Rittenhouse named Miss SWOSU

Photos by Nakota Taylor

Maybree Rittenhouse, a Lawton (MacArthur) sophomore at Southwestern Oklahoma State University, won the crown of Miss SWOSU 2016, while Natalie Yadon, a freshman at Woodward High School, won the title of Miss SWOSU's Outstanding Teen at Saturday's (November 7) pageants.

The pair won the titles on the Weatherford campus.

Rittenhouse will represent SWOSU at next summer's Miss Oklahoma Pageant, while Yadon advances to the Miss Oklahoma's Outstanding Teen Pageant, which is held the same week at the Miss Oklahoma Pageant in Tulsa.

Rittenhouse won $2,300 SWOSU and $414 Children's Miracle Network scholarships; $1,000 cash award; and over $3,000 in gift certificates and various gifts from area businesses. Her platform issue is "be(you)tiful," dealing with self-confidence.

Hailey Raetz of Hydro finished as first runnerup and winner of a $1,100 scholarship. She also won the Talent, Lifestyle & Fitness in Swimsuit and Peer Respect & Leadership awards.

Jordan Grubb of Weatherford was second runnerup and winner of a $900 scholarship. Grubb also won Most Tickets Sold award.

Alexandra Robison of Moore (Southmoore) finished as third runnerup and winner of an $800 scholarship and Ashley Jones of Seiling was fourth runnerup and winner of a $700 scholarship. In all, 15 coeds competed for the Miss SWOSU crown. The non-finalist contestants each won $500 scholarships.

Macy Eminger of Kingfisher won the Crowd Pleaser award and Javehn Roberts of Elk City won the Most Scholarship Patrons Sold award.

Maybree Rittenhouse of Lawton (MacArthur) won the title of Miss SWOSU at the "Winter Wonderland" pageant Saturday. Finalists were (from left): Ashley Jones, Seiling, fourth runnerup; Jordan Grubb, Weatherford, second runnerup; Hailey Raetz, Hydro, first runnerup; and Alexandra Robison, Moore, third runnerup. The pageant, which even had "falling snow" during the show, featured 15 contestants. Rittenhouse will now represent SWOSU at the Miss Oklahoma Pageant in 2016.

The cast of SWOSU Theatre's upcoming production, These Shining Lives.

SWOSU Theatre to present These Shining Lives

Upcoming shows November 19, 20, and 21

Southwestern Oklahoma State University's Department of Art, Communication, and Theatre will open the box office for the next theatrical production, These Shining Lives, on Monday, November 9. The SWOSU Hilltop Theatre Box Office will begin selling tickets and taking reservations at 4:00 p.m. Performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. nightly on November 19, 20, & 21. Melanie Marnich, the playwright, states that "this play, although inspired by real people and actual events, is a work of creative nonfiction. It moves between fact and fiction, between reality and imagination, to create a theatrical world." It depicts the lives of a group of women who worked in the Radium Dial Company in Ottawa, Illinois during the 1920s and '30s. Their job was to paint the dials on the faces of the clocks and watches. They would twirl the paint brush between their lips to make a point and dip it in the powder – which had a radium compound in it to make the watches glow. Over time, they had ingested so much radium that they began to have severe health problems. These Shining Lives shows the desire the women had to be a part of the workforce, earn a living, and fight the system that was leading to their death.

Admission for the production is $5 for adults, $3 for non-SWOSU students, and free with a valid SWOSU ID. For more information or to make reservations, call the SWOSU Hilltop Theatre Box Office at 580-774-6046. Box Office hours are 4:00 p.m. – 7:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Student groups gets activity funds

Fifty-three student organizations at Southwestern Oklahoma State University received funds totaling over $61,000 during the recent Student Activities Allocations Committee hearings on the Weatherford campus.

The allocation committee is comprised of 21 students, and their task is to hear presentations from student organizations and then determine funding for the various student organizations based on the 2015-16 budget of $63,000. The total requests made during the hearings totaled $282,000.

The five organizations allocated the most funds were Gamma Epsilon Alpha Delta, International Student Association and SWOSU cheer, each receiving $3,750; Fellowship of Christian Pharmacists, $2,500; and SWOSU Computer Club, $2,450.

Cindy Dougherty, dean of students at SWOSU, said all funds allocated are generated through student fees.

Members of the allocation committee are faculty-recommended and officially nominated by one of SWOSU's deans. Students on the committee were:

Caleb Broce – Senior
Austin Brown – Senior

THE SOUTHWESTERN is the student newspaper of Southwestern Oklahoma State University. It is published every Wednesday during the fall and spring semesters, except during holidays and finals week. Students in the editing class serve as section editors, and students in the news gathering and reporting class serve as writers. The editorial board meets every Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. in the journalism lab, Campbell 211.

THE SOUTHWESTERN encourages comments from the student body, faculty, and administration in the form of letters to the editor. All letters must include a name for consideration; however, the name may be withheld upon request. The opinions expressed within signed editorials are the opinions of the writers; the opinions expressed in unsigned, boxed editorials are the opinion of the staff. Neither is necessarily the opinion of the university administration, staff or faculty.

Pharmacy residency program receives ASHSP accreditation

Southwestern Oklahoma State University's College of Pharmacy in Weatherford recently received news that both its affiliated residency programs in Oklahoma City were granted accreditation by the American Society of Health-Systems Pharmacists.

Earlier this year, surveyors visited the SWOSU-Walgreens Company Community Pharmacy and INTEGRIS Southwest Medical Center-SWOSU Pharmacy programs, which provide postgraduate training for students.

The Walgreens residency program is based at the Walgreens Health System Pharmacy located inside Saint's Medical Plaza at Saint Anthony Hospital in Oklahoma City. The pharmacy location offers a variety of innovative clinical pharmacy services for patients who are prescribed complex therapies for various conditions including HIV/AIDS, cancer, transplantation and hepatitis C. The community pharmacists at this site work closely with medical staff, case workers, and clinical coordinators to provide optimal drug therapy for patients. In addition, residents gain insight on management issues that can affect the implementation of patient care services in the community pharmacy setting.

The INTEGRIS program is located at Southwest Medical Center in Oklahoma City. The program prepares highly skilled and knowledgeable clinical pharmacy practitioners for patient care positions in a community teaching hospital, adjunct faculty positions, or to pursue post graduate training in a focused area of practice. The diverse patient population at INTEGRIS Southwest Medical Center provides a unique opportunity to engage the resident in improving his or her skills in patient care, decision-making, practice management, education and leadership.

Dr. Nancy Williams, associate dean of clinical programs and chair of the SWOSU Department of Pharmacy Practice, said the university values its working relationship with both Walgreens and INTEGRIS and is pleased with the news about accreditation.

Music Departments sets opera performanc-

Two performances of opera are planned by the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Department of Music.

SWOSU students and faculty will present Gian Carlo Menotti's The Old Maid and The Thief with scenes from Gilbert & Sullivan's The Mikado on Saturday and Sunday, November 21-22, in the Ed and Winnie Ola Berrong Recital Hall on the Weatherford campus. Performances are at 7 p.m. on Saturday and 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Admission is free, and the public is invited.

The all-English operatic production will be accompanied by the SWOSU Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Alex Lee.

According to Assistant Professor Dr. Kristin Griffeath, the singers have worked on the challenging rhythmic and melodic material since August. First conceived as a radio-opera, the production will utilize original radio announcements.

Menotti's opera is set in small-town America in 1939 and explores high drama and mistaken identity in a Weatherford-like locale. Miss Todd and her maid, Laetitia, welcome a strange man into their home and hearts—but are shocked when Miss Pinkerton, the town gossip, reveals that an escaped thief from the county jail was spotted nearby.

Medieval arts and crafts fair set for Saturday

By Hannah Flaherty
News Editor

The SWOSU Department of Art, Communication, and Theatre are collaborating with the Society for Creative Anachronism (SCA) for a project on campus. The event will take place on Saturday Nov. 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., in front of the Art building or in the Wellness Center depending on the weather.

One of the project directors, Dr. Todd Parker said, “The SCA is a nonprofit organization that researches, studies, practices, and promotes art forms, craft, work, and various types of making items, cooking or sewing, and some fighting. They do study the art of combat, mostly in the medieval period.” There will be demonstrations and workshops for everyone to learn about and participate in. There will be different workshops at different times, which are:

Located in ARC 401:

Card Weaving (10 participants) at 10:00-10:45 & 2:00-2:45

Illumination (15 participants) at 11:00-11:45 & 1:00-1:45

Located in ARC 405:

Calligraphy (15 participants) at 10:00-10:45 & 11:00-11:45

Inkle/Card Weaving (10 participants) at 1:00-1:45

Both Dr. Peters and Dr. Parker said that since the workshops are limited numbers, people interested need to call the department ahead of time to reserve a spot in the workshops.

Dr. Siriporn Peters, another project director, is looking forward to this event and encourages students to take advantage of this opportunity. Dr. Siriporn Peters said that “the SCA wants to recruit students that are interested in art and craft in this area, from SWOSU, to be a part of their ‘kingdom.’ They hope that by coming here, students will want to be a member and they can build their kingdom.” There will be a variety of demonstrations at various times, in various locations, which are:

In Front of the Art building (if weather is bad, this will be in the Wellness):

Chivalric Combat at 10:30-11:30 & 1:00-1:45

Light weapon or youth combat at 11:30-12:30 &

2:00-2:45

ARC 205:

Painting Illumination demonstration at 11:00-11:45 & 2:00-2:45

ARC 424 (children activities):

12:00-3:00

Main Hall:

Renaissance Court Dancing at 10:00-10:45

Jewelry/Metal Work at 11:00-11:45 & 2:00-2:45

Special Lecture at 1:00-1:45

Glass Etching at 2:00-2:45

Grand Demonstration at 3:00-4:00

This is an opportunity to explore the arts and craft of history with a local nonprofit organization. It will be a day full of fun and events. Also, the Department of Art, Communication, and Theatre needs volunteers for the event. For more information contact Dr. Siriporn Peters at 580.774.7138 or email at siriporn.peters@swosu.edu, or Dr. Todd Parker at todd.parker@swosu.edu. To reserve a place in the workshops call 580.774.3756.

Latin American art exhibit comes to campus

A nationally-known art exhibit that will appear at only four places in the United States will be at Southwestern Oklahoma State University starting November 11 and continuing through December 21.

“Art in Motion: Guayasamín’s Ecuador Unframed” will be located on the main floor of the Al Harris Library on the Weatherford campus. Admission is free.

The exhibit is a collaborative effort between a faculty group headed by Dr. Tugba Sevin, the SWOSU Libraries, SWOSU College of Arts & Sciences and Weatherford Arts Council. It was designed for the University of Notre Dame and Latino communities, and now travels to institution host sites.

According to Tugba, the exhibit encourages a conversation between art and technology, exploring questions of race, identity and politics. “Art in Motion: Guayasamín’s Ecuador Unframed” bridges cultural theory, mathematical analysis, media visualization and computer programming in an innovative installation of the mural Ecuador (1952), a major art work by Oswaldo Guayasamín, one of the most prominent Latin American artists of the 20th century.

The mural is composed of five movable and interchangeable panels. Unfortunately, the mural, which is currently exhibited in La Capilla del Hombre, Quito, Ecuador, was framed and thus immobilized...until now. The only archival quality reproduction of the mural will be exhibited alongside a digital interface at the Al Harris Library. This digital interface allows visitors to view 30,720 potential configurations of the piece, and even to virtually create their own mural.

An opening reception is planned on Wednesday, November 11, from 3:30-4:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be Dr. James South.

The exhibit is only appearing at Vanderbilt University, Notre Dame, the Ecuadorian Embassy in Washington, D.C., and SWOSU.

Making the exhibit appearance possible are: Fundación Guayasamín; Kellogg Institute for International Studies of the University of Notre Dame; Notre Dame Center for Arts and Culture; Institute for Scholarship in the Liberal Arts-Henkels Lecture Fund; Notre Dame Center for Creative Computing; Notre Dame Office of Research; Pokagon Band of Potawatomi; Notre Dame Center for Social Concerns; College of Arts and Letters Teaching Beyond the Classroom Grant; Morris Inn at Notre Dame; Notre Dame Departments of Romance Languages and Literatures, Africana Studies, and Anthropology; Institute for Latino Studies; and The Frame Factory.

Questions regarding exhibit or teaching information should be directed to Erin Ridgeway at erin.ridgeway@swosu.edu or (580) 774-3130 or Sevin at tugba.sevin@swosu.edu or (580) 774-7164.

Bulldogs move into GAC second place with win

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. – For the first time since 1993 the SWOSU Football team has won five straight games after defeating Arkansas Tech 28-14 on Saturday afternoon to improve to 7-3 on the year. The victory moves the Bulldogs into a share of second place in the GAC standings with the Bulldogs holding the head-to-head tiebreaker over each other team they’re tied with.

After a scoreless first period, the Bulldogs scored touchdowns on back-to-back drives early in the second quarter to go on top 14-0 with 7:46 to play in the half. Marc Evans found Carlos Smith crossing in the end zone to cap off a seven-play 60-yard drive that got the scoring started. Arkansas Tech was driving into SWOSU territory on their next drive when Trevon Hartfield intercepted a pass at the 13-yard line and returned it to midfield to set up the next drive.

SWOSU wasted little time converting it into points with Evans finding Smith again down the seam for a 47-yard gain down to the three yard line, where Karltrell Henderson punched it in on the next play to make it 14-0. Arkansas Tech used a 12-play drive that covered 70 yards for their first score, which was capped off with a one-yard touchdown run by quarterback Arsenio Favor. Both teams got the ball one more time in the half, but the score stayed at 14-7 heading into the break.

Several punts were traded in the fourth quarter and Arkansas Tech missed a 32-yard field goal as most of the period was played in SWOSU territory. After taking over at their own 10 yard line with 4:02 remaining in the third, the Bulldogs needed just four plays to cover the field and regain their two-score lead. Evans found D.J. Jones twice on the drive, including the home run ball down the right sideline from 54-yards out that made the score 21-7 with 2:44 to play in the period.

After holding Arkansas Tech on downs at the end of the third quarter, SWOSU’s first offensive drive of the fourth went three-and-out, giving the Wonder Boys possession with 14:02 to play. What ensued was another long ATU drive that covered 69 yards in 17 plays – the longest drive against the Bulldogs this season – and ended with a one-yard run by Arsenio Favor. ATU converted four third downs on the drive and an extremely fortunate fourth-down pass that was broken up by Trevon Hartfield but fell into the arms of a receiver at the three yard line.

SWOSU took the field on the ensuing drive looking to run some clock and they got 2:24 off in five plays before giving the ball back to Arkansas Tech. The Wonder Boys got one first down on their next drive before Trevon Hartfield was again on the receiving end of a deep ball that he intercepted and ran back into ATU territory with 3:57 to play. The Bulldogs were not being conservative on offense, attempting to fourth downs, the final of which ended with a 30-yard touchdown pass from Evans to Derrick Styles on 4th and 7, a play that ended up as the clincher for the Bulldogs.

Five defenders reached double figures in tackles for the Bulldogs, who faced 103 plays in the game but allowed just 390 yards and 14 points in the game. Corner Bays led the Bulldogs with 14 tackles (eight solo, six assist) while Tyler George had a season-high with 13 stops. Gentry Rogers (12) and Trevon Hartfield (10) each had career games in terms of tackles while Hartfield had 71 return yards on two interceptions, the fifth-best yardage mark for a defender in SWOSU’s NCAA Division II history. Kapena Olsen also had 10 tackles and Collier Ward finished with four stops, including three tackles for loss and two sacks.

Offensively, Marc Evans finished 16-for-37 passing for 276 yards and three touchdowns, giving him 21 touchdown passes this season, the second-best single-season total in SWOSU football history. D.J. Jones was his top target with five receptions for 89 yards and a touchdown with Carlos Smith adding four receptions for 69 yards and a score and Derrick Styles having the clinching touchdown grab as part of his two receptions for 68 yards.

The Bulldogs got just 43 yards rushing on 28 attempts, with Karltrell Henderson totaling 28 yards and a touchdown on 10 carries while Kenneth Martey had 15 yards on 11 carries.

“What a big-time game. You look at Arkansas Tech, they’re very good on both sides of the ball,” SWOSU Head Coach Dan Cocannouer said following the game. “Our offense stuttered at times, but that defense they were playing is great. Our defense played unbelievable and my hats off to them, it’s a tribute to how we’ve played the last four weeks. They were awesome.”

With one game remaining in the regular season, SWOSU has climbed to second in the Great American Conference on the heels of five straight victories. The Bulldogs have tied for their most wins in a season during the NCAA Division II era (2002) and they now seek their first eight-win season since winning the 1996 NAIA National Championship.

To earn that eighth victory, the Bulldogs will have the opportunity of spoiling Senior Day in Alva as they face the rival Rangers of Northwestern Oklahoma State next Saturday at 2:00 pm.

Soccer team falls in tourney final

SEARCY, Ark. – SWOSU fell 5-3 to No. 1-seeded Harding in the Great American Conference Tournament final, the highest scoring match in the history of the tournament.

The Bulldogs rallied late before succumbing to three straight goals by the Lady Bisons, falling in the GAC Final for the first time in program history.

The match started out slowly for the Bulldogs, who were outshot 17-3 in the first frame. Harding got on the board in the 11th minute after Courtney Flores gave up a rebound before Samantha Nunez levelled the game at one goal apiece off the assist from Cori Kelly in the 18th minute. The tie was short-lived however, as Flores permitted another rebound to find the back a minute later.

SWOSU worked their way back into the match in the second half, as the Bulldogs scored two goals in three minutes. Olivia Butler threaded the ball to a wide open Nunez from the left wing in the 61st minute. The First Team All-GAC selection fell backwards on the shot, but put just enough power on it to beat Harding keeper Kaitlyn Miller. Butler followed that up with a looping cross in the 64th minute, again from the left flank, that fell to Kelly on the right side of the box. SWOSU’s other first-team selection lofted her shot over Miller to give the Bulldogs a 3-2 lead, the first of the day for SWOSU.

Unfortunately, it was a brief lead as Harding scored three unanswered goals to end the match. The Lady Bisons scored the first in the 73rd minute from a failed clearance on a corner kick off a curling shot that just beat Flores, before a speculative effort in the 74th minute of play just inched over Flores’ head to put Harding back on top.

Nunez set the single season goals record in the loss, bagging a brace to finish with 12 goals on the year.

Nunez, Kelly and Kylee Bertrand were also honored with All-GAC Tournament honors. It is the first time any of SWOSU’s three First Team All-GAC selections have been picked for the all-tournament team.

The Bulldogs end the season at 13-6-1, improving their win total by 11 games from last season. SWOSU will return six of the starters from this year’s GAC Final match.

Runners set marks in championship

JOPLIN, Mo. – The Bulldogs returned to the Tom Rutledge Cross Country Course on the campus of Missouri Southern State University for the second time this season for the Central Region Championship. SWOSU finished 23rd overall against the Central Region’s top teams, an improvement of two places from the same race last season.

Lauren Parenica set a personal record in the 6,000-meter even and moved into fourth all-time in the 6k at SWOSU with a time of 23:22.93. In the final race of her Bulldog career, the senior placed 82nd overall after shaving over a minute off her previous personal best time.

Isela Sandoval moved up one spot in the record books to fifth after crossing in 23:33.18. In her first season as a Bulldog, the junior finished 93rd. Freshman Robin Sheehan entered the record books as well with the ninth-best 6k in program history. She completed the course in 24:24.86, good for 136th place.

Brooke Lizotte turned in a time of 24:51.77, placing 152nd overall. Completing the scoring times for the Bulldogs was Lena Garrison, who ran a time of 26:49.45 to finish in 191st place. Mikayla Howorka and Sierra Campbell also ran for SWOSU at the regional meet. Howorka finished 194th overall after timing in at 27:05.08, while Campbell was forced to drop out mid-race due to injury.

“We improved off of last year’s,” said SWOSU head coach Shane Brookshire. “We moved up two spots from last year’s finish, and four athletes ran person bests. That’s a great way to cap off a fantastic season!”

Volleyball team wins on senior night

The SWOSU Volleyball team sent out their lone senior, Kaila Lancaster, with a victory in her final match at the Pioneer Cellular Event Center as the Bulldogs defeated East Central in straight sets on Thursday evening.

SWOSU hit .378 for the match – their second-best total of the season – including a mark above .400 in both the first and third sets and they held East Central to 18 points or less in each set. Carly Zak and Kelsi Schmidtberger were a dominant duo offensively, combining for 26 kills and just five attack errors. Zak put down 15 kills and hit .448 with eight digs and three blocks while Schmidtberger had 11 kills and hit .500 with two blocks to her credit.

The Bulldogs were also stout defensively, holding East Central to a hitting percentage of .100, including a negative number in the opening set. SWOSU had 43 digs, compared to 31 for ECU while also out-blocking the Tigers seven-to-four with a team-high five (one solo, four assist) from Paige Holt. Kayla Hebert had 34 assists and 10 digs, both team highs.

In her final home match, Kaila Lancaster totaled seven digs, one service ace, an assist and she recorded her 22nd career kill during the third set. SWOSU’s all-time leader in digs now has exactly 1,700 career digs, which is more than 500 better than the next closest player in program history.

The victory moves the Bulldogs to 18-10 on the year and 9-5 in Great American Conference play with just two matches remaining in the regular season. SWOSU is currently in fourth place in the GAC standings heading into the final week of the season, which will include road games against Southern Nazarene and Northwestern Oklahoma State.

What's Happening at Res Life

by John Srader

One of the most popular hall events of all time returns this year to Rogers and Jefferson Hall. On October 8th, at 6:00 p.m. the R&J Ping Pong Tournament will be held in the Rogers lobby. Champions from years past will face off against each other as well as talented new challengers. There is constant activity around the ping pong table as people enjoy friendly competition in preparation for the tournament. The competition is fierce this year, and you can expect the tournament to be an intense one. Will we see a previous champion conquer once again, or will we see a new competitor climb to the top? To find out, come out and enjoy a great tournament, and a great show.
