

Smithsonian Exhibit Coming to SWOSU and Weatherford in 2015

01.22.2014

Southwestern Oklahoma State University and the City of Weatherford have been selected as one of six Oklahoma communities that will host a traveling Smithsonian exhibit in 2015.

Hometown Teams: How Sports Shape America will be on display in the SWOSU Main Street Building from September 11 until October 23, 2015, according to Viki Craig of the Department of Language and Literature at SWOSU.

The event is sponsored by the Oklahoma Humanities Council and is part of the Museum on Main Street project. Hometown Teams: How Sports Shape America is a unique collaboration between the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (SITES), state humanities councils, and local host institutions.

To learn more about the event, visit www.museumonmainstreet.org.