

Social Spiders are Focus of Wednesday Talk at SWOSU

02.01.2016

A program about matricide, inbreeding and thievery in social spiders is the focus of the SWOSU Department of Biology seminar series this Wednesday, February 3, on the Weatherford campus.

The public is invited to the 4 p.m. free presentation in Old Science Building Room 212. Guest speaker is Dr. Deb Smith from the University of Kansas.

Smith will share information about her research.
