

Opera Without Elephants Planned at SWOSU

01.12.2010

Southwestern Oklahoma State University's vocal music program is planning a night of opera scenes in February on the Weatherford campus.

Opera Without Elephants is planned on February 5 and 6 at 8:15 p.m. each night in Room 101 of the Berrong Music Hall on the SWOSU campus. Admission is free, and the public is invited.

This will be second year of the opera scenes program, featuring scenes and arias from Gian Carlo Menotti's The Old Maid and the Thief, W. A. Mozart's Die Zauberflöte, Jacques Offenbach's Les contes d'Hoffmann, and other works.

Joyce Adams Curtis and Daniel Farris direct the production, and Curtis accompanies the program.
