Don A. Roush Scholarship Is Established at SWOSU

A Don A. Roush Memorial Scholarship has been established through the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Foundation. A donation of $2500.00 was given to establish the scholarship. Don was a graduate of Custer City High School and received his degree from Southwestern in 1936. Roush served in the United States Army Air Corps as a Lieutenant Colonel. He was killed when his B-29 bomber was shot down over Japan during World War II. The United States Army Reserve Center in Clinton was named after Roush. A large picture and bronze plaque can be seen in the Reserve Center.

Roush's name is mentioned prominently in two books, "Point of No Return" and "Hell Birds," which documents raids over Japan occurring during World War II. Both of those accounts are available in the public library.

The following information is on the plaque at the U.S. Army Reserve Center in Clinton:

Survey Shows SWOSW Students Pay Less

According to a recent survey by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, students at Southwestern Oklahoma State University pay less for their tuition and room and board than any other reporting school in the nation.

Dr. Earl Reynolds, Vice-President at Southwestern, said that the survey's findings came as no real surprise, in that Southwestern has been in or around the top three most economical schools for the past several years. "We are most reluctant to advertise our standing as 'the most economical baccalaureate-granting institution in the nation,' because of the cultural myth, 'You get what you pay for,'" Reynolds stated. "Southwestern State, because of its geographic location and long history of innovative management practices, offers students a very high quality education while maintaining a relatively low cost to those students."

board and a national average of $1106.00 for tuition and $2184.00 for room and board.

"Southwestern State is committed to keeping students' costs low and instructional quality high," Reynolds said. "Doing this provides educational excellence open to a maximum number of students." Reynolds also mentions that Southwestern provides an enviable high quality educational program, with national, regional and state accreditation in teacher education, pharmacy, home economics, nursing, medical records and chemistry.

Reynolds, in closing, said that Southwestern has repeatedly ranked as one of the leaders among Oklahoma state colleges, based on the per cent of instructional staff holding doctorates, and was ranked third for average faculty salaries last year among state senior colleges in 10 mid-western states, based on a study conducted by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education.

The survey, which lists colleges and universities from across America, shows that a Southwestern Oklahoma State University student will pay an average of $483.00 a year for tuition, based on 12 hours, and $1170.00 for a year's room and board. These figures are compared with the Oklahoma average of $516.00 for tuition and $1396.00 for room and

He has been instrumental in bringing about recent changes in underwriting practices for high blood pressure, as well as proposed changes in the cancer and diabetes section of the Underwriting Guide. Dr. Pickett also reviews large amount applications for insurance. In some cases, these amounts will exceed ten million dollars.

Pharmacy School Honors Former Local Girl and Husband

Doyle and Roberta High, Haskell, TX, pharmacists, have recently been named as "Outstanding Alumni" at the School of Pharmacy at Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford.

"Outstanding Alumni" sometimes come in pairs. Pharmacy is a demanding profession, and it frequently tests the bonds between husband and wife. A co-operative understanding is even more important when each spouse is a pharmacist. Our outstanding alumni, Doyle and Roberta High of Haskell, TX, have successfully demonstrated this relationship can work--and work well.

Although currently residing in Texas, both are native Oklahomans. Roberta, from Fort Cobb, and Doyle, from Walters, came from farming country. Their fathers did not attend college, but both men raised their children stressing the importance of higher education. Roberta made her way to Southwestern bent on a pharmacy career. Doyle says he came to play football and stayed to become a pharmacist.

After graduation, they followed Dr. Howard Mossberg to the University of Kansas where Doyle obtained a master's degree. The High's moved to Abilene, being influenced by friends there, and spent about one and a half years working for Abilene Drug. Doyle then bought his first store in Haskell, TX. In 1976, they built and opened their current pharmacy.

Over the years since graduation, Roberta's and Doyle's interests have taken them into a wide range of areas. They discovered their pharmacy background was an excellent springboard. Both are real estate salesmen, and Doyle is a broker and a licensed auctioneer. Both are hospital pharmacy consultants and plan, along with some Haskell business colleagues, to open a new bank in the near future. As responsible professionals, Roberta and Doyle have held offices in the Chamber of Commerce, school board, and country club. Doyle is also a past president of the Lion's Club. Roberta is an excellent singer and is frequently asked to serve at funerals and weddings, school and church groups, and civic clubs.

The High's have two children: Holli, age 16, and Kirk, age 13. Holli says she is interested in a pharmacy career; Kirk is still undecided.

DR. BERNARD KELLER, right, Dean of the Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Pharmacy, receives a check representing two $500 scholarship loans from Charles Wilson, a Professional Service Representative from the Burroughs-Wellcome Pharmaceutical Company. Each year, pharmacists' names from across the southwestern region are drawn, and the winners select institutions to receive the $500. Southwestern was chosen by two of its alums, Larry D. Martin, Artesia, N.M., and Sandra R. White, Tulsa.

Alumni Receives Pharmacy Award

Charlie D. Moore, pharmacist, Wichita Falls, TX, is the recipient of the 1984 National Association of Retail Druggist-Parke Davis Drug Abuse Education and Prevention Award. The award is presented each year to a retail pharmacist who has made an outstanding contribution in the area of drug abuse education and prevention. It consists of a commemorative plaque, $500 to cover the winner's expenses connected with attending the annual NARD convention, and a scholarship grant of $1000 to be presented to the School of Pharmacy of his choice. Moore has designated the School of Pharmacy, Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Weatherford, OK, to receive the scholarship grant.

Moore received the award as a result of his work as chairman of the Committee on Impaired Pharmacists, a committee of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association. The goal of the committee is to provide assistance to Texas pharmacists who may be impaired because of alcohol or drug abuse or have physical disabilities which prevent them from practicing pharmacy. A state-wide network of more than 100 volunteer pharmacists is available on a 24-hour basis to assist fellow pharmacists who may be in need of support. A state-wide hot-line telephone number (1-800-252-8118) is available for easy contact. This is the first completely volunteer program for pharmacists in the nation.

Moore is a native of Abilene,

TX. He is a graduate of Abilene Christian University and a 1963 graduate of the School of Pharmacy, SWOSU. Prior to moving to Wichita Falls in June, 1984, he practiced pharmacy in Olney, Abilene, and Midland.

Alumni Joins Health Occupation Program

Vincennes University's Health Occupations Division has added two instructors to its faculty, according to John Schmeling, vice-president for Instructional Services and dean of faculty, and Lee Godare, division chairperson.

Darrel W. King has been appointed assistant professor and chairman of the Medical Record Technician Program. He has earned a bachelor's degree from Southwestern Oklahoma State University; a registered record administration degree from Hillcrest Medical Center, Tulsa, OK, and a master's degree from the University of Louisville, KY.

Previous to coming to VU, King served as a medical record consultant, a director of medical records at Mary and Elizabeth Hospital in Louisville, KY, and an adjunct professor of health record administration at Eastern Kentucky University.

Presently a captain in the U.S. Army Reserves, King has been active in the Kentucky Medical Records Association (MRA) and the River Valley MRA.

Physics Alumni Speaks to Students

On Sept. 20, 1984, Craig Huffman, a 1983 engineering physics graduate of SWOSU, came back to the campus to speak to the Physics, Engineering, and Geology Society group. Craig was the president of the group during his senior year at Southwestern.

His talk was on "Opportunities for Physicists in Front End Processing" which concerned his work in the high-technology electronics industry. Hoffman is now a member of the technical staff in the Semiconductor Process Laboratory of Texas Instruments in Dallas, TX. He does work with plasma etching of semiconductor materials. Craig works with another physics graduate from SWOSU, Mr. Joe Abernathy, who graduated in 1972 and has had a very productive career with TI since.

Mr. Huffman spent Thursday afternoon and most of Friday talking with present students in physics at Southwestern about possibilities of employment with

CRAIG HUFFMAN

Texas Instruments after they graduate.

Halliburton Presents Grant to SWOSU

The Halliburton Foundation of Dallas, TX, has presented to Southwestern Oklahoma State University a check for $5000, to be used during the 1984-85 school year for faculty support within the departments of chemistry and computer science.

Halliburton Services is an operating unit of Halliburton Company, a Dallas-based international oil field services and engineering/construction organization. Halliburton Foundation was organized by Halliburton Company in 1965 to provide funds to accredited colleges and universities. In presenting the check, Malone said the Foundation makes direct grants primarily to those colleges and universities from which the Halliburton companies employ a substantial number of graduates. "Because of the highly technical nature of our operations, these grants are usually given to engineering schools and selected business schools," Malone added.

"This nation's future depends upon the quality of trained people who come from our system of higher education. Halliburton considers its support to be a prudent investment in the future," Malone said. In addition to its direct financial grants to universities, Halliburton Foundation matches the contributions of its employees on a two-for-one basis. To date more than 350 educational institutions have received support through the direct grant or matching gift program. Total grants amount to more than ten million dollars at this time.

The University may use the grant to supplement the salaries of faculty members, to make incentive awards, or to provide assistance in professional development activities.

Halliburton Company was founded in 1920 by Earle P. Halliburton as the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company. From its early beginnings as a two-man operation with little financial backing, it has grown into one of the nation's largest multi-national corporations. Its net revenues last year were in excess of $5.5 billion.

Halliburton Services, headquartered in Duncan, OK, is a regular employer of Southwestern graduates. Halliburton Services aids the oil and gas industry at the wellhead by providing cementing services and stimulation procedures and by testing potential oil bearing formations. In conjunction with these services, it manufactures much of the bulk materials, proprietary tools and chemical products that it uses. The company operates 135 field locations in 38 states and 145 locations in 60 foreign nations.

Other major Halliburton companies with campus recruiting programs are Otis Engineering

Alumni Join Cordell Schools

Two new teachers have joined the faculty of the Cordell Public Schools for the 1984-85 term, according to Supt. Jerry Burrows.

They are Mary Champion and Loretta Schmidt.

Mary Champion is the seventh grade, junior high, and senior high girl's basketball coach and teaches psychology. This is her first year to teach.

Miss Champion graduated from Glenpool High School and earned her B.S. degree in education from SWOSU.

Loretta Schmidt is in charge of the PEAK program in junior high and high school. This is her 13th year of teaching. She graduated from high school at Corn and earned her bachelor's degree at the University of California at Fresno. She received her master's degree from SWOSU.

Mrs. Schmidt and her husband and three children--Carmen, 16, Brendon, 14, and Becky, 9--live on a farm near Corn.

Alumni Family Runs To Law Enforcement

JUDY WEBB McCLELLAN

JOHN WEBB

Law enforcing seems to run in the Webb family of Cordell. A daughter, a son, and a son-in-law are troopers with the Oklahoma Highway Patrol. Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Webb's daughter, Judy Webb McClellan, and her husband, Toby, are members of Troop A stationed in El Reno. Their son, John Webb, is a trooper stationed at Weatherford with Troop H. The law attachment does not end with those three. John Webb's father-in-law, Curtis Rushing of Custer City, is also assigned to the Weatherford district highway patrol. And Curtis Rushing has a brother, Keith Rushing, who also in an Oklahoma Highway Patrol trooper. The Sunday Oklahoman featured Trooper Judy Webb McClellan and an Oklahoma City policewoman on the front page of its women's section Sunday, Dec. 16. A four-year veteran trooper, Judy was quoted in the Oklahoma City newspaper as saying she "loves it out there" on the interstate and other state roads. Most of her duty is on the interstate. Judy and Toby are the first husband-wife team in Oklahoma Highway Patrol history. He has been with the patrol three years. She says all peace officers get scared sometimes. She says they don't dwell on it. Only once in four years has she had to fire her revolver. That was when she shot at a car's tires when the driver tried to run a patrol road block.

Occasionally Judy and her brother, John, meet in the Cherokee Restaurant between Weatherford and El Reno to visit and compare notes on their patrol work. Trooper Judy graduated from Cordell High School in 1974 and from Southwestern Oklahoma State University with a degree in music education in 1978. Trooper John graduated from Cordell High School in 1972 and from SWOSU with a degree in business management in 1976. John and his wife, Donna, live in Weatherford with their two children, Miranda, two years old, and Michael, five months old. The troopers' mother, Jane, is employed by Sewell Brothers Construction Company, and their father, Elvin, is an employee of Payton Jewelry. They are proud of the law enforcement work being done by their daughter, son, and son-in-law.

"Family" Institution Graduates Last Member

To the Scales family of Colony, Southwestern Oklahoma State University is truly a "family" institution and in 1985 during the school's spring graduation exercises, Charlotte Nutry will become the eighth of Mrs. Edith Scales' offspring to receive her diploma--some 43 years after she started college. Charlotte, who has earned her Education Degree, started school at Southwestern in 1942 when marriage and a move to New Jersey forced her to interrupt her education. When she returned to Oklahoma, she immediately set out to finish what she had started. "I always promised myself I would do this--and I did," Nutry states. "Of course, I had much support from my family, as well as my friends, and the faculty and staff at Southwestern." Others from the Southwestern-Scales connection include: Dorothy Banister, a 1943 graduate, who teaches special education in Pittsburg, CA. Margaret Garrett, an accelerated academic high school teacher in El Camino, CA, graduated in 1948. Lodema Burgess, principal of the Kennewick, WA, Middle School, was a 1951 graduate. Gwendola Taylor, a 1957 graduate, teaches in the San Jose, CA, elementary schools. Darwin Scales, who graduated in 1958, teaches in overseas schools for the United States Military and is currently assigned to the Philippines. Duriel (Duke) Scales taught for several years in Kansas and Oklahoma and currently works in the areas of Real Estate, Minerals, and Cattle. He is a 1963 graduate. Don Scales is a 1966 graduate and is now the assistant superintendent of the Clinton, OK, public schools. Of these, Margaret, Lodema, Darwin, and Don have received their master's degrees from Southwestern. Nutry, who is employed by the Southwestern Mail Room, also mentions that several of Mrs. Scales' grandchildren are Southwestern products, including Mark Garrett, Wade Robinson, Jacquelyn Nutry, Joe LoVecchio (two degrees), Pamela Taylor Hammons, and Vickie Taylor, currently a Southwestern senior.

Good Visit

Dear Millie, 12-11-84

Recently I had a good visit with several of the "ole" Bulldogs. At least it seems like a visit every time the "Echoes from The Hill" arrives. It is a great paper, and it brings enjoyment to many.

Would you believe I found Thera Mae Norton-Yoes, an ex-Bulldog, mentioned in one of the past articles? So I looked her up in the March, 1984, issue while I was in Houston, Texas. We were roomies at Southwestern from 1936 through 1938, when she graduated. She is now head of the math department at Lee High School in Houston. It had been 40 years since we had seen each other, but thanks to "Echoes from The Hill" we are close friends again.

You asked for more information about me so here goes. I received my bachelor's degree from Southwestern in 1940. I taught in public schools for 22 years, one year at Bridgeport in 1939, four years at Cordell (1940-43), a housewife from 1944 to 1948, then 17 years in Clinton Public Schools.

I received my master's degree from Oklahoma University in 1954 and my doctorate from Oklahoma University in 1964. After receiving my doctorate, I taught four years in Southeastern State College in Durant and four years at Cameron University in Lawton.

I retired in 1973 and am very happy to have that first cup of coffee in house shoes and robe. Then I also enjoy a second cup of coffee with my husband, R. T. Sutton, who also is an old Bulldog.

We have a good, old coffee pot and would be delighted to have your familiar face darken our door and ask for a cup of coffee.

Neva Kesteron-Sutton

Card Returned

Dearest Millie, 1-5-85

Guess it must be time for Alumni Dues again, so here's my check for ten dollars ($10.00).

How are you? Hope you had an enjoyable holiday season. I did. I spent Christmas with my daughter, Linell, her husband, Rick, grandson, Chad, and granddaughter, Shannon.

After having had heart surgery last May, I've been a bit incapacitated, but finally I'm able to walk limited distances by using a cane.

Millie, have you heard from (or of) Miss Shoemaker recently? She and I have exchanged Christmas greetings for years. This year my card was returned, saying that she was no longer at the address to which I had sent the card--the Retirement Home in Tulsa.

May 1985 be a good year for all people over the World!

Best Wishes--

Sincerely,

Eva Gibbs Duncan

P.S. I look forward to receiving Echoes from The Hill (with fond memories).

SOUTHWESTERN---

Stands on top of The Hill,
Overlooking town all around,
Utilizing effort and skill,
Thinking of the new that abounds,
Having the power of the will,
Working with what is found,
Escalating to the top of the mill,
Studying facts from the ground,
Taking time for a thrill--
Endeavoring to find a pound
Resounding with an abundant fill, Noting the old, the new, and the yet to be discovered-- that's Southwestern!

ECHOES RECEIVES

FROM YOU

My BrotherDear Otis: 6-27-84

I would appreciate the opportunity to call attention to my brother, Raymond H. Boyer, who was the first male graduate of Southwestern with a bachelor's degree. He received all his college training at the college. I understand the first graduate transferred many of her hours from another college and was the lone graduate in the first class. Raymond was in the second class in which there were three who received their degrees. I am not certain of the date, but I believe it was in the spring of 1919. He now resides in Oklahoma after retiring as an editor for Harlowe Publishing Company. Raymond was born in May, 1898, and received all his education at Weatherford except when he went to Oklahoma University where he received his master's degree in history. He taught school several years. He was a member of the Student Army Training Corps that existed at Southwestern during the war. Believe it or not, during the winter when the coal strike was on, the group was taken to the fields and mined coal that winter. I often wonder whether any of the other members of his class are living. He wrote and edited workbooks that were used in the public schools in Oklahoma. These books were also sold in Tennessee, Kansas, and Texas. He married Mary Connally, and they have one son who is a teacher in a university in Kansas. In the course of time, there have been seven members of my family who attended Southwestern and five who have received degrees. I call attention to Raymond because he is now 86 years of age. He lives at 3908 N.W. 25th Street in Oklahoma City.

Thanks a lot,
D. L. Boyer

California UnitDear Millie: 10-10-84

I need some information. How do I get the "Echoes from The Hill?"

I had a letter from Nola Vandever saying she had read my letter in "Echoes from The Hill." I also had a note from Everett Wright. He sent a schedule of your Custer-Dewey County Retired Teachers' Association meetings for 1984.

Minnie and I had planned a surprise visit to one of the meetings, but our plans were changed. I'll explain in an accompanying note.

It seems from Mrs. Vandever's letter that there is a California unit of the Southwestern Alumni Association. Please send me names and addresses that I might contact for information.

How are you getting along there these days? I do not have very much contact with anyone from Southwestern. I did have lunch recently with Dick Jewell's wife. He passed away some time ago.

Re: Minnie Crain

The information I referred to is that my wife, Minnie, died August 19, 1984. She had a cardioversion on August 2, a stroke paralyzing her left side on August 6, and passed away on August 19.

You may recall that she and I started teaching at the Rural Demonstration School in 1930. That was under the direction of Masie Shirey. We taught there at a demonstration and teaching training school for rural teachers for six years. Then we moved into Weatherford, at which time I became a Rural School Supervisor for the nine counties of the Southwestern area.

Then early in 1942, soon after Pearl Harbor, we came to California and I entered military service.

Minnie taught elementary school in Costa Mesa, CA, from 1942 through 1955. At that time she became the first woman elementary principal in the Costa Mesa school system. Due to ill health, she retired from school work in 1959. In the course of time, she got her master's degree in Elementary School Administration from the University of Southern California in 1954. We had both gotten our bachelor's degrees from Southwestern in 1932. I received my master's degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1936.

Guest Column?Dear Millie: 10-10-84

Let your mind drift back to 1939-41. Millie, and perhaps you will recall a student--Glenn (Elbert the Freshman) Shelton--who graduated with the class of 1941.

Well, Millie, I have been a columnist for this newspaper for nearly 40 years, since discharged in WWII. The newspaper is the Wichita Falls Time and Record News.

I called Dan Rivkin to ask him when was Southwestern's homecoming, and he told me it was Nov. 3. I would like to attend, and perhaps the Rivkin's and I can come together. I get no alumni news, or anything, from the college.

Maybe The Southwestern would like a guest column from this old former Bulldog editor?

25¢ An HourDear Millie: 11-23-84

So glad to see you homecoming. We sure enjoyed it. I graduated from Southwestern in 1938 after graduating from Cordell High School in 1934. I worked on the campus with Charley Folks as my boss at that time and for Lee Ratcliffe, running the Blue Kennel for about three months, which was then located behind the present Book Store. I also worked at Schultz Grocery Store on Saturdays. I was a member of the Student Council, choir, and men's quartet for three years with Don McCarter, Duane Combs, and Max Godfrey, making many appearances over Oklahoma.

In 1938-39 I was grade school principal and coached high school and junior high. I went into the First National Bank in Hammon in 1942 and retiring in 1976, moving to Lake Leon near Ranger and Eastland, Texas. While teaching at Bessie, I married Elaine Lewter on Dec. 25, 1938. We have three children:

Phyllis Burke Hay, 44, husband Tommy, has three children: Philip, Tammy, and Derek, now living at Arlington, Texas. Tommy graduated from OSU; Phyllis attended OSU.

Carolyn Burke Wynn, 42, husband Hugh R., both graduating from OSU and now living at Spring, Texas. They have two children: Kimberley, 17, and Nicole, 15.

David F. Burke, wife Gloria Lynn Subrod, one son Sean will be three years old Jan. 29, 1985. David graduated from Southwestern in 1977 and is now living at Carrollton, Texas.

Have many memories of Southwestern. When we worked on the campus we made 25 cents an hour, but somehow we made it. My little brother, Leroy, stayed with me my junior and senior year and went to Weatherford High School, becoming an outstanding wrestler.

When I came back to homecoming this year I saw many friends, bringing back many happy memories, making my life just a little better. I also realized as the years have gone by that I have lost many of my friends. Many, many times I have run into Southwestern classmates. I am very proud of Southwestern University.

Geurkink's Outlook Positive

If all goes as predicted by head coach Larry Geurkink, fans of the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Baseball Bulldogs should be treated to the same winning tradition during the 1985 season as they have been during all of Geurkink's nine years with the team.

"Although it is hard to tell right now," Geurkink said, "I think we have the capability to be as good as we have the past several seasons." Geurkink's past two seasons have brought in 66 wins versus 40 losses, and his 1983 team were runners-up to the NAIA District 9 title.

Although the 1985 edition of the Bulldogs seems to be a more experienced group than in years past, the team will have to do without the services of Mike Shelton, a pitcher who was last year's Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference "Player of the Year," as well as Brad Thomas, Mike Moore, and Bryan Kauk, all on the first NAIA District 9 team. Geurkink has filled their positions with several outstanding players, including Jim Bob Browning straight from Clinton High; Roy Stolle, from Western Oklahoma State

JUCO, and Darren Linden, Ron Black, and Greg Foster, all transfers from Central State.

As the team approaches its first game, it appears that its starting roster will include either Trent Perkins, two-year starter from Chickasha as catcher; Marty Lorenz, a four-year starter and all-Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference Team last year at first; Butch Roberts, sophomore from Norman at second; Jimmy Overturf, sophomore from Tulsa at shortstop, and Stolle on third. Taking outfield positions will be Linden, Black, and Scott Hall, junior from Marlow.

Geurkink, when speaking of his 1985 team, mentions its depth in pitchers. This year the team will have some 11, with the best of them being Foster; Kris Roth, Walnut Creek, CA; Tracey Thompson, senior from Norman; Kelly Gaunt, junior from Weatherford, and Greg McFadden, junior from Muskogee.

Geurkink mentions that the Bulldogs should be a strong defensive ballclub and that their hitting, while not as powerful as it has been the past several seasons, should be above average.

St. Louis Punter Gets His Kicks Behind The Counter

By MARK SCHOIFET
"Drug Store News"

Long after the cheering has stopped, long after he has punted his last football for pay, Carl Birdsong of the St. Louis Cardinals will not be another ex-athlete in search of a career.

If Birdsong has his way--and there doesn't seem to be any reason why he would not--he'll be filling prescriptions at a drug store in his hometown of Amarillo, TX.

Birdsong, 25, is believed to be the only registered pharmacist playing in the National Football League. And, as he proudly points out, he is a pharmacist who happens to play football, not the other way around.

"To say that I went into professional sports would not be accurate," Birdsong told "Drug Store News" after a recent mid-week practice session. "I took a chance and tried to make the best of an opportunity. I knew when I was in college that my education had to come first. Football was icing on the cake."

Birdsong earned his pharmacy degree from SWOSU, where he also did his undergraduate work. He passed the pharmacy boards last spring.

During the off-season, Birdsong does "relief work" at Maxor Drug in Amarillo, a high-volume independent owned by his brother-in-law, Jerry Hodge. The store, the oldest drug store in the city, has used print advertising featuring Birdsong to lure shoppers, but according to Hodge, Birdsong's stint there last spring was more than just a promotional play.

"Carl is an extremely good pharmacist," said Hodge, the former Mayor of Amarillo. "He communicates well. He's intense, a very hard worker."

Birdsong's hard work behind the counter apparently translates to the football field. After being released by the Buffalo Bills in 1981, he joined the Cardinals and wound up on UPI's All-Rookie Team. The following season he led the conference with a 43.8-yard average, and last year he was selected for the Pro Bowl, one of the highest honors in the league.

"Carl is an unselfish, team-oriented individual and should be one of the premier punters in the league for a long time," said St. Louis Coach Jim Hanifan.

As could be expected, Birdsong takes a lot of ribbing from his teammates about his unusual off-season profession. In the football locker room, nothing is sacred.

"You get some buddies kidding you about selling drugs and pushing drugs--stuff like that," Birdsong said. "But I think they really respect me. It's really a compliment when they ask me about medicine they might be taking or that some member of their family might be taking. I welcome questions, and I give them help whenever I can."

"One of the most important aspects of pharmacy," says Birdsong, "is communication. Part of the problem with someone on medication is fear. I try to reassure them about any possible side-effects."

As a pharmacist, Birdsong has special insight into the use of drugs and the potential for abuse. And he is often asked about the rumors of wide-spread drug abuse among professional athletes, especially those in the physical and often violent world of the NFL.

"In any part of society, there is a certain amount of drug abuse," Birdsong said. "The NFL does not have a greater problem than any other segment of society--law, medicine, factory workers. It's just that in the NFL we live in a fish-bowl environment where the media looks at everything we do."

Birdsong hopes to open his own pharmacy after he retires from football. In the meantime, he plans to continue his off-season work in Amarillo. And he takes comfort in the thought that when his career is ended--whether from injury or from age--there is another ready to begin.

"I think it's given me some added strength and a little more peace of mind than some other players have," he said.

Carl Birdsong Receives Annual Award

Carl Birdsong, St. Louis Cardinals punter and a Southwestern Oklahoma State University graduate, is this year's recipient of the Sixth Annual Dick Risenhoover Award, which honors the outstanding personality with a background in the Texas Panhandle. Birdsong received his pharmacy degree from SWOSU.

Risenhoover, who became the 31st honoree to be installed into the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame in 1974, died of cancer in 1978 at the age of 51. He was known as the "Voice of the Amarillo Gold Sox," and later announced the Texas Ranger baseball games.

Birdsong, whose family moved to Amarillo in 1967, said "I'm sure I listened to him when he was doing the Texas Rangers games."

This year hasn't been a typical Carl Birdsong-type season. After 13 games this season, his 39.3-yard gross punting average ranks 11th in the National Football Conference, and his 33.7 net punting average is 10th in the NFC.

Last season, his third with the Cardinals, he played in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl. Birdsong led the NFC in punting in 1982, and in 1981 was named the NFC All-Rookie Punter.

This season, however, he's tied for the fewest punts in the conference with 54, and Birdsong said that has affected his average. "That's true. I've punted about a little over half of what I did last year," he said.

Last season, enroute to a 41.5-yard gross average, he punted 85 times. "There's several reasons for that. This is the best offensive team I've ever played on in my life," Birdsong said. "We move the ball so well."

The Cardinal offense has averaged 395.8 yards per game after 13 games, which ranks second in the NFC and fourth in the NFL, and 25.5 points per game.

"I've had more opportunities to punt from their (opponents') 40. For a while, one-third of my kicks went out of bounds inside the 20," Birdsong said.

Birdsong, who makes his off-season home in Amarillo, was presented the Dick Risenhoover Award by the Amarillo Downtown Lions Club in February, after the football season and, Birdsong hopes, after St. Louis is through with the playoffs.

Dawgs Setting Records

KELLI LITSCH

It has been an eventful season for both the Southwestern men's and women's basketball teams, with the Lady Bulldogs boasting a perfect 17-0 record while the Bulldogs are at 8-9 as of Jan. 22.

For the Lady Bulldogs, the first half of the season has been one of record-setting proportions--during the 1984 semester Kelli Litsch, now a senior, scored her 2000th point as a Lady Bulldog, certainly setting a record that will be hard to beat. Also, the 1984 season saw John Loftin, head coach of the Lady Bulldogs, score his 100th victory in his fourth year. At this writing, Coach Loftin is undefeated on his home floor in those four years, versus 102 wins there.

At this writing, the team is undefeated with 17 wins and is rated first in the nation by the NAIA Basketball Poll. Kelli Litsch leads the nation in field goal percentage, with 67%, is 10th in the nation in free-throw per cent with 85% and is 16th in the nation with 21.7 points per game. The team is third in the nation in team field goal percentage, 52%, fifth in free-throw percentage, 73%, sixth in team scoring defense, 51.8, and sixth in team scoring margin, 19.3. The chances look good now for the team to repeat the success of its past three seasons by returning to the NAIA National Championship Tournament, where for two of the past three seasons they have been named National Champions.

The Bulldog basketball team, under long-time coach George Hauser, is struggling with an 8-9 record, although fans around Weatherford have been impressed by the team's hard work and spirit. The highpoint in the first semester of play for the Bulldogs was a last-second win over Bethany Nazarene in Weatherford on Dec. 4, although the Bulldogs never lead throughout the game and were behind six points with 11 seconds to go in the game.

One of the bright spots of the season has been the play of Bryan Baca, a Clinton All-Stater in his sophomore year as a Bulldog. Baca, who at 6-7 is one of the taller members of the team, is averaging 10 points per game and has a field goal percentage (58) and a free-throw percentage (82) that is high-ranking in the NAIA District 9.

SOUTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA State University students Felix Melendez, left, and Mark Guinn, both members of the Southwestern Bulldog football team, have been selected to the first-ever NAIA District Nine Academic Football Team. Melendez, a sophomore accounting major from Lawton, was a starting tight end for the Bulldogs this season, and Guinn, a senior physical education major from Altus, has been the Bulldog's starting center for the past two seasons. Melendez and Guinn made the team with 3.26 and 3.24 grade point averages, respectively.

In order to qualify for nomination, a player was to have played in 75 per cent of their team's games and had to maintain a 3.0 GPA.
