

February 2019

Love

Meaghann Paige Snell

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.swosu.edu/sayre_student_anthology

Recommended Citation

Snell, Meaghann Paige (2019) "Love," SWOSU Sayre Student Anthology: Vol. 1 : Iss. 1 , Article 23.
Available at: https://dc.swosu.edu/sayre_student_anthology/vol1/iss1/23

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Monographs at SWOSU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in SWOSU Sayre Student Anthology by an authorized editor of SWOSU Digital Commons. An ADA compliant document is available upon request. For more information, please contact phillip.fitzsimmons@swosu.edu.

Love

Maghann Paige Snell

Always walking down the street
Giving you someone new to meet
All dressed up in the little black dress
Hiding all the disastrous mess
Takes you under its enormous wing
Every once in a while leaves a diamond ring
Even better than the bloom of a rose
Running goose-bumps from your head down to your toes

Spicy as garlic sweet as honey
Giving no value to any amount of money
Can make any single heart melt
By giving a feeling that has never been felt
Swallows you up with only the first sight
Making you wish for more than one night
Happily comes and sadly goes
Leaving some of us as friends and a few of us as foes

Sometimes it is a little shy
Though it is always nigh
Follows you wherever you go
And yes, it will brilliantly show
Once there, it will stay for a while
Letting you walk in those shoes for a mile
Whenever it may leave your life
It will stab you in the heart feeling like a knife