

SWOSU Librarian One of Eight Selected to Write for ALA Blog

02.07.2017

Southwestern Oklahoma State University librarian Frederic Murray is one of eight librarians selected to write for the Office for Intellectual Freedom (OIF) of the American Library Association (ALA).

The Intellectual Freedom Blog of the ALA will have contributions from Murray and the other writers in 2017.

Founded in 2007, the blog has a history of top-notch, quality writers, and the OIF plans to continue the tradition. The blog squad consists of several members that alternate responsibilities for creating blog content about censorship, privacy, internet filtering, labeling and many other intellectual freedom topics.

The Intellectual Freedom Blog is located at: <http://www.oif.ala.org/oif/>
