Leave your mark. Make a statement. Make a change. Make your experience worthwhile. Within these pages are memories exclusive to 2014-2015: the school year that summarizes the college experience of so many on the Weatherford campus. These students have encountered many experiences that have made an impact on them, and in turn they have made an impact as well. So when a SWOSU graduate is asked, "How did you Leave Your Mark?" he or she can answer proudly that they did so not only as a SWOSU Bulldog but as an individual prepared for whatever the world has to offer.

At the ResLife Block Party, Ryley Claborn races against the pull of both his harness and another student to reach his side of the mat in one of many games provided for the event.

Orientation Leader Donald Beckham participates in NSO training.
The Spirit of SWOSU homecoming took place October 11th. Large crowds attended the Homecoming activities. Alfa Abame of Stillwater and Marcus Burk of Amarillo (TX) were crowned Homecoming Queen and King during halftime of the SWOSU football game. Abame was sponsored by the Parks & Recreation Management Club, and Burk was sponsored by Neff Hall/Residence Life.

At the parade, SWOSU’s Society of Women Engineers/Society of Manufacturing Engineers won first place and $1,300 in the float competition for the third straight year. Eta Iota Sigma/Fellowship of Christian Athletes won second place and $800, while Phi Delta Theta fraternity finished third and won $500.

The SWOSU football team was unable to pull off an upset against #7 Henderson State and took the 14-28 loss.

Reigning Miss SWOSU 2014 Hailey Raetz and reigning Miss SWOSU’s Outstanding Teen 2014 Evan Mazur crown the new 2015 Miss SWOSU Lacey Anderson.

The Miss SWOSU Pageant was held Saturday, October 25, 2014. There were 10 contestants competing for the crown this year. The winner of the 2015 Miss SWOSU pageant was Lacey Anderson, from Walters, Oklahoma. She is a sophomore, pre-nursing major. The top 5 contestants were Tiffany Sauer, Weatherford, Allie Ayers, Snyder, Tiffany Grubb, Weatherford, Rachel Penry, Leedey. Lacey will be leaving her mark at the Miss Oklahoma Pageant on June 6 at the ORU campus Mabee Center in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"The Miss SWOSU pageant played a large role in my time here at Southwestern. I learned about all the wonderful types of people that represent the University. Try anything that SWOSU has to offer, you'll never know what you can learn about yourself."
--Samantha Dougherty

SWOSU has many religious organizations on campus that have a lot to offer students. Several of the organizations serve free lunches throughout the week, and some even offer dinner along with a service, open to all students, on different nights of the week. These organizations allow students the opportunity to meet new friends, be part of a close knit group, listen to music, be in small groups, hear guest speakers, lead, and learn all without ever leaving campus. Whether you’re looking for an organization that resembles one from home, or you’re looking for a chance to broaden your views and learn about other beliefs, SWOSU has something to offer.

Swosu started the Panorama events this year with the blue grass rock group The Avett Brothers. The concert was a big success as several hundred students, Weatherford locals, and people from across the state gathered at the Pioneer Event Center to listen to one of their favorite groups. Shortly after, the Second City improv group came to SWOSU for a live performance as well as open workshops. The group did a 2 hour show that consisted of a lot of political and social humor. Lastly, ABC’s Shark Tank investor, Daymond John, came to SWOSU to speak about his story of success as an entrepreneur. Many students went to the presentation to try and learn as much as they could from this self made millionaire. SWOSU’s Panorama events have always been a big success and this year was no exception.
Paul Defiglia of the Avett Brothers entertains the crowd.

Student Government

Student Government Association held its 69th Senate during the 2014-2015 school year. The SGA was lead by President Taylor Kincanon and Vice President Austin Cantrell. This year they hosted the first annual Battle of the Bulldogs, a week full of competitions between campus organizations during Homecoming week to raise money for charity. In addition, they again hosted Fa-La-La-La Follies, SWOSUPalooza, Kid’s Night, and had a team for Relay for Life.

My involvement in SGA has given me the opportunity to positively impact students and our campus in ways I never would have imagined, as well as helping to gain lifelong friends along the way.

Southwestern’s football team have several competitive games that ended with them on the losing side this year. The team ended the season at 3-7, tied for seventh in the Great American Conference with Arkansas Tech and Northwestern. Leading the Bulldogs this year were defensive tackle Devin Benton and wide receiver Brad Smith. Both were chosen for the fifth-annual National Bowl Game. Senior running back Karl Hodge had a big game against Southern Nazarene and was rewarded by being named the Great American Conference Offensive Player of the Week. Hodge carried the ball 24 times for a new career-high 172 yards and three touchdowns.

Southwestern's Lady Bulldogs hit a rebuilding year in which they started slow but made a strong finish to the season. The Lady Dawgs end the season with a 12-15 overall record, but will return the majority of the roster that rallied down the home stretch to reach the GAC Tournament.

Chelsea Bates was named Second Team All Conference, and Jessica Penner received honorable mention honors. Bates, a Thomas, Okla., native enjoyed a breakout season, leading the conference and ranking nationally in several categories. With a 1.83 assist/turnover ratio, Bates led the GAC and ranked 38th in NCAA Division II in the category. Her 12.6 points per game led the Lady Bulldogs and was the 13th best total in the conference. Senior Kimmi Sawatzky from Weatherford finished the season averaging 9.3 points and 3.7 rebounds a game.

Southern men's basketball team set out to accomplish many goals before the season started. Even though they ended the season coming a little short of the overall objective, they still accomplished and had many memorable moments this year that will be remembered for years. SWOSU ended the season with a 16-13 overall record, but included some huge wins. One win was a home blowout of Northwestern. Another highlight came in the GAC Tournament, when the 8th-seeded Bulldogs upset top-seeded Ouachita Baptist 71-67 in overtime. Martell Collins earned a spot on second team All-Conference.

The Southwestern Lady Bulldogs rejuvenated their program this year with a completely new coaching staff and a brand new roster. Head Coach Barbara Burnett, a Bulldog softball player from 1997-99, came to Southwestern after four years as head coach at Independence (KS) Junior College. Several new players made up the 2015 roster, but six seniors also held a spot on the team. They are Adrienne Martinez, Molly Vivo, Ashley Filer, Makensy Payne, Kendall Smith, and Ashley Dunigan. Although the Lady Bulldogs struggled this year they are optimistic for the future.

The Bulldogs have had a standout season with a record of 16-19 overall, and 9-12 in conference as of April 4th. The Bulldogs started off the season with a bang, and though there were a few bumps in the road, they never gave up. After getting swept by Henderson State the previous weekend, the Bulldogs came back the next weekend and went 2-1 against Ouachita Baptist, the number one team in conference. With standout players like Jon Chidester with a current era of 2.35, and Bryan Holt with a .289 batting average, the Bulldogs hope to end the season with a bang.

"We've just got a fun group of guys that makes showing up to the field everyday easy, which also makes it easier to want to work hard and get better."

Soccer

T soccer had a tough season of rebuilding. The team was extremely youthful, with several freshmen playing considerable time. As a result, the team did not win as many games as Bulldog fans are accustomed to. The Bulldogs conclude the season with a 2-13-3 record. The Bulldogs had one senior, defender Randa Castleberry. She was honored at Senior Day on Nov. 2. Earning All-Central Region honors for the first time in her career was SWOSU junior Charlotte Eastman. Four members of the SWOSU Soccer team earned All-Great American Conference selection, including first-team honors for Ashlee Beitinger and Charlotte Eastman. Beitinger and Eastman were joined by teammates Olivia Butler and Cori Kelly, who were selected to the All-GAC second team.

The Southwestern Oklahoma State University rodeo team made a statement in the 2014-2015 season. Both the men’s and women’s teams ended the fall season ranked second in the regional standings with numerous athletes in the top 15 in their individual events. SWOSU came back strong after the winter break by capturing both team titles at the first spring rodeo at Kansas State University. These performances gave SWOSU momentum for the rest of the spring season and put them in prime position to achieve their competitive goals for the year. Emphasis on mental and physical training matched with relentless work in the rodeo arena helped the team uphold its winning tradition.

Being a college athlete has helped me prepare for my future in so many ways. It has taught me responsibility in more ways than I had ever thought possible. Just when you think you have everything taken care of and you’re caught up on school work, there’s always more. The life of a college athlete is stressful at times, but in my eyes, it’s completely worth it.
