull riding.

This is one of the more active teams on campus and students compete in rodeos all over the Southwest. The rodeo team has shown that SWSC can produce some of the best and most skillful rodeo riders in the United States.
The Wrangler Club was organized in 1968 and has grown to be one of the largest and most popular organizations on campus. Yearly activities sponsored by the club include an intercollegiate rodeo each spring, participation in the homecoming parade, a trip to the RCA National Finals Rodeo at Oklahoma City, and the NIRA Queen contest at Bozeman, Montana. Other activities include western dances, picnics, and involvement in other campus functions. The Wranglers also provide support for the Bulldog Rodeo team in both the fall and spring seasons. The 1973-74 officers were Tommy Thompson, president; Tom Nix, vice-president; Carolyn Kenmore, secretary; Billy Kenmore, treasurer; Rita Mitchell, historian; Charla Fletcher, public relations; Ann Churchill, reporter. The Wranglers are sponsored by Dr. Don Mitchell.

Gamma Delta Kappa

Gamma Delta Kappa, women's honor sorority at Southwestern State, has grown this year to an active membership of 182. At the fall initiation ceremony, 106 young women qualified for membership by attaining a 3.0 or better grade average and were formally initiated in the library auditorium.

Besides being Southwestern's largest organization for young women, Gamma Delta Kappa is also one of the oldest established clubs on campus. Founded in 1910, "Forensia" language club set a standard of ideals that remain today. These include: Scholarship, friendship, and service to the sorority, fellow students, faculty, and community.

Implemented into the monthly meetings are service projects that encourage attention to philanthropic organizations, whether it be financial aid or personal involvement. Each year a scholarship is presented to a worthy member who has served the club well and maintained an outstanding grade point average. This year’s recipient was Karla Johnston. Also representing Gamma Delta Kappa in the Girl of the Year contest this year was Roxanne Swanson, bringing honor to the club by winning the title of Miss November.

Sponsors for Gamma Delta Kappa were Mrs. Lois Fisher and Mrs. Delia Whisenhunt.
Chi Alpha Gamma Delta

Chi Alpha Gamma Delta is an organization sponsored by the Assembly of God Church. As its primary goals, this organization was established to reach others on campus for Christ and the betterment of campus youth.

The Chi Alpha Gamma Delta activities were focused on their choir which appeared around the state at various churches.

Officers were Shirley Bennet Nickell, president; Sallie Roedell, vice-president; Linda Thompson, secretary; Mary Fullerton, reporter; and Dr. Reimer served as faculty sponsor.

Phi Alpha Theta is an international honor society of history students. The Southwestern chapter began in 1968 with an organizational goal of intellectual achievement.

The student requirements are at least twelve hours of history with 3.0 or above average and a 3.0 in two thirds of the remainder of their course work. Throughout the year, Phi Alpha Theta hosted several speeches at its regular meetings, including John George, and a former prisoner of war.

R. W. Wininger manned the helm as organization sponsor.

Last April, Miss Betty Rackley, a junior from Yukon, was chosen as Military Ball Queen for Southwestern. Runners up were Charlene Sturgeon, Enid sophomore, and Margaret Johnson, Fort Cobb senior.

They were nominated for the title by the Southwestern Army Reserve Officers’ Training Corps companies, and the final selection was made by a vote of the cadet corps members.
Miss Southwestern

In 1974, beauty pageants in some segments of the country were essentially condemned by the members of the Women’s Liberation movement. Even the premise of the time-honored Miss America Pageant was up for attack. But on the Southwestern State College campus a girl’s facial features and bodily curvatures could still be enjoyed for their pure aesthetic attraction. As the saying goes, you may not be able to judge a book by its cover, but it sure is good for catching the attention of the passers by!

Cindy Laubach, an attractive blonde, was selected as Miss Southwestern in last year’s “Spring Fling.” However, because of her step into matrimony last summer, the former Miss Laubach was required to relinquish both her crown and title to Ora Ray.

Ora, a brown-eyed beauty with a winning smile, is currently a sophomore crediting Plainview, Texas as her home. Eight years of voice, piano, and organ lessons paid off for Ora in the contest as she played the piano and sang during the talent sequence. Miss Ray plans to graduate with an elementary education major with a concentration in music.

Other finalists in the Miss Southwestern contest were Sherry Taylor, Evelyn Smith, and Faith Netherton.
Beauty is a rare sparkling light that shines from within to light the world with joy. And it is this beauty that has been annually traced through the years in the Bulldog with the various homecoming queens. The first homecoming queen was Miss Nadine Hogg, elected in the fall of 1947.

Ramona Ballew, a BSU nominee for 1973, was crowned homecoming queen by Jane Bode Hill on October 5th in an all school assembly.

A sophomore from Memphis, Texas, Ramona plans a future in special education.
Selected as Girl of the Year in the annually Gamma Phi Beta sponsored competition was Sally Ward. She was chosen on her poise, personality, and beauty.

A junior elementary education major from Oklahoma City, Sally has been a member of Gamma Phi Beta, and the Activities Council.
Last February Gaylean Stevenson was selected by the Afro-American Club as 1973 Miss Black Southwestern.

Chosen on the basis of beauty, poise, talent, and charm, Miss Stevenson was a freshman from Duncan, majoring in Special Education.

Other beauties participating in the pageant were Margaret Johnson, La Faye Jones, Rose Rouse, Gwen Perry, Terry Cheadle, Gay Willis, and Vernetta Burgess.
Casey Lester, sophomore from Norman, was selected as O' Club Queen. An elementary education major, Casey was a member of the Student Education Association and Women's Recreation Association.

Nominations for various honors on campus were nothing new for Miss Lester, as she was selected as a candidate for Girl of the Year in 1972, and was a nominee for Homecoming Queen this past Fall.
Pharmacy Queen

Suzanne McClain, second year pharmacy student from Marietta, was selected as Pharmacy Queen. Various campus activities of which Miss McClain was a part included the position of secretary of Kappa Epsilon, and secretary of Rogers Hall. Suzanne also served on the Student Senate, was a delegate to Oklahoma Collegiate Legislature, and a member of SWAPhA.
Southwestern State College Wranglers Club in Weatherford elected Charlsie Rainey as their queen for 1974. A freshman from Verden, Oklahoma, Charlsie is currently majoring in music.

Miss Rainey was selected on the basis of her outstanding achievements in the club.
Gamma Phi Beta Sweetheart

Terry Dewey, senior from Oklahoma City, played tackle position on the 1972 Southwestern State football team, and was a member of Phi Delta Theta, and Phi Beta Lambda.
Terry was selected by the women of Gamma Phi Beta and was a business administration major.
Gayle Smith, senior from Midwest City was selected as Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl.

Gayle, a speech and drama education major, was active as a Pikette and was a member of Gamma Phi Beta and the Student Senate.

Other honors she received were Miss Southwestern 1972, Miss Midwest City 1973, Miss Congeniality and a semi-finalist in the Miss Oklahoma Pageant of 1973. Gayle was also the recipient of two Duke Awards during her career at SWSC.
Sigma Kappa Sweetheart

Selected by the women of Sigma Kappa for the position of the sorority sweetheart was Lawton Pharmacy senior, John Trussell.

During his career at Southwestern, Trussell has acted as a Student Senate representative, vice-president of Phi Delta Theta, and most recently, served a term as president of the Student Association.
Melissa Livingston, senior from Frederick, was chosen Sigma Tau Gamma White Rose Queen for 1973. Miss Livingston was a member of Gamma Delta Kappa, Miss October in Girl of the Year Pageant, selected for Who's Who at Southwestern State College, and is majoring in office administration.
Tau Kappa Epsilon Queen

Gail Gum, Alva freshman, was selected by the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon as their queen last fall. Gail was a speech major and an art minor. She was also selected as Teke Girl of the Month for October.
Debbie Stroud, a junior Business Administration major from Weatherford, was selected Phi Delta Theta Queen.

Debbie was rush chairman for Gamma Phi Beta, a candidate in the Miss Southwestern Pageant and a homecoming queen candidate. She was also Miss November and freshman class treasurer.
Even though the Southwestern State football team won only three games this past season, they played some very good football.

Bulldog fans saw some good runs from Ron Williams and Stacey Davis; and other tackle-breaking runs by freshmen Billy McBride and Willie Lee. Excellent defensive plays led by team captain Ervan Randle, defensive safety Mike Osborn, and linebacker/end Mark Smith were also seen.

The Bulldogs were plagued by numerous injuries to key players and had bad breaks all season. Yet they showed a lot of determination and a great spirit of 'never giving up.'

With only four seniors graduating this season, the Bulldogs will have a better and more experienced team to begin the new season.

Five members of the 1973 SWSC football team were honored as All-Conference selections for the Oklahoma Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Ervan Randle was the lone Bulldog to make the first team. He was one of the key defensive players this season and will see duty here again next year.

The second team selections included tailback Ron Williams and defensive back Mike Osborn. Williams will also be back next season.

Two Bulldogs were listed on the Honorable Mention defensive squad. They were guard Carlton Buchanan and linebacker Judson McHenry.

This was the tenth year for Otis T. Delaporte as athletic director and head football coach at Southwestern. He served as president of the OCAC Athletic Directors Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, District 9.

Delaporte is a 1940 graduate of Central State University, and has been here since 1964.

Of the assistant football coaches, Cecil Morris has been here longest. He came to Southwestern in 1964 also. He holds a master's degree from Oklahoma University. At the end of his college career, Morris was the Green Bay Packer's third draft choice.

After a remarkable professional football career, Jim Thomas just completed his second year at Southwestern. He was a halfback with the Edmonton Eskimos in the Canadian Football League for nine years.

A graduate of Northern Colorado University is the newest member of the Southwestern State coaching staff. Van Wilhelm arrived on the campus this year.
Bulldog Basketball

Southwestern basketball got off to a slow start during the fall semester, but got wound up for the season with the addition of Chuck Johnson, a transfer from Cincinnati, Ohio. Hard practices that taught the relatively young team to work together helped tremendously.

The Bulldogs hung tenaciously onto sixth or seventh place in the ratings throughout the semester. This was partially caused by several disappointingly close losses of one or two points. Quite a few overtime games were seen by excited Southwestern fans.

Prospects look good for the 1974-1975 season since SWSC will lose only two senior players. However, the losses of 6-5 Duncan senior Don Sneider, and 6-2 Tulsan David Offord will be greatly felt.

Two Bulldogs were on the District 9 scoring chart. Chuck Johnson was in eighth place with a 18.7 average; and David Offord's 18.0 average made tenth place.

Since 1964, under Head Coach Jerry Jobe, the Dogs have qualified for seven consecutive National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' District 9 playoffs, won or shared the three OCAC championships and competed in one National Tournament.

Coach Jobe, from Chickasha, accepted a scholarship offer from Eastern New Mexico University after his high school team won the state championship. He won four letters in basketball and three in baseball at ENMU.

After his graduation in 1957, he returned to Chickasha and coached junior and senior high sports there before his move to Southwestern.

Ken Turner, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, is serving as an assistant coach while completing work toward his master of education degree. Since Turner started for the Bulldog team for four years, his knowledge of the program is tops.
Southwestern's baseball team was unable to sustain any consistency in the winning column this season, even though their play was not that bad. With a clutch performance needed against Phillips to assure at least a chance for the OCAC title and a berth in the District Nine Playoff, the Bulldogs dropped both ends of a double header. Not everything went that bad however, as Southwestern fans saw good individual performances in almost every game. Pitcher Ron Kassanavoid, and outfielder Ford Farris exemplified the talent of the Bulldog's squad, as they were named to the Oklahoma Collegiate Athletic Conference Western Division All-Star team.

In summing up this year’s track team season, Coach Ponder stated, “When you have kids who want to win as much as ours, then you’re not really surprised. They all worked extremely hard, and I’m glad the season has turned out the way it did.”

The Bulldogs’ biggest accomplishment this season was when they wrapped up their third straight Oklahoma Collegiate championship. In doing so they outscored the second place team by 36 points.

The track team had quite a meritorious season during the past year of competition. The team rated first place in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference championship. A second place rating was received at the Wayland Baptist College Invitational Track and Field meet.

The team then traveled to East Texas State University where they placed second in their Track and Field meet. The track team members also were given a second place rating at the OCC Cross-Country Invitational.

Southwestern’s tracksters later traveled to Austin College where they received a third place listing in that school’s relay competition. A fourth place rating was received at the OCC Cross-Country Invitational.
Golf

The Southwestern State College golf team finished fifth in the conference during this past season with a dual record of five evens to seven losses.

Rick Botkin was the top-ranked player on the team coached by Jerry Jobe. Other lettermen were Kim Goin, Mike Brown, and Doug Steward.
The Southwestern State College tennis team has won the Western Division Championship three times. During the past two years they have lost only two matches, with one of these being to the National Champion.

The SWSC tennis team also succeeded in upsetting the fifth-ranked team in the nation during its spring season.

The team was coached by Cecil Morris. Its head player was Brad Lam, with Paul Nail and Terry Baughman rounding out the team.
The intramural sports program allowed students who are not in varsity competition to have the opportunity to compete in varied sports. The football and basketball competition included weekly games between different teams. These games not only provided physical exercise but helped to promote friendship among the participants.

This year the best football team was “The Other Brothers,” who defeated the “Rub-A-Dubs” in the final playoffs. Darrell Greene of “The Other Brothers” won the Most Valuable Player Award.

Dr. Al Harris, Southwestern's active president, directs and implements a college policy that has made Southwestern State College a smoothly-run and progressive institution of education.

A former teacher and superintendent of public schools at Custer City, Watonga, and Clinton, Dr. Harris is now in his 14th year of devoting all his energies to further the futures of both Southwestern State College and Weatherford. In addition to his many other duties, he is responsible for fund raising for scholarships, loans and other projects.

Dr. Harris received his B.S. and B.A. degrees from Southwestern and completed his graduate studies at George Peabody College for Teachers and Oklahoma State University.

He and his wife, Joe de'Bob, reside on the college campus, south of the library. Joe de'Bob also attended Southwestern and received her bachelor's degree here.

Job placement has become a major problem of late for graduating seniors. Southwestern State College provides relief by providing placement service for all seniors and alumni through the Placement office. Confidential credentials are made available to prospective employers. Any student or graduate of Southwestern can receive placement information and literature on various job opportunities. This office also coordinates public relations with high schools in the area served by the college.

Vocational Rehabilitation

The state board of Vocational Rehabilitation maintains area offices on the Southwestern State College campus. The Vocational Rehabilitation Center supervised the financial assistance to physically-handicapped students approved for such assistance.

Help in arranging classes, deciding on a vocation, and finding jobs were among services provided by the center.

Mr. Robert Decker, area supervisor, and Mr. J. Jones, supervisor at SWSC, helped make the Center a worthwhile organization.

Student Aids

Student Aids sponsors academic scholarships and the various loans and grant programs. Dr. Warren Wilson, director of Student Aids was in charge of these programs.

Dr. Wilson also coordinates student employment including the work study program.
The Public Relations Department is responsible for quarterly bulletins, special catalogs, and brochures covering most campus areas.

The college Public Relations Department, in addition to its duties in supervising campus publications, is responsible for all newspaper, television, and radio publicity concerning Southwestern State College. It operates a complete news service to metropolitan, daily, and weekly newspapers concerning all college areas.

The department is a liaison between the college and its alumni and former students; it assists in the promotion of interscholastic events on the campus and college projects off the campus.
Dr. James Sill has been at Southwestern since 1960. As the Director of Public Service, he arranged speaking assignments for educational organizations such as P.T.A.'s, civic clubs, Lions Club and Kiwanis Club. In addition to his duties with Public Service, Sill served as a Colonel in the Army Reserve and worked closely with ROTC on campus.
Upward Bound is a fairly new group on campus whose beginning was completely student originated. A group of concerned Indian students submitted a proposal for the program in 1971.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Giago were the first heads of the department. The first department was called the Indian Counseling Program, counseling Indian students on campus. They serve as a liaison between the college, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and students. The counseling program supports the Indian Heritage Club, which is an active organization on campus. The club is interested in preserving the Indian culture and making people aware of the culture and heritage of the first Americans.

Before 1971 there were only 70 Indian students enrolled at Southwestern and the drop out rate was almost 50%. Since the program has been enacted, the drop rate has been cut in half and the enrollment of Indian students has increased. Counselors are students and only counsel part-time.
The Memorial Student Center was built in 1956, with Bill Folk serving as the first head manager.

The primary goal of the Student Center is to be a home away from home for the students of Southwestern State College.

Downstairs, in the basement of the Center is a barber shop for the convenience of the students, while on the upper level of the Center are the Sky View Room and the Ballroom. On the ground level of the structure are the cafeteria, snack bar, book store, and a lounge area.

Mr. Virgil Downing continued to serve as the current head of the Student Center.
There are times when one just needs to get away from classrooms, teachers, and all the hassles of modern learning. It's nice to have a place to go where one can sit alone and drink a coke, or meet with friends to share a laugh or two. The cokes, the pool games, the nearness of others seem to make it all real. It is then that you begin to realize it's not you behind the eight ball being pushed into a hole. No sir! You are the one behind the stick doing all the pushing.
Dorm Parents

Sponsoring 1500 students is definitely not an easy job, as the current dorm parents at SWSC will surely confirm.

As sponsors of such dormitory activities as dances, parties, homecoming float building, and Christmas programs, these dorm parents, who form one of the youngest groups of dorm sponsors in Southwestern’s history, played a leading role in making life enjoyable for the residents of their dorms.

And if a coed or young man needed a word of advice or help with a problem, the parents were there to listen and lend a helping hand.

The Master of Education degree program at Southwestern State College has as its basic aim to provide an advanced professional course of study for students who have already acquired a bachelor's degree in education and wish to improve their proficiency and skill as classroom teachers.

Southwestern offered Masters of Education degrees in 22 areas of study: art, biological sciences, business education, chemistry, elementary education health, physical education and recreation, home economics, industrial education, mathematics, music, natural sciences, physics, reading specialist, school counselor, social sciences, and speech.

Five new programs launched this year were: educational administration, instructional media, library education, school psychometrist, and special education.

In conjunction with the Education Department, all 22 areas are accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education and the State Professional Standards Board.

The dean of the graduate school for the eleventh year is Dr. Harold Massey.

The Art Department dates back a good many years in Southwestern's history. The Palette and Brush Club was organized in 1919, and became a member of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in 1924. At this time there were 34 members, five of whom were men!

The aim of the club was "to promote the appreciation of art and love of nature, and to encourage the advancement of all phases of art."

The department includes facilities for classes in ceramics, graphics, sculpture, and painting.

Richard Taflinger is head of the department.
Mu Rho Alpha

Mu Rho Alpha, standing for Medical Records Association, was organized in 1969. The club was designed to develop programs and activities which would help the student to understand the profession of medical records.

After completing three years of college, students must then complete a twelve month internship. Since many of the members will be doing their internships at Hillcrest Medical Center in Tulsa, the group toured the center and sat in on classes. They also learned more about their profession from a medical records librarian and from a lawyer who spoke about the legal aspects in court cases.

Dr. Bill Seibert assisted the group as faculty sponsor. 1973-74 officers were Flo Barton, president; Carol Hobson, vice-president; Tammy Whittemore, recording secretary; Cathy Benham, corresponding secretary; and Wynema Parton, treasurer.

The basic goals of the Business department is meeting the demands of a liberal education, preparing students to enter the business world, and assisting in the preparation of business students interested in teaching.

The department added B.S. degrees in Marketing and Management to their curriculum last fall, in addition to those already offered in Business Administration and Accounting. Short courses of 40 semester hours in both secretarial training and general business are also included in this area of study.

Organizations sponsored by the department were Phi Beta Lambda and Accounting Club. Dr. W. W. Ward is departmental chairman.
Phi Beta Lambda

The American dream is a direct outgrowth of American business. The concept of free enterprise within a flexible society is the backbone of a democratic government. Phi Beta Lambda, a service organization for business students, came into existence in 1954. Dr. Ward, chairman of the present Business Department, was its founder. This is an open fraternity, and all business students or any students that have an interest in business may join. This organization supports the March of Dimes in an active campaign every year, sends state officers to Oklahoma City, and climaxes the year with a picnic at scenic Red Rock Canyon. The club also participates on a national level for awards in Business Administration Publicity, and the Gold Seal Award in data processing.
Chemistry Department

The formulas of existence mix to form what is and ought to be.

The first Chemistry Department was established in 1903, but was taught by only one teacher. It wasn't until 1949 that chemistry became a field in the college, and then it was considered part of the Physics Department.

Chemistry became a separate department in 1953 with Dr. Earl Reynolds, now in Teacher Education and Psychology, as department head. One of the first graduates of the Chemistry Department was Dr. Herbert McCormack in 1949, who later became Dean and Acting President of SWSC. Since the department came into its own in 1953, Dr. Stuart, who is now on staff, became the first graduate of the new existing department.

The current Chemistry Department has a Chemistry Club, and is also one of four departments in Oklahoma which is authorized to award the Professional Degree in Chemistry. The faculty size and student enrollment in chemistry ranks third in the state, trailing only O.U. and O.S.U. Fourteen of the chemistry faculty members hold their doctorate degrees.

The department has received several grants from state and federal sources and from private foundations which have been used for research programs conducted by faculty members and undergraduate students. Within the Chemistry Department there is an extremely broad range of equipment, instruments, and library materials.

The primary contribution of the Chemistry Department to the college and its students is thought to be the provision of appropriate courses in chemistry for a broad spectrum of careers: pharmacy, medicine, dentistry, engineering, medical technology, home economics, and teaching.
Chemistry Club

A memorable year for the Chemistry Department was 1959, for it was then that it was decided that enough students on the SWSC campus were interested in the field of chemistry to establish a club.

Today, of the 579 Student Affiliate chapters in the U.S., the Southwestern State Chemistry Club has been named by the American Chemical Society as one of the 65 meritorious chapters in the nation. Continuing to be a very popular club with the male specie, the members encouraged more females interested in the field to join.

To honor scholastic ability within the department, the club finances and gives the John T. Cronin Scholarship Award annually.

Dr. Bobby Gunter congratulates Tom Dobbs on receiving the John T. Cronin Scholarship Award.

Professor Cedric Crink, head of the General Education department and speech and theater instructor here at Southwestern, will be retiring in July 1974. After 27 years of service to SWSC, we feel he deserves a special tribute in this edition of the BULLDOG.

As most of you know, Crink has quite a background in "show biz." After attending Yale University School of Theater, he journeyed to Kansas City, Mo., where he joined forces with the Horner School of Music. This school was, at that time, considered home base for the then famous Chautauqua circuit. This particular group played mostly colleges.

Cedric Crink

General Education

Crink has since performed in nearly every Oklahoma school at one time or another during his career. He later became company manager and actor for Kansas City's Resident Theater, and for some time had a weekly radio program in which he read poetry. Crink then went into teaching, and has directed some 170 plays while an instructor. He came to SWSC in 1947, and has remained here since.

We could not begin to enumerate his contributions while here at Southwestern State, but he has without a doubt left a permanent impression on the history of this campus and on the future of his many students.
Health and P.E.

Although men's athletics have always been a part of the school, women received little attention until 1921 when Miss Ruth Chism became the first director of gymnastics for women.

The first gymnasium on campus was the present music building. In 1958, the present gym was completed with the pool being added in 1968.

The Health and P.E. Department courses are designed to provide students with a laboratory in which they can gain a better understanding of sports and become more physically fit.

Dr. Van Horn has served as department chairman since 1957. New staff members included Mr. Jim Thomas and Mr. Van Wilhelm.

This department also coordinates all campus intramural activities.
When Women's Athletic Association was founded in 1924, horseback riding and hiking were included activities. In 1963 the name was changed to Women's Recreation Association, but the purpose remained the same — to provide recreational activities for college women.

Some of the girl's intramurals that WRA sponsored were field hockey, archery, tennis, bowling, flag football, volleyball, and basketball. WRA also sponsored co-ed activities such as swimming and track and field.

WRA members who participated in the intramural program were automatically eligible to try out for State Extramural Sports Days. Girls could earn a letter in WRA and all star teams were chosen.

1973-74 officers were Debbie Inselman, president; Brenda Wooten, vice-president; Linda Morgan, secretary; Lana Watson, treasurer; Peggy Decker and Vicki Hatton, public relations; and Dana Jackson, historian.
"O" Club

In 1907 the Southwestern Athletic Club was formed at Southwestern Normal School. The name was changed to the "S" Club in 1920, but after World War II it became known as the present "O" Club.

The purpose of the club is to promote good fellowship and understanding among the athletes on campus. Membership is for those lettering in a varsity sport.

The 1973-74 officers were: Ford Farris, president; Brad Lam, vice-president; and Dave Bugg, secretary-treasurer. Coach Jerry Jobe served as sponsor.
Home Economics

Through the years, the Home Economics Department has seen great changes and improvements made in the foods and clothing laboratories. A microwave oven and automatic sewing machines let students experience the ultimate in homemaking.

Departmental activities included a Homecoming coffee for alumnae and a tea for graduating seniors. The department also hosted a style show, the district Sew-It-With Wool contest, and a tea for the district FHA rally.

Serving as department chairman was Mrs. Helen Brown. Mrs. Keren Miller rejoined the staff after a leave of absence to work on her doctorate degree.

Degrees offered by the department are a B.S. in home economics, a B.S. in education in home economics, and a M.Ed. in home economics.

H. Brown, Chairman

1940 Sewing Class
The Hammacian Club was organized in 1925 and was named such because Hammacian is Anglo-Saxon for “maker of the home.”

In 1972 the name was changed to The Home Economics Club of Southwestern State College. The goals of the club have been to provide for and to promote the professional development of college home economics students.

Members participated in a wide variety of activities. They had a fondue party, a film and a speaker on adoption, and a speaker on infant nutrition. Also included in their agenda was the annual style show and a session on personal self defense for women.
Industrial Education

Between 1905-06, the forerunner of today’s Industrial Education Department, the Department of Manual Training, was established. Mr. L. P. Whitcomb served as the first department head and developed the department rapidly. Twenty-five courses were listed in the department by 1909.

The department was discontinued in 1932 and then re-established in 1936, under the name of Industrial Arts.

This year, for the first time, the department sponsored an open house with Iota Alpha, the Industrial Arts club. Displays consisted of woodworking, sheetmetal and welding, arts and crafts and electronics. The department also participated with area high schools and sponsored the exhibition of high school projects during the SWIM contests.

The present chairman, Dr. James Griffin, has served in this capacity for four years. The courses offered by the department were designed to give students a basic understanding of the processes involved in various phases of manual work.

First Automechanic Shop
The hands of man can shape a piece of wood, but beauty comes from art and skill and love.

Iota Alpha supports industrial arts on the SWSC campus. Since 1903 when the Southwestern Normal School was first opened, students on the campus have shown a growing and respectful recognition of the skilled craftsman. Iota Alpha is involved with public relations, as they enlighten the public to the nature and purpose of industrial art education. An open house is held every year, where students display their finished projects in the different industrial areas. They also have a Spring picnic, and have developed a very effective eye-safety program on campus. Where craftsmanship and skill count, Iota Alpha members proudly rank the highest.
The Language Arts Department began a new organization this semester called the Round Table. It was a type of cultural club conducted as a discussion group, and was open to both students and faculty. Different topics covered this year included the art of Kung Fu, Oriental philosophy, Indian jewelry, and country music. Programs were presented by the members.

The department also sponsored the publication of The Chapbook, a magazine based on student contributions of poetry and prose. Debbie Burroughs, Elk City, was 1973-74 editor.

The Language Arts Department curriculum includes English, speech, drama, foreign languages, and journalism classes. Dr. Eugene Hughes served as chairman.

German Club

Since 1966 the German Club has worked to provide a relaxed atmosphere in which students could learn more about Germany, its people, and its culture.

At the monthly meetings, members saw films and slide reports on Germany and heard speakers. Picnics were held both semesters and the group attended a German dinner in Corn.

Mr. Clarence Sturm was faculty advisor to the club. Officers were Myrna Booth, president; Thomas Leek, vice-president; and Rosella Leppke, secretary-treasurer.

Alpha Phi Sigma

The Iota chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, a national scholastic honor society, was established at SWSC in 1934. Membership is limited to those students who have a grade point average of 3.25 and have completed at least 60 hours.

For the first time the club sent a representative, Donna Jean Pigg, to the National Alpha Phi Sigma convention. The purpose of the organization has been to encourage learning and recognize scholarship.

Mr. John Ludrick and Dr. Earl Reynolds were sponsors. Officers were Callie Strong, president; Bryan Vogt, vice-president; Treva Rowland, secretary-treasurer; and Dale Basler, publicity chairman.
Sombreros y Mantillas

Sombreros y Mantillas, the Spanish club, was organized in 1965. Since then, the club has worked to foster and cultivate interest in the Spanish-speaking world.

Activities last year included cultural discussions by people who had lived in the Latin and South American countries. A Christmas party and a Mexican fiesta were also held to aid in the understanding of social customs. In addition to social activities, the club tries to include a service project each year. In the past this had included Christmas caroling in the rest homes and selling flowers for the benefit of the Southwestern Guidance Center in Oklahoma City.
Alpha Psi Omega, the drama fraternity at SWSC, got its start back in 1903 when the German and Latin departments decided to put on plays in their foreign dialects. By the middle 1900's a separate drama club was formed. It was originally called the P.Q. Club, then became the Masquers. Joe 'D' Bob Harris, wife of President Al Harris, was one of the charter members, with Miss Denise Kitch as sponsor. The activities planned for the past year included seeing theater productions around the state, sending representatives to the Southwestern Theatre Conference in New Orleans, sponsoring babysitting during SWSC productions as a money-making project, and selling Claude Kezer's album as another fund-raising project.

The club also had the distinction of winning three out of four trophies in the '73 All School Follies.

Members welcome all people on campus that wish to become involved in theatre in any capacity. They meet once a month in room 105 of the Old Science Building and post the date and time of the Drama Callboard in the basement of the same building. The sponsors of the club are Mr. Kezer, Mr. Hejna, Mrs. Williams, and Dr. Bingham. At the end of the year, the club holds the Teddy Awards Banquet, where they present their own form of the Academy Awards and initiate new members. The main purpose of this organization is promoting better people through better theatre in and around SWSC.
Dramatics

Terryle Culp was chosen as best actress for her performance in "Your Own Thing." Bruce Darby was selected for Best Actor for his performance in "Comedy of Errors." Emma Williams won best supporting actress for her role in "The Killing of Sister George." Dale Basler received three trophies, one for best character actor, one for best pledge, and one for supporting actor. Laura Williams received best actress award for one act plays for her performance in "I'm Herbert." Mrs. Ellinger received a special recognition award for her role in "Interview."
THE SOUTHWESTERN

THE SOUTHWESTERN, campus newspaper, is a product of the combined efforts and long hours put in by journalism students.

However, no one can argue the fact that Ron Myers, Fall '73 editor, ran a one-man show. Ron, who first became a staff member in 1972, began as a sports writer and worked his way up until he left the department high and dry when graduating in December.

Other first semester members were Kathy Shugart, Cherilyn Nyce Chiaro, Diane Dotson, Presse Paul, and Steve Nichols, all of the editing class. Dick Wilson, head of the Journalism department, acts as sponsor.

THE SOUTHWESTERN was first published in 1916, but it underwent several changes before finally assuming the format of a newspaper in 1923.

It was preceded by the first campus periodical called THE MUKWISTO which is Cheyenne for magazine or paper. This was published monthly from 1905 to 1909.

Southwestern’s first yearbook, called THE ORACLE, began publication in 1906. None were printed from ’33 to ’39 during the depression, but it was revived in 1940 under the current name, THE BULLDOG.

The theme of the ’74 yearbook being “Days of Future Passed,” an extraordinary amount of time and effort has been spent by the staff searching for appropriate campus pictures from bygone days, along with history and background information on the various departments and organizations.

The 1974 BULLDOG staff consists of Paul Greever, editor and Cyndy Carpenter, associate editor; Marty Clem and Steve Nichols, organizations; Sandy Hinkle and Jeanie Vineyard, Honors; Cherilyn Nyce Chiaro and Rhonda Blocker, departments; and Susan Regier and Terry Trego, campus life copy and sports. Dick Wilson is sponsor.

So that's what you keep in that file cabinet!
Library Science

The first library on SWSC campus was headed by Miss Elizabeth King in 1903, with Miss Rose Christy employed as the first full-time librarian in 1905. It was situated on the top floor of the old administration building, and began with a book order for 128 books.

Since that time two different library buildings have been erected to meet the increasing demands of an ever growing campus. The first, constructed in 1928 and opened May 1929, is currently the Art Building. Our present library of modern steel and glass was built in 1968, and includes an instructional media center in the basement. It contains books, microforms, films, pictures and recorded material, and has a capacity of 200,000 hardbound books.

Twenty percent of the entire student body can be accommodated at study tables. There are lounge reading areas throughout the library, along with individual study conference rooms and a typing room for student use. Book selection is the responsibility of the faculty, and this practice has led to greater equality in the distribution of interest areas.

Mrs. Sheila Hoke, present Library Director, sees the library primarily as a service organization, with the main purpose being the support of college courses and the stimulation of individual reading and research.

Mrs. Sheila Hoke, Library Director
The field of mathematics has greatly expanded since SWSC's founding in 1901. With electronic calculators and computers, today's mathematics students can look forward to jobs in teaching as well as computer science and research.

The SWSC Mathematics Department faculty is not research oriented. Because of this, its staff members can devote more time helping students to understand mathematics. Dr. Raymond McKellips has served as department chairman since 1970.

The department tries to bring students the "fun" side of math by sponsoring a problem of the week and a problem of the month. The department is also working to create an awareness of the excellent secondary mathematics teacher education program.

Math help sessions were provided for students needing extra help in the beginning college math courses. The department also participated in the SWIM contests this spring.

Kappa Mu Epsilon, a national math fraternity, is affiliated with the department. Membership is limited to those students who have completed three semesters of college mathematics while remaining in the upper 35% of their class. Faculty sponsors for the honorary fraternity were Dr. Wayne Hayes and Dr. Don Prock.
Computer Club

The Association for Computing Machinery was organized in 1968. Mr. George Atkins was one of the founders and one of the original twelve members.

The club changed names in 1972 and became the Computer Club. Their goal has been to promote a greater interest in computing machinery and its applications.

Members heard an accountant and an IBM representative relate how computers were used in their fields. The group also toured area computer facilities. Social activities included skating and pizza parties.

Math Club

With Dr. Verlin Koper as the first sponsor, twenty-two charter members founded the Math Club in 1966.

Since then the club has worked for the advancement, application, and enjoyment of mathematics while fostering mutual welfare and brotherhood of math students.

The Math Club had monthly meetings with speakers, parties and picnics. Members also sponsored a Math Day for high school students.

Each year the club presents the Dr. McCormick Outstanding Mathematics Student Award to the outstanding math student.
The Military Science Department was established on SWSC campus in March 1971, headed by Col. Jode R. Wilson. Various departmental organizations soon came into being, all of which provide many activities for the participants.

During the second year of the department’s existence, student enrollment doubled, and most of the activities achieved first or second place standings in regional competition.

An added distinction is that thus far twenty percent of the Corps have been recipients of national merit scholarships.
Gun Crew

The Gun Crew, sponsored by Major Carlos M. Fernandez, is a new organization begun only this year. They support the ROTC program by participation in local parades, and are known at Southwestern football games for firing the cannon whenever a Bulldog scores. The Chief of Section for the year was Cadet 1SG Richard Agosta.

Pershing Rifles

Pershing Rifles is a national honor society which encourages the preservation of the highest ideals of the military profession as exemplified by John J. Pershing. It has been established at Southwestern for three years as Company V-7 of the 7th Regiment, whose headquarters are at OSU.

They learn drills and tactics, and this year planned a special Air Mobile Exercise which involved helicopters.

The 1974 officers were Company Commander Jim Linker and Executive Officer Randy Treiber, with Captain Kerry Hines as faculty sponsor.

Last year the group attended the Regimental Assembly at Kansas State University and received a number of trophies, including the Reving Trophy which recognized them as the top company in the regiment.
The Scabbard and Blade is a national honorary military fraternity open to advance-course ROTC cadets who display outstanding leadership, character, and scholastic ability. The 1974 officers are Captain Greg Bond, 1LT Lynn Norman, 2LT Glen Monigold, and 1SG Dan Swartwood. Faculty sponsors are Maj. Reynolds and Sgt. Maj. Frank.

The Rifle and Pistol Teams are organizations designed to foster a spirit of intercollegiate competition in marksmanship skills with rifles and pistols. They each promote co-ed competition at local, state, and national levels to interested students, who need not be ROTC members to participate.
Sabrettes and ROTC Band

Sabrettes is an honorary ROTC coed auxiliary, entrance being gained on a competitive basis. Its primary function is that of a drill team. This organization was begun in the Fall ’71 term. The following year they obtained their present military style uniforms. The Sabrettes have presented drills during half-time performances of SWSC football games, and have marched in various parades in the locale. Officers for 1974 were Julie Popp, Executive Officer; Druanna Tompkins, Battalion Commander; Kay Cowan, Company Commander; Valerie Long, S-1; Deidre Stratton, S-2; Karen Capps, S-3; Liz Heffel, S-4; and Nina Carter, S-5.

The ROTC Band is sponsored by Maj. Fernandez with music director Carl Baxter. The band too has been on campus since Fall ’71. The band provides music for military ceremonies and various other events. Membership is limited to male students.

Music Department

The Music Department, headed by Dr. James Jurrens since 1970, has steadily increased its enrollment in the past few years. Music has always been an important aspect on this campus, with vocal groups and orchestras dating back to Southwestern Normal School days. Today the curriculum has expanded to include bachelor of arts degrees in voice, instrumental, organ, and piano, plus degrees with emphasis on these subjects in education.

MENC

MENC, or Music Educators National Conference, began on Southwestern's campus in 1957 with twelve members. It was established as a professional organization for prospective music teachers, to provide fellowship with others of their intended career. Mr. Paul Frye is the faculty sponsor.
Kappa Kappa Psi

Kappa Kappa Psi, an honorary band fraternity, was founded on campus in 1967. Their motto is "Strive for the highest," and this is exactly what they do.

Kappa Kappa Psi's purpose has been to promote the existence and welfare of the college band and to stimulate fellowship and good bandmanship.

Each year, the fraternity awards a scholarship to an incoming male freshman. The group also co-sponsors the marching band concert, has money making projects for the music department, and holds an annual Coke day in May.

Dr. James Jurrens was sponsor for the fraternity.
Tau Beta Sigma is a national service sorority for college bandswomen. Their motto is "Tau Beta Sigma for Greater Bands." The Gamma Phi chapter was established on campus in 1968 by five charter members. Before this, the group was called the Band Belles.

The twenty members worked to help the band financially and to keep band spirit at the highest possible level. The girls accomplished this by writing a band gossip paper and by presenting skits at each of the Saturday morning rehearsals.

Other activities included pledge teas and slumber parties. The sorority gave a one-hundred dollar scholarship to a freshman band girl and chose Danny Hough as their beau for the year.

Mrs. Paul Fry and Mrs. James Jurrenes were sponsors for the group. 1973-74 officers were Carmen Nighswonger, president; Glenda Bush, vice-president; Debbie Clingman, assistant pledge trainer; Rhonda Wyatt, recording secretary; Marilyn Pilkington, corresponding secretary; Diane Pigg, treasurer; and Leta Caldwell, historian-reporter.

Mr. John Casey was the director and Greg Yarnell was the accompanist.
The Southwestern Singers are a concert choir on campus. They present several concerts each year, in addition to conducting various tours. Membership is gained through audition by both male and female students. Dr. Merle Taff is the director.

1974 Bulldog Marching Band

The first band recorded at SWSC was a "pep band" in the fall of '27, which joined with the K-9's, the school pep club, into one organization. However, it apparently wasn't until 1928 that the band came into its own. They were pictured for the first time in the 1928 Oracle, and boasted of 24 members.

Dr. James Jurrens, head of the music department, came to Southwestern in 1970. At that time the marching band consisted of 100 members; it now involves 225, one of the largest in the state.

The acting Band Council of the year was President, Ted Auwen; Vice President, Lota Caldwell; Secretary-Treasurer, Rhonda Wyatt; Sr. Representative, Jim Riddle; Jr. Representative, Jim Hooper; Sophomore Representative, Sharda Duncan; and Fresh. Representative, Jack Brady.

Activities the past year included a performance in Denver during the Bronco's-Chicago Bears halftime, and another in Kansas City for the Chiefs and Cleveland Browns game. A European tour is being planned for the summer of 1974.
The SWSC Classics are a relatively new addition to the band, as this is only their third year in performance. Numbering 24 girls, the group offers a pleasing variety to the spectacular "Showcase of the Southwest."

Under the skillful training of Cathy Farnsworth they manipulated flags, canes, pom poms and hoops through their different drills and dance steps. The girls participated in all band shows at home football games and in the special performances at Denver and Kansas City.

The SWSC School of Pharmacy was established in 1939. Today, it is headquartered in the $1,000,000 Chemistry, Pharmacy, Physics Building and boasts over 400 professional pharmacy majors. The School of Pharmacy has made a distinct service contribution to this geographic area. Its main objective has been to educate and train good citizens for a career of professional practice.

Dr. Walter Dickison, present Dean of the School of Pharmacy has served in this capacity since 1965. The School has a well qualified staff and ultra-modern equipment. A 40-station audio visual laboratory was recently completed to provide self-paced individual instruction for multimedia presentations and demonstrations.

Currently, the School has affiliation with seventeen community pharmacies and eight hospitals for the eight-week professional practice assignment for seniors.

Pharmacy has been a rapidly changing profession. This is obvious when one first views the special historical pharmacy, then the modern model pharmacy.
SWPhA

When the Student Branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association was established on campus in 1945, there were sixteen charter members. The group is now called the Southwestern Pharmaceutical Association and boasts 367 members. It is affiliated with both the Student American Pharmaceutical Association and the Oklahoma Pharmaceutical Association.

The purpose of the association is to encourage in the broadest and most liberal manner the advancement of pharmacy as a profession and to stimulate professional conduct.

Membership is limited to pre-pharmacy and pharmacy majors. Activities included monthly meetings and a speakers bureau. The SWPhA also participated in National Pharmacy Week and Poison Prevention Week. A fall picnic and the SWPhA senior banquet were held.

1973-74 officers were Mark Eck, president; David Ralph, vice-president; Kathy Lightfoot, secretary; James Little, treasurer; and Mark McCandless, historian-reporter. Dr. James Scruggs was their faculty advisor.

OFFICERS: Mark McCandless, David Ralph, Mark Eck, Dr. James Scruggs, Chapter advisor, and Kathy Lightfoot.
Phi Delta Chi

Since its organization in 1956, the Alpha Omega chapter of Phi Delta Chi has grown from thirteen members to 34 actives with a pledge class of 19. Of the Alpha Omega founders, Dr. Charles Schwartz remains as the sole original member.

Activities this year included smokers, a Christmas formal, and a Spring formal. A Homecoming dance was held, and the Phi Delta Chi float won the Sweepstakes trophy for the second year running.

Phi Delta Chi members participated in Poison Prevention Week and sponsored Pharmacy Career Day. Maintaining their activity outside the realm of SWSC, the chapter hosted the Regional Phi Delta Chi convention, and sent two members to the national convention in August.

Holding the reins of authority as faculty sponsors this year were Dr. Larry Broadie and Dr. Pedro Huerta who helped the group achieve its goals — to advance the sciences of pharmacy and chemistry and to foster and promote fraternal spirit among its members.
Kappa Psi

Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity Inc. was founded on May 30, 1879. The fraternity enjoys the prestige of being the nation’s oldest as well as the largest pharmaceutical fraternity, with well over 32,000 members. Southwestern’s Delta Beta Chapter was incorporated on campus on March 13, 1963.

Kappa Psi believes that man, being a social being, requires frequent contact and intimate association with his fellows for his broad development. “We recognize the importance of mental development, but also consider the acquisition of a knowledge of men and a proper concept of their relation to one another equally significant. Correlated with this idea, the purpose of Kappa Psi is to foster high ideals, scholarship, and pharmaceutical research while supporting all projects which advance the profession of pharmacy.

Delta Beta incorporates a balance of social and professional projects into its overall program. Included in these are the activities of Poison Prevention Week, Homecoming, Drug Abuse Education, an annual golf tournament, VD Awareness, and the yearly blood drives. One of the more recent activities was the donation of 19 pints of blood at University Hospital to replace that needed by a 12-year old local girl who had open heart surgery.

This year’s officers are: David Payne, Regent; Charles Shannon, Vice-Regent; Terry Balzer, Secretary; Tom Siegmann, Treasurer; Charles Carden, Historian; Terry Hobbs, Librarian; David Killough, Chaplain; Butch Williams, Parliamentarian; Keith Metcalf, Sergeant at Arms; and Dr. David W. Coates, Grand Council Deputy.
Kappa Epsilon

The Alpha Beta Chapter of Kappa Epsilon was founded January 28, 1960 with the purpose to unite women pharmacists.

Sponsored by Miss Ardueser, the officers are President, Ellen Church; First Vice President, Debbie Martin; Second Vice President, Marcia McSparrin; Secretary, Kay Kennedy; Treasurer, Teresa Hurst; Historian-Reporter, Debbie Linker; Librarian, Vicki Brooks; Chapter Liaison, Debbie Rushing; Parliamentarian, Nina Conrad; and Chaplain, Mary Wallace.

Their motto is "Cogito Ergo Sum" — We think, therefore we are. The year's activities include a Christmas party, Founder's Day fall coke party for pre-pharmacy and pharmacy students, women's service projects, and a spring coke party.
Dr. Charles Schwartz founded the Beta Upsilon chapter of Rho Chi Honor Society in 1961 and was the sponsor for a number of years. Rho Chi's fundamental objective has always been to promote the advancement of the pharmaceutical sciences through the encouragement and recognition of sound scholarship. Membership is by election only and is limited to those who have completed seven semesters toward a degree in pharmacy. Members must also rank in the upper 20% of their class and have a grade point average of 3.0 or better. Each student remains a permanent member of the chapter he originally joined.

Rho Chi sponsored a series of educational films in February. The annual banquet for new members was held in the spring. Each chapter presents an award to the high grade point average students in pre-pharmacy and in pharmacy. A Merk Manual is also presented to the first year professional student with the highest grade point average.

Dr. Homer Timmons was the faculty sponsor. 1973-74 officers were Clay Franklin, president; Charles Dickerson, vice-president; Carolyn Riley, secretary, John Taylor, treasurer; and Beckie Willis, historian-reporter.
The Department of Physics was formed in 1931 by Mr. J. R. Pratt who remained as chairman until his retirement in 1964. Perry K. Jones, physics faculty member since 1955, was among the first SWSC graduates in physics.

Dr. Benny Hill, the present chairman and a 1957 graduate of SWSC, joined the faculty in 1964.

Since then, the department has begun sponsoring a Physics Day for high school students and industrial tours. Development of computer-assisted instruction is also being done.

The department was active in developing an awareness of the energy crisis. Research also was carried on to explore the use of Schlieren Optics to study tornadoes.

A new individually-paced astronomy course was offered in the spring semester.
Physics Club

A "Physics Club" was established on campus in 1958. The SWSC chapter quickly gained affiliation with the American Institute of Physics and became known as the Society of Physics Students.

Last year's activities included visits to research laboratories, research projects, and picnics. The club also sponsored a Physics Day for high school students to tour the SWSC Physics Department.

With the help of Dr. Ray Jones, faculty advisor, the group worked to promote an active interest in physics among physics students.

1973-74 officers were Michael Merritt, president; Timothy Davidson, vice president; Timothy Hilton, secretary-treasurer; Tom Leek, public relations; and Larry Ingram, historian.

Sigma Pi Sigma

In 1969, the Society of Physics Students established a chapter of the Sigma Pi Sigma National Physics Honor Society.

The chapter has been a leader in its zone including Oklahoma, Texas, and Arkansas. In 1971 the students won a Bendix Award grant for the design of laboratory equipment.

The group worked to maintain high standards and morale among its members. The purpose of Sigma Pi Sigma was to promote the field of physics and to show its members the value of physics in one's everyday life.
Social Science

When SWSC first opened its doors, the Social Science Department was called the Department of History, Civics, and Economics. Robert N. Linville, the only teacher in the department, taught all subjects.

Dora Stewart, an instructor of history, became the first department head in 1910. At that time, the only degree granted was a degree in education. It wasn't until 1927 that a student could major in and receive a degree in history.

The department today boasts twenty teachers with Dr. Petrowsky serving as chairman. The varied personal experiences of faculty members makes history come alive. Since Dr. Colonel Turney served as a CIA agent after WW II and during the cold war, his classes on Russia and modern Western civilization are first-hand accounts.

In the American history department is a "little big man," Dr. Fiegel. His classes stress the good and the bad sides of history.

The Social Science Department was also responsible for publication of Broadside, a current events newspaper.
The department of Teacher Education and Psychology covers a wide area on Southwestern's campus. Of particular interest in recent years is the relatively new Special Education program, headed by Dr. Purdy. An outgrowth of this was the establishment of the Learning Center in 1972. Mr. Malcolm Coby, coordinator of the center, explained the two basic functions are to set up a model classroom for methods classes, and to be of service to children who are educationally disadvantaged. Southwestern students, under the direction of Dr. Purdy and Mr. Coby, assist the public school systems in and around Weatherford in helping these children overcome their individual learning problems.

Another responsibility of the department is TEP TV, which is a support facility for Teacher Education. It is affiliated with the cable, and everything including micro cable goes out over air.

The department has a special distinction through the Instructional Media Program, as there are only three in the state, the other two located at OU and OSU.

In addition to these programs are various departmental organizations such as Psychology Club, SEA, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Dr. Earl Reynolds, once chairman of the Division of Mathematical and Physical Sciences, has been department head since 1970.
The Mu Kappa Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi is an honorary society for those in educational fields. Members must have completed a minimum of 60 hours and have an overall grade point of at least 3.0. They must also belong to SEA and be interested participants in campus life.

The club presently has an active membership of around 60, plus at least 27 faculty members. This particular chapter was started on Southwest ern's campus November 19, 1970, and is now sponsored by Dr. Grace Burcham.

The 1974 officers were Thomas G. Litsch, president; Rosalie Gooch, vice president; Jacalyn Frantz Spain, secretary; Callie M. Strong, treasurer; and Danny Shackelford, historian.

The fraternity serves the community and school by sponsoring a weekly TV show called “What’s Happening” on the local cable, and by offering assistance during Freshman Orientation and enrollment on campus. Other activities include an annual picnic for members and guests, three meetings a semester with programs on educational topics, an annual banquet in conjunction with the fall initiation, and a simpler spring initiation.

The society accepts as their guide “fidelity to humanity, the ideals of science, the ideals of service, and the ideals of toil.” The purpose of the club is to take up the trusteeship of a professional legacy that the past has left for the present and for the future — that of the ideals, arts, and skills which have characterized man’s growth through the ages.
Since its beginning in 1903, Student Education Association has been one of the largest and most active campus clubs.

At its founding, the group was called Future Teachers of America. Miss Mattie Driskill, one of the 1903 sponsors, still resides in Weatherford.

SEA is a professional organization for prospective teachers. Members participated in discussions and heard speakers on modern aspects of teaching, learning, and education. The group conducted a story book hour monthly at the Weatherford Public Library. New this year was the selecting of a Student of the Month Award and a Student of the Year Award.

The purpose of SEA has always been to stimulate professional attitudes and interest in the profession.

The 1973-74 officers were: David Ogletree, President; Pat Holland, Vice-President; Rhonda Wines, Treasurer; Druanne Thompkins, Secretary; Nanete Thompson, Reporter; Debbie Gough, Historian; Danny Palmer, Parliamentarian.

The faculty sponsors are Dr. Ted Guffy, Mr. John Ludrick, and Dr. Earl Reynolds, Division Chairman of Teacher Education and Psychology.
Psychology Club

The psychology club was established at Southwestern four years ago, with the major goals to provide fellowship for students interested in psychology, and to provide a means for students to hear well-known speakers discuss interesting topics in their area of expertise.

The group has a picnic and jam session yearly, plus an annual field trip to an Oklahoma psychology laboratory. Last year the club visited Dr. Roger Fout’s chimpanzee laboratory in Norman, and this year the trip was made to the psychology lab at the FAA center in Oklahoma City.

An additional function of the club is the selection of a psychology student to receive the Robert S. Tyler award for outstanding leadership and achievement in psychology.
