All Greek Reunion Planned For Homecoming

The Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Chapter and SWOSU Alumni Association are planning an all Greek reunion for homecoming on Saturday October 1, 1988. Activities for the day are being planned by the four fraternities and three sororities. The four fraternities that are encouraging former members to return are Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Tau Gamma and Tau Kappa Epsilon. The sororities inviting alumni to return are Sigma Kappa, Gamma Phi Beta, and Alpha Gamma Delta.

The first two fraternities on the SWOSU campus were Beta Tau Beta and Alpha Nu. Beta Tau Beta chartered in 1946 later became Pi Kappa Alpha in 1963. Alpha Nu, also chartered in 1946, became Tau Kappa Epsilon in 1958. The first two sororities were the Tri-J's chartered in 1921 and later became Sigma Kappa in 1964. Delta Sigma Epsilon was chartered in 1939.

In 1965, the Panhellenic Chapter and Interfraternity Council were started. Mrs. Ruby Drinkwater, Dean of Women, sponsored the Panhellenic Chapter and Dr. W.C. Burris sponsored the Interfraternity Council.

All former Greek members are invited to return.

Listed below are members of the SWSOU Greek organizations.

Students Do Psychology Research Project

Three students majoring in psychology at Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford are involved this spring semester with a research project examining concept learning.

The students are Beth Hayhurst of Elk City, Kathleen Higgins of Bakersfield CA and Greg Lynn Ruch of Tulsa.

The study, under the direction of Dr. Paul Nail of Southwestern's psychology department, is being conducted employing the university's MV-10,000 computer which is programmed to interact with volunteer subjects much like a teacher would.

Ruch explains the computer poses questions and gives feedback to a subject based upon a certain concept or rule. It is a subject's task to try and discover what the rule is.

"Our results so far are encouraging," Ruch said. "We've already obtained support for an elusive type of behavior that was predicted by theorists back in the 60's but never isolated until now.

A paper based on the research will be presented in April at the annual convention of the Southwestern Psychological Association in Tulsa.

Knight Hired As New Superintendent

June Knight was hired by the Hobart school board as the new superintendent of schools, effective Jan. 1, on an 18-month contract.

Mrs. Knight is in her 16th year in the Hobart school system with this being her third year as principal at the middle school. She was Eugene Field principal for five years and a teacher four years each at Eugene Field and Frances Willard Elementary schools.

She has a bachelor of education and master's in education administration from Southwestern Oklahoma State University. She received her superintendent's certificate from Oklahoma University, where she is currently in the doctorate of education program.

"Hobart has a good reputation in the region and across the state for its efforts in the classroom. I look at building on that good reputation," she said.

She said, in acknowledging the two dissenting votes, that they represent constituents concerns. Mrs. Knight said she wants to hear from the people, about positives and negatives in the school system, to build a stronger school.

Business Professors Elected Officers

Three Southwestern Oklahoma State University professors were recently elected as 1988-89 officers of the Oklahoma Business Education Association.

Mrs. Joella Hundley, assistant professor in the office Administration/Business Education Department, was elected as the Southwestern area representative. Dr. Harry Nowka, Economics/Finance Department chairman, was elected as Mountain Plains Business Education Association board representative.

And, Dr. Melody Ashenfelter, assistant professor in the Accounting Department, serves as past president.

Mrs. Hundley stressed that Oklahoma business educators are planning learning workshops throughout the year. An OBEA spring conference will be held April 19 in Tulsa, while "Ideas You Can Use" is the theme for an October 20 convention in Midwest City. In addition, local workshops will be held throughout the state.

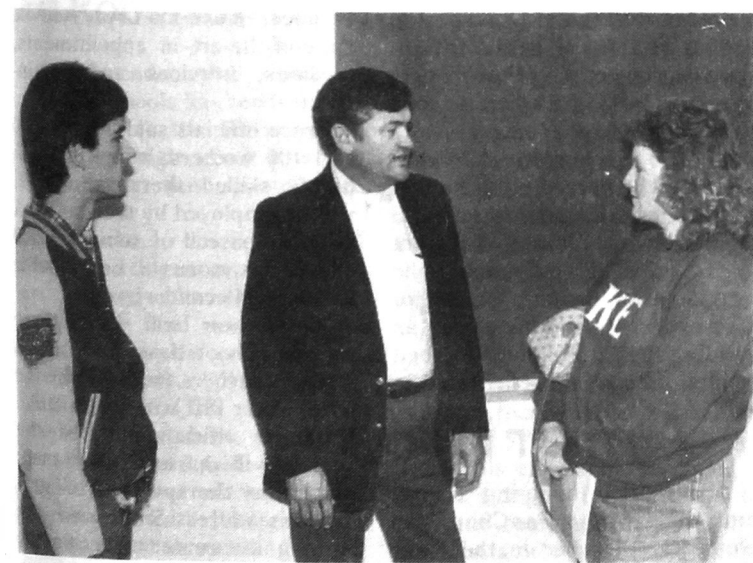

Cheyenne School Hires New Band Instructor

Cheyenne School welcomed the new band director, Mr. Kent Barker and his wife Tawana to Cheyenne.

Mr. Barker is from Snyder, Oklahoma. He is 24 years old and attended college at Southwestern. He taught band at Medford in 1986-87. First semester of this year, 1987-88, he taught brass instruments at Southwestern. His wife, Tawana, is attending college at Southwestern where she is majoring in special education.

In visiting with Mr. Barker this is what he had to say - "I would like to compliment Mr. John Weaver on the fine job he did with the band students. I look forward to a successful second semester. I have some very talented students to work with and I expect them to go far this semester. We will have fun and lots of hard work."

STATE REPRESENTATIVE Bill Brewster (center), from Marietta and an SWOSU pharmacy graduate, was a recent visitor to the campus to lecture to pharmacy classes. Representative Brewster returns regularly to assist the SWOSU Pharmacy School in any way he can. Pharmacy students visiting with Bill are Michael Peerson from Holdenville and Cynthia Barnett from Canadian, Texas.

Weast Receives Degree From Southwestern Seminary

Kimberly Kay Weast received the master of arts in communication degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary during commencement ceremonies December 18.

President Russell H. Dilday awarded degrees to 293 students in Southwestern's schools of theology, religious education and church music.

Weast is the daughter of Wesley and Kay Weast of Weatherford OK.

Southwestern, one of six seminaries affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, is the largest theological school in the world. Each year more than 5,000 men and women train for ministry at Southwestern.

Alum Moves to Indonesia

D. Kevin Randolph, a graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Weatherford, and his wife, Susan, a native of Mississippi, will serve as missionaries in Indonesia. A pharmacist, he is also a Southwestern Seminary graduate. They will work in outreach and he will start and develop churches.

Alumnus Builds Children's Center

The following article was written last summer at the official ground breaking in Gladewater, Texas. Truman Smith is a 1955 SWOSU graduate and a former football player. He is a strong alumni supporter.

The searing sun and near 100-degree heat didn't melt the enthusiasm of Gladewater and visiting officials in breaking ground for the unique new Truman W. Smith Children's Center on Tuesday afternoon.

The center will be located adjacent to U.S. Highway 80 West, just beyond Glade Creek bridge and behind the new high school. The center will be on a nine-acre site now partially cleared.

A crowd of some 100 braved the heat to hear Smith, owner and president of Truco Properties Inc. of Wichita Falls, thank the people of Gladewater, city officials and Chamber of Commerce of the opportunity "for me, my employees, my company, for Gladewater and the whole of East Texas."

Smith was accompanied by his son Joe Bruce and his daughter Dana, both vice-presidents in the firm. Also present were Truco officials including John Difranco cisco, a vice-president and regional supervisor of the firm which owns and operates nine nursing homes in various sections of Texas. Difranco was one of the prime movers of the project, which had its start some months ago.

Chamber president John Patrick, who served as master of ceremonies, introduced several dignitaries including an assistant to U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, who read a letter praising Truco for their enterprise and investment in building the $2.5 million, 160-bed facility, the only one of its kind in Texas. When completed next March, the 45,000-square-foot center, designed by Texarkana engineer Kenneth Loyd, will be state-of-the-art in appointments, facilities, services and equipment.

Truco officials said between 80 and 100 workers, many of them highly skilled therapy workers will be employed by the center. A monthly payroll of some $75,000 or perhaps more will be available to the local economy.

The center will have three regular school classrooms and staff of teachers furnished by the Gladewater ISD will be available. A Truco official indicated the center will have a permanent respiratory therapy department.

In his address Smith said that naming the center after him by the firm's employees was "besides my family, the biggest honor I've ever had."

"It can take care of these kids and better their lives, then we can be proud," he said.

Following the groundbreaking a reception was held at city hall.

Alum Retires in Amarillo

John Melvin, Assistant Superintendent of Support Services for the Amarillo ISD, has announced his retirement effective November 30, 1987 after twelve and one-half years in the district. Melvin began his career with Amarillo ISD in 1975 as assistant superintendent of business and moved to his current position in 1981. He has served as superintendent of the River Road ISD and as a high school principal in Mobeetie and a middle school principal in the Hale Center school district.

Melvin received his bachelor's degree from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford, Oklahoma and his master's degree from West Texas State University.

A reception honoring Melvin and his wife, FanChon, an elementary teacher in the River Road ISD, was held by his colleagues and attended by many former employees, co-workers, and friends. He was presented a scrapbook of letters and photographs highlighting his twenty-seven and one-half years in education.

McCloud Principal To Receive Honor

"I love children and I love working with them. It's a joy watching children grow and mature."

As principal of the bustling McCloud Elementary School in Pottawatomie County, Don Briix certainly has plenty of children around.

The 900-student grade school, its enrollment spurred by phenomenal community growth in the past 10 years, is certainly one of the state's largest. And many educators seem to feel it's one of the best.

And if a school gets a good reputation, the principal tends to be cited as a primary contributor.

Briix has been so honored, and now his reputation is extending beyond Oklahoma.

Briix, 38, was selected as Oklahoma's "National Distinguished Principal" for 1987.

He was honored Oct. 9 in Washington, D.C. by U.S. Secretary of Education William J. Bennett.

"We're not that big of a town, but we've got a large school," said Briix. Many of McCloud's patrons work in Oklahoma City at Tinker Air Force Base and the General Motors plant.

Briix is beginning his 15th year as a school principal in Oklahoma.

After graduating from Southwestern Oklahoma State University, he was a principal and teacher in the small Helena-Goltry district in northwestern Oklahoma.

He then spent nine years as principal at Hennessey Elementary School. He is now in his third year at McCloud.

The McCloud elementary school has seen its achievement test scores rise in recent years. Briix has instituted a "mathematics master" program in which students are given weekly timed quizzes on math skills.

The school also has an annual fine arts festival in the spring.

During the 1984-85 school year, Briix was president of the Oklahoma Association of Elementary School Principals.

"Mr. Briix's solid record of accomplishments reflects the highest professional ideals of Oklahoma principals," the OAES said of Briix's national award. "His conviction that every child can learn, and that success in the early years of schooling lays a foundation for all academic achievement later on, makes Briix a worthy representative of Oklahoma's best principals."

Don received his bachelor's degree in education from Southwestern in May 1972 and his master of education from Southwestern in May 1974.

He served on the student senate, activities council, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Beta Lambda, and SEA.

He graduated Cum Laude.

Carl Robertson Receives Cheyenne Teaching Honor

Carl Robertson was selected by the Cheyenne staff development committee as the 1987-88 Teacher of the Year.

Robertson was raised north of Sayre and graduated from Berlin High School. He earned a bachelor of science degree in biology and chemistry at Southwestern Oklahoma State University. Upon graduation from college he moved to Altamont, Ill., and taught in District 202. Continuing his education at Eastern Illinois University, he earned a master and EDS degree in education.

Last year Robertson was selected as Cheyenne's high school representative for Gold Medal Teacher of the Year and earlier this year he was chosen by the high school student body as favorite teacher. Robertson was one of 15 Oklahoma teachers chosen to attend the 1987 OSU Science Symposium. He has taught high school science classes at Cheyenne for four years.

School officials say interest and enrollment in science has more than doubled, and credit it to the teacher's enthusiasm and expertise. According to the counselor, Cheyenne High School's test scores in science have shown a marked improvement since the arrival of Robertson. Several seniors have scored over 97 percent on the ACT science subtest this year.

Robertson's wife, Janet, is a first grade teacher in the Sayre school. His daughter, Leslie, 13, and his son, Wesley, 10, are students at Sayre.

Ed Robinson Named Superintendent

Superintendent Bill Cummins of Hollis schools has tendered his resignation to the Hollis school board, and high school principal Ed Robinson was appointed to replace him.

The school board accepted Cummins' resignation with regret and praised him for his administration and work for the benefit of Hollis schools and Hollis students. "We want to wish him well in his future plans," Jim Leathers, vice president of the board said.

"We know we will have a fine successor in Ed," Leathers said. "He has done an outstanding job for the school to this point and has been very interested in the students and the school. We are convinced he will do an excellent job."

Robinson is a Hollis native graduating from Hollis High School in 1968.

He graduated from Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford in 1972 with a bachelor of science degree in education. He began his teaching career at Hollis in 1973-74. After four years as a classroom teacher, Robinson was appointed junior high principal beginning with the 1978-79 school term. Then in 1979, he was named the high school principal.

After receiving a bachelor's degree at SWOSU, Robinson continued his education, receiving a master's degree from SWOSU in 1977 and completing work on his administrator's certificate from the University of Oklahoma in 1981.

Robinson and his wife, Janna, vice president and cashier of the First State Bank of Gould, have two children, Courtney, a seventh grader, and Carter, a fourth grader.

DR. JACK RIDLEY (right), professor of history at the University of Missouri-Rolla, receives the AMOCO Foundation Outstanding Teaching award from UMR Chancellor Martin C. Jischke (left) at the Homecoming Awards Banquet held recently on campus. Established in 1966, the AMOCO Foundation Outstanding Teaching Award recognizes excellence in the teaching of undergraduates by senior faculty members. Jack received a bachelor's degree in history from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in 1962.

Rick Neal, Known As A Leader

Rick Neal is presently Manager of State Government Affairs for MAPCO Inc., an energy company based in Tulsa, Oklahoma. MAPCO's operations consist of four subsidiaries: MAPCO Coal produces bituminous coal from one surface and five underground mining complexes; MAPCO Gas Products markets natural gas liquids and fertilizers and operates natural gas liquids plants for the extraction of gas liquids; MAPCO Petroleum operates refineries in North Pole, Alaska, and Memphis, Tennessee, and over 300 retail gasoline stations and interstate fuel stops nationwide; and MAPCO Transportation operates a natural gas liquids pipeline as well as storage and fractionation facilities.

Prior to joining MAPCO in September 1984, Mr. Neal served in the Reagan White House as Deputy Assistant to the President for Intergovernmental Affairs. In the position, he was responsible for liaison with all state and local officials, coordination of intergovernmental policy development and promotion, participation in Cabinet Councils and senior staff meetings, and preparation of related written materials and memoranda. In addition, he planned and coordinated presidential, vice presidential and senior staff speeches, meetings and briefings.

While at the White House, Mr. Neal chaired the White House Task Force on Puerto Rico and the White House Territories Task Force. He also directed the President's Advisory Committee on Federalism, which served as the forum for negotiations with federal, state and local officials regarding the President's federalism proposals. He was also responsible for overall office administration, coordination of twenty staff members, and liaison for White House Intergovernmental Affairs with departments and agencies.

Beginning his involvement in politics early, Neal was elected Freshman Class president at Southwestern at Weatherford. In 1968 he was active in the Collegians for Bellmon who was running for U.S. Senate.

His first paid political job was as a field worker in Dewey Bartlett's successful campaign for U.S. Senate. After the campaign he went on to work for the Oklahoma County Republican Party and served as assistant state chairman for the Republican State Committee.

Neal managed Mickey Edwards' campaign for Congressman in 1976, then became his administrative assistant in the Washington office January 1977 to February 1979. Neal founded and ran his own campaign and consulting firm from 1979 to 1981.

Rick currently is active in numerous industry and community organizations: Citizens Crime Commission Board of Directors; Oklahoma Right to Work Board of Directors; National Association of Business Political Action Committees Board of Directors; American Council of Young Political Leaders; President's Committee of the Oklahoma State Chamber of Commerce; Tulsa Education Fund Trustee; the General Committee on State Relations of the American Petroleum Institute; and the National LP-Gas Association Government Affairs Committee. In addition, he serves on numerous government affairs, public affairs, and legislative committees relating to the energy industry.

Rick graduated with a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Southwestern State University in May of 1970.

AN OFFICE administration/business education advisory council has been formed at Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford and the group recently held its first meeting. Serving on the council include (seated from left): Connie Berrong, Executive Vice President, First National Bank, Weatherford; Robert Smith, Assistant Manager, Pioneer Telephone Company, Kingfisher; Richard Ratcliffe, Owner, Ratcliffe's Book and Office Supply, Weatherford; Jill McClung, Office Administration/Business Education student representative, Geary; Mark Williams, Senior Account Executive, Southwestern Bell, Oklahoma City; and Butch Marshall, Manager, Public Service Company of Oklahoma, Weatherford. Standing left to right--Amanda Copeland, Chairman, Office Administration/Business Education Department at Southwestern; Dennis Reimer, 3M company, Weatherford who substituted for Tim Salkow of 3M company; Julie Williams, Sales Representative, Hewlett Packard, Oklahoma City; Joe Dubey, Human Resource Manager, 3M Company, Weatherford; Roy Gillaspay, Coordinator of Industrial Technology, Southwestern, Weatherford; and Bill Haney, Executive Vice President, First National Bank, Thomas. Williams and Haney were elected co-chairpersons of the council.

The First Handout

I remember back in the thirties
When the air stayed filled with dust
When it had not rained for years
And our crops all died with the rust.
I was teaching school at Three Corner
And all of us were in a bind.
Most all of us were in the same boat
For no jobs could we find.

I remember the Brent Steward family
And for them my heart still throbs
For he was a farmer and school board member
And it was he who gave me a job.
Now Brent Steward had a lovely wife
Who all the neighbors called Lillie
Their children were Joe, Juanita and Carl Alo Ina, Nina and Burt, the little dilly.

Brent worked real hard at times Plowin', seedin' and killin' the weeds
He had to raise food for his family
For eight mouths he had to feed.
Brent owned a little farm.
He had a cultivator, go-devil and a plow
He had a team and a set of chain harness
Some chickens, several pigs and a cow.
They planted their garden in the spring
They canned it in the fall
They had milk, butter, eggs and meat
But no money had they at all.
He lived sixteen miles west of Leedey
And had no way to go to town.
He toiled and labored most every day
From sun-up until sun down.

He survived for a year or two
But the depression finally got him down.
And the rain it never came
As he worked the whole year round.
Things finally got so bad
That they didn't have enough to eat
They could not buy very many clothes

And bare were some of their feet.
I still remember the very day
When tears welled up in his eyes
When he said, "Glen, I'm forced to take it."
And then he broke right down and cried.
"You are forced to take what?"
I asked.
He replied, "In about an hour,
A government truck will be here
And I can get one sack of flour."

I have never seen a man look so sad
As I saw Brent Steward look that
day.
For he had always managed to make a living
And his debts he always did pay.
So I shall never forget Brent Steward
And the anguish that was in his eye
When he received that one sack of flour
And as he did--I saw him cry.

Brent never got to go to the mountains to ski Nor loll on the ocean beach, in the sand.
He did not go to the basket-ball tournaments
Nor hear the National Finals
Rodeo band
Brent Steward did not file bankruptcy
For in that day this was the last straw.
The creditors would take all that you possessed
Because it was legal and was the law.

I don't know how Brent Steward did it
But he held on to his little farm.
Through saving, work, toil and sweat
He managed to weather the storm.

I do know this for sure and certain
That there had been a drastic change
From the farmer who used chain harness
To the ones who use 3 wheelers on the range.
Now when farmers are crying for hand outs
And are demanding them hour

after hour.
I remember the little man who

Known In Roger Mills County"

NOTE: Brent Steward had a brother named Zuke who was a ball player--don't know whether football, baseball, etc.--but suppose football--for SWOSU in about 1915. Mrs. Steward, Brent's mother ran a boarding house in Weatherford to help put her children through college. I thought you might like to tie that into using the poem, since there may be those who remember the family--and that will be a little bit of human interest. Of course, the poem itself is just a wonderful piece of western Oklahoma history.

Meador Earns State Jaycee Honor

Elk City Pharmacist Warren Meador, along with the state's attorney general, and Tulsa's auditor, were the Oklahoma
Jaycees' choices for Outstanding Young Oklahomans of 1988.

Tulsa City Auditor Ron Howell, 36, was the mayor's assistant for economic development before being named auditor in September.

Attorney General Robert Henry, 35, of Shawnee was elected to the Legislature at age 23 while still in law school. He served five terms and then was elected attorney general in 1986.

Pharmacist Warren Meador,
36, owns two stores in the Elk City area, where he has lived since 1974. He is president of the Oklahoma Pharmaceutical Association and is active in other professional and civic organizations.

The state Jaycees recognized three people the group considers superior in leadership and commitment to their communities.

Meador is married to Gina Lynn
Meador and has four children:

Brad, 12; Brent, 9; Ashley, 4; and Lauren, 3 months.

He is an Erick High School graduate with a B.S. in pharmacy from SWOSU in 1974.

He has been active in Jaycees,
Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce,
Civic Center Commission, Retail Merchants Association, Western Oklahoma Historical Society, Elk

Southwestern Alumni Association Minutes

September 12, 1987

The Board of Directors met in the Skyview Room of the Student Center with Tom Libby presiding in the absence of President Richard O'Hara. The following members were present: Johnny Beech, Enid; Ed Berrong Sr., Weatherford; Teed Bishop, Bixby; Grayson Bottom, Cordell; Olin Bourland, Electra, TX; Larry Claxton, Oklahoma City; Gilbert Dick, Clinton; George Dickey, El Reno; Helen Gossmann, Arapaho; Joe Ann Hibler, Weatherford; Jerry Jones, Yukon; Mark Mouse, Weatherford; Dave Neely, Edmond; Mike North, Yukon; Peggy Prock, Weatherford; Otis Sanders, Weatherford; and Glenn Wright, Weatherford.

Ron Oldfield, Dallas, and Heather Hownstein were the visitors who attended.

The Executive Committee voted to provide $250 per year in support of a dinner or luncheon for the school counselors in the Enid area. The Committee also agreed that another Legislative dinner be planned for the Spring of '88. The meeting place to be arranged by Otis Sanders.

Johnny Beech gave a report on the Legislative dinner held at Oak Tree Golf & Country Club last March.

Ed Berrong gave the history and background of the Oklahoma endeavor and recommended that a county level of participation be considered. He emphasized that in order for these events to be successful, members of the House and Senate should be involved--especially President Pro-Tem, Appropriations Chairman and Chairman of Higher Education Committee.

Otis Sanders presented the many plans being made for Homecoming 1987 including Hall of Fame Banquet--the following would be honored: Steve Graham, Harold "Moon" Stinson, Howard Welborn and Foy Stout. The Alumni Banquet will be held at 11:45 on Saturday and two Distinguished Alumni will be honored--Dr. Ron Anderson and Anita Pauwels. Reunions of the following classes are planned: 1927-37 and the Apple Bowl Football Team.

Sanders requested help with ticket sales and table decorations prior to the luncheon for Homecoming. He also presented results of the Alumni survey and reported on the membership campaign.

Joe Anna Hibler addressed the group concerning the merger of Sayre with Southwestern, a reception on the Sayre campus and the enrollment figures for the 1987-88 school year.

A motion was made by George Dickey and seconded by Ed Berrong that the financial report dated September 12, 1987, be accepted. Motion carried.

A request was made by Teed Bishop that name tags be made for all directors and that tags be worn at each meeting. Otis Sanders said he would take care of this matter.

A motion was made by Johnny Beech and seconded by Mike North to elect Paul Connor and Don Roberts to the Alumni Board of Directors. Motion carried.

The meeting adjourned at 11:45 a.m. after a motion from Johnny Beech and a second from George Dickey.

Mark Mouse, Secretary

Andrea Reed Named Principal

Sayre Schools made a wise choice when the system moved Andrea Reed into the position of principal of Sayre Elementary, the first woman to hold that administrative position in Sayre.

Andrea has worked diligently in the field of education since she graduated from Sayre High School, earning her bachelor and master of education degrees from Southwestern Oklahoma State University. She has continued to increase her knowledge through additional advance courses, and she has the advantage of having served as a member of the Board of Education.

Most of her 12 years experience teaching in public schools has been in Sayre Elementary, with two years at Apple Dumpling Preschool. Her educational background and her experience within the Sayre School system, itself, make her an excellent choice for this position.

Her dedication to teaching basic learning skills ensure that the Sayre School will benefit from her professionalism for many years to come.

Andrea and her husband live south of Sayre. They have three children, Monty, Timmy, who is a sophomore at Southwestern, and Shelly, who is a freshman at Southwestern.

Alumna's Family Honored

The Caddo County Farm Bureau recently held its annual meeting at the Fort Cobb High School. During the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Smith were named as the Farm Bureau Family of the Year.

Local Farm Bureau agent, Perry Green submitted the couple's name to the nominating committee.

Dean, who is the son of Wayne and Inez Smith of Hinton, grew up in the Hinton community, and graduated from Hinton High School.

After graduating from Oklahoma State University in Stillwater with a degree in merchandising agriculture, he began farming 10 miles west of Hinton.

Dean's wife, Linda, daughter of Lillie Cox of Hinton, was born in Oklahoma City and moved to Hinton when she was 10 years old.

She graduated from Hinton High School, and then attended Southwestern Oklahoma State University where she graduated with a degree in business.

Smith and his wife farm wheat, cotton, and milo on 800 acres of dry land. They also farm a number of irrigated row crops on 600 acres, including peanuts, potatoes, watermelons and peppers.

The Smiths were married in 1980 and have a four-year-old daughter, Lynnae.

They are involved in several county and state associations and programs. Presently they are compiling a scrapbook consisting of a 1500 word narrative, 2 pages of photographs, newspaper articles, and 5 letters of recommendations. The scrapbook is to be done as part of the selection process of State Farm Family.

SWOSU Graduate is a Hi-Tech Success

Six years ago Randall Wohl--or Ranny as he's known--was employed as a computer analyst in Tulsa for giant General Electric. It was a good job, but something was missing.

At the age of 31, he quit his job with G.E. and went into business for himself.

He began on the proverbial shoestring. His home was his office, and he was his company's only employee.

"I began working out of my home doing contract programming," he said recently, remembering that inauspicious beginning.

"There was zero capital investment. Everything we have built today has been with no dollars up front."

What Wohl and a partner, who came on board in late 1983, have built is a business which last year grossed more than $1 million. In early January the company--Computing Technology, Inc.--moved into 4,000 square-foot quarters in the Park Towers, one of Tulsa's better business addresses at 5314 South Yale Avenue. Although the number of employees remains small, the firm does provide jobs for seven people.

"Sometimes the American way still works," said Wohl, talking about how far he's come. "It takes a lot of hard work. What goes along with that (the success) is sometimes 17 to 18 hours a day of hard work."

A 1969 graduate of Clinton High School, Ranny is the son of Jean and Frank Wohl. His father is now deceased; his mother owns and operates Jean's Childrens Shop in downtown Clinton.

The younger Wohl's firm provides specialized computer services to about 40 other companies, some of them multimillion dollar organizations. Probably the largest is Citgo Petroleum.

"We support a world-wide order entry service," he said of the Citgo account. "We help process and transfer data from systems through General Electric into their in-house systems."

Basically, what that means is Computer Technology, Inc.--or CTI, as it's commonly known--is helping Citgo keep track of its inventory around the world.

The type and amount of service provided by Wohl's company depends on the customer's needs. He and his people can evaluate other businesses and suggest the kind of computer equipment that would be best for them, and they can help set it up and train the customer's employees in its use.

"We provide computer programming and consulting services along with the sale of computer equipment," he explained.

Because of the vast assortment of software on the market today, each type possessing different capabilities, it's easy for a prospective purchaser to be overwhelmed. That's where Wohl and his company can step in and help determine which would be best for a particular customer.

CTI's success was documented last October in the business section of one of Tulsa's daily newspapers. In that article marketing director Jane Wright explained what the company can do for a customer.

"We will help by analyzing the customer's needs, then surveying the marketplace for a software solution, then matching the needs with the benefits of a particular package," she was quoted as saying.

"Our success has grown" she continued, "because our customers are pleased with the quality of work CTI does. We can do anything from select the hardware and software to make recommendations, to selling the solution, to implementing, to training. We're a very full-service company, and that's another reason for our success."

When Wohl graduated from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in 1973, he had a double major in mathematics and business administration but no computer education.

"It was all on-the-job training with Oklahoma Natural Gas," he said, mentioning his first employer after college. "I was very fortunate. I was fortunate they allowed me to begin work in the (computer) field. They wanted to take my technical background and apply it to computer systems."

Wohl's entry into business for himself did not come in a single bound. Rather, he eased into it while still on the corporate payroll, and his resignation from his former job was merely the final act cutting the umbilical cord that tied him to G.E.

"While I was working for the other companies," he explained, "I built a base of 10 to 15 customers by working nights. That gave me a small customer base which worked right into the new company. Now we probably have around 40 customers."

Roughly three-fourths of those are manufacturing and distribution companies, although CTI does have other types of clients, including educational institutions.

Progress has been steady at times, by jerks and lurches at others.

One significant step came in November 1983 when Bruce Bradford, former co-worker of Wohl's at G.E., joined the company as a full partner. Prior to that, the founder had had his hands full simply taking care of business that came in the door and really hadn't had time to go out and look for more. With Bradford's arrival, that changed.

"When Bruce came in, we had an opportunity to work on a contract for Renberg's, a retail store in Tulsa," explained Wohl. "Basically with that contract he came aboard. From then on we continued soliciting business."

Mrs. Wright was hired as a sales and marketing consultant, enabling the company to become even more aggressive.

Advertising and direct-sales promotions brought in additional business.

CTI scored a really big breakthrough when it was selected by McDonnell Douglas as that company's only authorized dealer for computer hardware and software products in the Tulsa area. McDonnell Douglas Computer Systems is the world's leading supplier of minicomputers based on the Pick Operating System. The system, which Wohl calls a "database management system used primarily in a business environment," was developed by a man named Dick Pick while working on a government contract. It was sold to McDonnell Douglas, which began marketing it commercially.

The Pick market grew 44 percent in dollar volume between 1984 and 1985 and is expected to continue exceeding the industry growth rate for the next several years.

Wohl gives his late father much of the credit for his success. His father was a longtime businessman in Clinton and operated a service station for many years. He taught Ranny and twin brother Danny the rewards as well as the responsibilities of entrepreneurship at an early age.

Like his business success, Ranny's personal life also has a fairytale twist to it. In 1970, a year after graduation, he married his Clinton High School sweetheart, the former Betty Jo Waller.

The couple have two children, Shane and Rodney, who attend the Union public schools in Tulsa.

Betty Jo is assistant director of a private pre-school. She too attended Southwestern, completing a 40-hour business program.

JIMMY V. WOOLLY, a graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University, has been appointed Assistant Comptroller in the Comptroller's Department at Texaco, Inc.

Woolly received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in 1960 and joined Texaco's accounting operations that same year in the Comptroller's Department at Midland, Texas. After serving in various accounting assignments throughout Texas, he was named Manager-Administrator for the Houston accounting operations. In 1982, Woolly was appointed General Accounting Manager for the Comptroller's Department in Houston. Woolly is formerly of Altus, Oklahoma.

Distinguished SWOSU Graduate's Family Roots Go Deep in Dewey County

SWOSU GRADUATE IN PHARMACY inducted into Dewey County Hall of Fame for 1987. James R. Rhymer M.D. holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Pharmacy from SWOSU. He earned his M.D. degree from the University of Pittsburgh. He is not only a licensed pharmacist but also a certified family practitioner.

By DEE ANN RAY

The youngest inductee to the Dewey County Hall of Fame in 1987 was James R. Rhymer M.D. who practices in Clinton. Each year the Dewey County Historical Society honors one younger inductee whose contributions to humankind deserve special recognition.

The grandson of Dewey County pioneers who lived south of Lenora on the J.V. Flats, Dr. Rhymer's mother was born in a half dugout on that location. His parents were Sybille N. Ratliff and Harold H. Rhymer, both of whom are deceased.

Also related distantly to the famed Dewey County sheriff, Joe Ventonier, Rhymer has an in-grown interest in history. An avid reader, he keeps up not only with his professional journals in pharmacy and medicine, constantly seeking continuing education opportunities, but also finds time to delve into the history of his beloved western Oklahoma.

Grandfather and grandmother Ratliff and family moved from J.V. Flats to Aledo to open a general store. Later, they moved to Custer City and opened another general store. But the family kept part of their Dewey County land which is still in the family.

It was at Custer City that Sybille N. Ratliff and Harold Rhymer met and married. They moved first to Clinton where their son, James was born on September 23, 1928, in the old McLain Rogers Hospital.

Three years later, the Rhymers moved to Leedey. They opened a general merchandise store which they owned and operated for almost 40 years. Although the store is closed now, the property at Leedey belongs to the Rhymer family. The store windows look as they did the day the store closed with merchandise still on display.

Not only does Dr. Rhymer return often to Leedey and Dewey County, but he has many patients who remember him as a little boy and young man. Now, they call him physician.

After finishing his years at Leedey High School, Dr. Rhymer attended Southwestern Oklahoma State University where he earned his Bachelor of Science Degree in 1951. He continued in school at SWOSU to earn his Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy Degree in 1954.

The University of Pittsburgh Medical School was next. He graduated from there in June of 1959. He interned from 1959-1960 at St. Luke's Hospital in Denver.

For six years following graduation from medical school, Dr. Rhymer was in the Oklahoma National Guard 45th. Infantry Division assigned as Battalion Surgeon of the 1/245th. Armored Battalion and later as flight surgeon for the Division. From 1962 until the end of the U.S. draft call, Dr. Rhymer was the medical advisor for the Dewey County Draft Board which his father chaired.

From 1960-61, Dr. Rhymer served as contract physician to the Air Force with office at Clinton Sherman Air Base at Burns Flat.

Choosing to locate in Clinton, Dr. Rhymer opened his private practice in June of 1961 at 800 Frisco.

How a young man from Leedey met a young woman from Arapaho can only be left to the imagination, but in November of 1951, Dr. Rhymer married Colleen Wiley. They have three children. Jim Bob was born in 1954, and is married to Mary. Kenny who holds two degrees from SWOSU in History and Computer Science was born in 1959. Gwili who attended SWOSU was born in 1961 in the early morning hours of the Rhymers' 10th wedding anniversary.

Rhymer is an energetic man who is not only dedicated to his profession of medicine which he serves in many capacities in addition to his regular practice, but also volunteers many hours to civic responsibility. Of being a doctor he said, "I always wanted to be a doctor. I like doing it better than anything else I know of. It is my pleasure to care for my patients."

He finds time, but not very much, to get in some golfing, hunting, fishing, snow skiing, flying, sports with emphasis on Clinton football, although in a pinch any football will do, reading and enjoying people.

In a volunteer capacity, Dr. Rhymer is physician for the Clinton High School football team. He serves every year as physician for the Oklahoma Highway Patrol and Elks Major Projects Cadet Lawman Academy at Burns Flat. He also serves in other advisory capacities for the Oklahoma Highway Patrol. He is the physician who performs the physicals each year for the Patrol school cadets. He is a card carrying Honorary Member of the Oklahoma Highway Patrol. He is a Cleet certified Reserve Peace Officer in Custer County. He is an instructor in the operation of emergency vehicles.

Every year, Dr. Rhymer donates a day to the Oklahoma Legislature to serve as Physician of the Day. He serves on the Board of Trustees of the Oklahoma Memorial Union of the University of Oklahoma. He is just finishing a term as President of the Oklahoma State Board of Medical Examiners. He also represents that board on the Athletic Trainers' Advisory Committee. He is on the Board of Directors of the Oklahoma Foundation for Peer Review. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Oklahoma Medical Political Action Committee; and Legislative Chairman of the Oklahoma Academy of Family Physicians. He is a specialist in Family practice, certified by the American Board of Family Practice. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians. He also serves on the Board of Directors for the Clinton Regional Hospital and recently was elected President of that board.

Rhymer and his wife, Colleen, also an SWOSU graduate, share many interests and activities. She assists at the OHP Cadet Lawman Academy each year. She is also a Cleet certified Reserve Peace Officer, as is their son Kenny. Enthusiasm for sports is family wide for the Rhymers.

Rhymer's nomination for the Dewey County Hall of Fame stated that "James R. Rhymer M.D. exemplifies the outreach of Dewey County families into important roles in not only local but state history. Through his participation in many endeavors and his willingness to serve humankind, Dr. Rhymer has brought dignified, continuing and lasting recognition not only to Dewey County, but to western Oklahoma."

Ratcliffe Selected Business Person of Year

Richard Ratcliffe of Weatherford has been selected as Business Person of the Year by the Southwestern Oklahoma State University chapter of Phi Beta Lambda.

Ratcliffe was also recognized as one of the organization's state winners at Phi Beta Lambda state conference held February 19-21, 1988.

The Weatherford resident is president and chief executive officer of Ratcliffe's Inc., which is based in Weatherford. The book and office supply corporation has retail store locations in Weatherford, Oklahoma City, Norman and Lawton. In addition to several other business interests, Ratcliffe is chairman of the board of United Community Bank in Weatherford.

Ratcliffe is very active in community and civic activities. He is a director of the Oklahoma State Chamber of Commerce & Industry and is past president of the Weatherford Chamber of Commerce and Weatherford Kiwanis Club. He serves on advisory committees at Southwestern for Phi Beta Lambda and the School of Business.

He is also active in the Weatherford Methodist Church. He and his wife, Lou Rose, have two children.

Ratcliffe will be recognized at the national conference of Phi Beta Lambda this summer in Cincinnati, Ohio, if he decides to attend.

Nine Pass CPA Exam

Nine Southwestern Oklahoma State University graduates passed the May 1987 Certified Public Accountant (CPA) examination. The announcement was made by Charles Page, chairman of the accounting department at the Weatherford campus.

The following Southwestern graduates passed the exam: Angela Flessas Brinson, Ponca City; Sandra Denise Hill, Enid; Ketan Kumar, Richmond, Virginia; Terra Kae Parkhurst, Arapaho, Alan R. Richey, Lawton; Stacy Edward Scheffler, Hitchcock; Kelly Ray Schwarz, Yukon; Sandra Gay Shepherd, Clinton; and Linda Dill, Weatherford.

Parkhurst and Dill passed the CPA exam which was the first time they had taken it. Only 7% of the candidates from Oklahoma pass the first time.

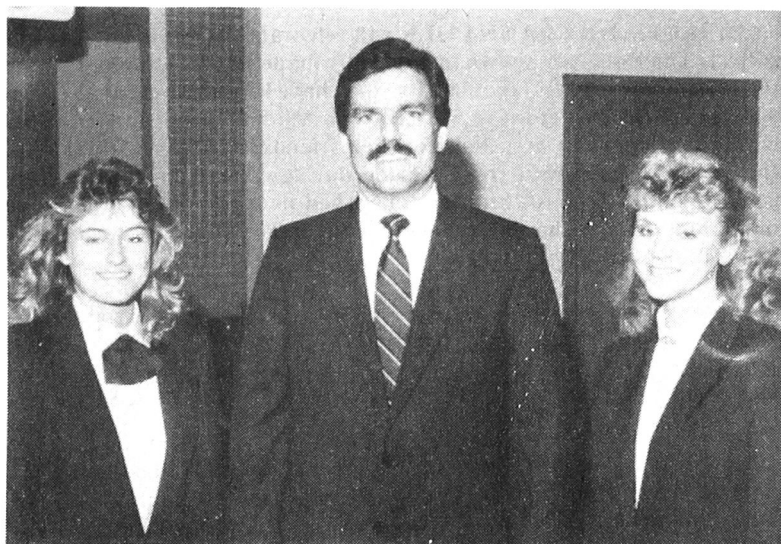

The CPA test is given twice each year. The number of Southwestern graduates who pass the exam continues to increase each time.

TERRA PARKHURST, an SWOSU alum, was recently on campus interviewing prospective graduates for Conoco out of Ponca City. Mark Mouse, director of high school relations and placement at SWOSU is pictured with Terra. Terra received her degree in accounting and has also passed her CPA.

THESE THREE ALUMNI were guest lecturers at the annual Business Day program sponsored each spring by the School of Business. Standing (L-R) Angie Privett, Don Weeks, and Hope Engle. Alumni return each year to help direct various sections and programs for the School of Business. The three alumni are employed by Arthur Anderson and Co. in Oklahoma City. These Alumni also interviewed prospective employees on the SWOSU campus.

Frank and Shirley Polk-SWOSU Graduates' Success

By DEE ANN RAY

From the red sandy dirt of a farm near Reydon, Roger Mills County, Oklahoma, to the board room of Southwestern Stationery and Bank Supply, a bank directorship, numerous trips aboard and three highly motivated and successful children is not a move made in haste. It took three years of working hard, planning, dreaming a little and a detour of five years for service in the U.S. Army Air Corps during WWII.

SHIRLEY AND FRANK POLK will celebrate their 46th anniversary in 1988. The Polks are shown in a recently made photo. Despite the fact that their home is in Oklahoma City, they have kept their many Western Oklahoma friends, return to SWOSU for Alumni events and often attend other important occasions for their friends in Western Oklahoma. They have traveled with friends made during college days. They have never forsaken the past, but have cherished its memories and continue to build on them as they enjoy their friends and family. Tim Haggard is Opening Office at Weatherford Custer City High School 1978 graduate Tim Haggard is returning to Custer County and is opening up his general practice of law at 300 N. State in Weatherford. He graduated from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in 1982 and received his juris doctorate with honors from the Oklahoma City University School of Law in 1987.

Haggard was listed in Who's Who Among American Law School Students and won the Prentice Hall Student Award for Income Tax. He was a Merit scholar and a member of Phi Delta Phi.

Prior to opening his own area practice, Haggard worked as an associate for the Oklahoma City law firm of Edwards, Roberts and Propester.

In 1963 when Frank Polk was made President and Chief Executive Officer of Southwestern Stationery and Bank Supply, a post in which he continues today, it was the result of throwing himself wholeheartedly into his job and making every challenge an opportunity.

Throughout his life, Polk has been challenged in many ways. His father, Louis, died of a heart attack when Polk was only three years old. There were seven children for his mother, Nettie, to raise. Polk had an older brother who was 19 and took over the farming for the family. In order to complete High School, Polk lived in Strong City with his sister and brother-in-law, Lee and Nig Wells.

When Polk attended SWOSU, he worked at the College Book Store which was owned by Lee Ratcliffe. He soon became acquainted with approximately 90% of the students at SWOSU and could call them by their first names. Polk is proud of the fact he was able to earn his way through college to graduate with a Bachelor of Science Degree, but he is equally proud that he could send his three children through college without their having to work. "I felt that the money spent on education for our children was the best legacy I could give them."

Always a friendly and outgoing man, Polk was a member of the Bulls, the men's pep organization at SWOSU. When he was a senior, he was elected President of the group. He was Junior Class President while at SWOSU and a member of the Student Council which was very active at that time.

During his years of residence in Weatherford, he became acquainted with a lovely young woman named Shirley Douglas, whose mother, Frances Douglas, taught at Weatherford Junior High School and was later H.S. librarian.

During her grade and high school years in Weatherford, Shirley often performed as a singer and dancer and was in many programs. While earning her Bachelor of Arts degree at SWOSU, she was active in the chorus and glee club. She was also a member of Tri J's.

When Shirley left SWOSU, she did some graduate work at the University of Colorado and the University of Southern California. She also taught school in Oklahoma for three and one half years before marrying Frank. She taught at Thomas, Hydro and Mc Cloud.

Polk graduated from SWOSU on a Thursday and was sworn into the Air Corps as an Aviation Cadet the following Sunday in 1941, leaving immediately for San Diego. Primary flight training followed at Lindberg Field. Then he was transferred to Moffett Field near Palo Alto for the second phase of pilot training. Next came a transfer to Luke Field, Phoenix, Arizona for advanced training. He was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant and received his silver pilot wings on January 9, 1942.

"The Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor led all of us pilot trainees to believe we would be going to the Pacific to fight when we got our wings," related Polk. "Instead we learned we were needed much more to help train other new pilots and we were all sent to the West Coast Training Command."

Frank and Shirley were married on March 16, 1942 in Las Vegas, Nevada and were stationed at Minter Field, Bakersfield, California for 3½ years. Frank was an instructor, a flight commander and for two years a Squadron Commander while there.

In April of 1945, Polk was transferred to Lincoln Army Air Field in Nebraska to join a "Bomber Group" which was to be sent overseas. The war in Europe ended while the group was being formed. Polk was made a group commander, assigned to Lincoln Field. He was not discharged until June of 1946.

Returning to Oklahoma and civilian life, Polk had what he terms an "ideal job to make the transition back to civilian life". He worked with the War Assets Administration as a negotiator to dispose of all of the airports in Oklahoma which the Army had taken over during the war. Every major airport in Oklahoma was included in the group. Polk worked with the mayor, council, city manager of towns all across

Oklahoma. Despite the responsibilities of the job, it was a wonderful opportunity for Polk to meet many "fine people" which he enjoyed very much.

Shirley became the homemaker for the family which soon was enlarged by three children, Frank Lee, Douglas Lyons, and Shirley Lynn.

In 1948, Polk became associated with Southwestern Stationery and Bank Supply in Amarillo as a salesman. Nine months later, he transferred to Oklahoma City and began selling for the company in the metropolitan area. The company had stores in Lawton, Oklahoma City, Ponca City, Amarillo, Texas.

In 1953, Polk became a Vice President and member of the Board of Directors. He had begun accumulating an interest in the various store locations.

Southwestern Stationery and Bank Supply offers a number of business related items for sale and also is a major printer and lithographer. The company went from 20 employees in the early 1950's to over 50 employees in the early 1960's in just the Oklahoma City area.

Since Polk became President and Chief Executive Officer in 1963, other changes have taken place in the company, as of course is the general pattern as people retire, die and move. Polk is presently active in the Oklahoma City and Kansas City operations of the corporation. He is also on the Board of Directors of the Lawton firm, but has sold his stock in other Southwestern locations.

The printing and lithographing plant in Oklahoma City is one of the best equipped in the southwestern part of the United States. The plant is 75,000 sq. feet in size. In the past few years, the company has spent several million dollars on the latest and best equipment. There are 70 employees working in the graphic arts division. Four color lithography is available and Polk says, "we strive every day to make every job a first class one."

In the office furniture line, the company employs several commercial interior designers to help businesses furnish their offices. A large showroom affords customers the opportunity to see and select office furniture.

"Southwestern has a reputation for good service following sales. We believe our customers should be treated as we want to be treated when we are the customer. We have had many of the same customers for over thirty years, and add new ones all the time," said Polk.

The Polks are very proud of their children who have used their opportunity for education well. Shirley Lynn married Dr. Jon Blaschke who is a partner in the Bone and Joint Hospital in Oklahoma City and specializes in Arthritis and Lupus. They have two children, Jon who is 12 and Samantha who is 8. Shirley Lynn received her degree in Interior Design from the University of Oklahoma. She is currently employed as Exhibits Coordinator of the Kirkpatrick Center located in the Omniplex Building.

Douglas Lyons is a neurosurgeon practicing in Oklahoma City as a partner in Oklahoma Neurological Surgery. He did his undergraduate work at the University of Oklahoma and attended O.U. School of Medicine. He did his residency in Neurology at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, and at University Hospital. During his residency at the O.U. Health Science Center, he spent three months studying neurosurgery at the National Hospital, which specializes in neurological patients, in Queens Square in London. Dr. Polk and his wife, Sharon, have two children, Danielle age 3½ and Alexandra who is 1½ years old.

Frank Lee is a partner in the Oklahoma City law firm of Daugherty, Bradford, Fowler and Moss. He did his undergraduate work at O.U. and attended the O.U. Law School for one year. He attended the Oklahoma-Oxford Seminar in Oxford, England for three months and received 6 hours of credit toward his law degree. He then transferred to Duke University Law School at Durham, North Carolina and graduated there.

Being work oriented, Frank Polk does not take much time off for pleasure activities, but he does love to hunt. Together the Polks enjoy playing Bridge and traveling. Through the years, the Polks have taken trips to Europe, Hawaii, Mexico, Spain, and two Caribbean cruises. On business trips in the United States, Shirley accompanies her husband whenever possible. "We enjoy visiting New York City and Chicago and other big cities, but we think Oklahoma City looks pretty good to us when we come home," related Polk.

Active in business related organizations, Polk is a longtime supporter of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce. He has also been a member of the Sirloin Club for many years. The Polks are charter members of the Petroleum Club of Oklahoma City. Polk is a long time member of the Touchdown Club (O.U. Football) and also of the Oklahoma Heritage Association. Polk was a member of the Board of Trustees of Heritage Hall School from 1971-1974. He is also a charter member of the President's Associates Group at O.U. Both Frank and Shirley are lifetime members of the Southwestern State University Alumni Association.

Shirley's twin brother, John Douglas, retired from the advertising business in Florida about ten years ago and moved back to Oklahoma City. The Polks are very pleased to have so much of their family near them.

Despite a very active life in business and Oklahoma City social circles, the Polks have never lost their Western Oklahoma friends and a feeling for the roots from which they come. They have traveled with long time friends from their college days. They return often to Western Oklahoma and SWOSU for alumni events and other occasions important to their friends. They have carried the SWOSU graduate banner well. Their achievements professionally and personally demonstrate the value of an investment in education.

IRS Appoints Williams Assistant Director

The Internal Revenue Service announced the appointment of Donovan H. Williams as assistant director, Cincinnati Service Center. He succeeds Damon Holmes who was named taxpayer ombudsman at the national office in Washington.

Williams, 47, began his IRS career in 1961 in Dallas as a revenue officer. He held a series of positions there and in Lubbock and Fort Worth, Texas before being named chief, collection division in Omaha, Nebraska in 1974.

In 1978 he assumed the same position in Chicago. In 1983, Williams was chosen for the IRS Executive Selection and Development Program, which offers specialized training to those who have shown executive potential.

Upon completing the program, Williams was appointed assistant district director in Indianapolis. In 1986 he became assistant regional commissioner, collection, in the IRS Central Region located in Cincinnati, the position he held until his present appointment.

A native of Putnam, Oklahoma, Williams holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford, Oklahoma.

Bank Promotes Alum

Promotions have been announced for two employees at First National Bank. Mary E. (Groschick) Evans has been promoted from assistant cashier to auditor. She and her husband, Jim Evans, have two children, Matt and Julie. She has worked at the bank for 12 years and is a graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University. She is active in the Clinton Alumni Association, Clinton Soccer Club and Cub Scout Pack 361, as well as the First United Methodist Church and Hi-Noon Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dr. Kerr has Experienced Interesting Medical Career

Dr. Walter Charles Harrison Kerr, M.D., has been quite busy throughout his life even though in the beginning his future was questionable.

Kerr's mother died when he was 15 months old. His father died when he was eight years old. Upon his father's death, he was reared as an orphan for seven years by an aunt, Dorcas Davis, and his grandmother, Sarah Davis, of Anchor, Illinois.

During this time, he contracted pneumonia; his weight dropped from 150 to under 100 pounds. Because of the severe weather conditions and his ill health, he migrated to Thomas, Oklahoma, at the age of fifteen to live with his favorite uncle, Grant Kerr.

Since the age of eight, he earned every cent he spent for clothes, books, a little spending and a few miscellaneous items. In later years, his great aunt, Mary Welch, died and left him $2,500; the rest he earned. While in medical school, he worked all night every other night as the iceman who made ice at the ice house.

In 1923 and 1924, Kerr coached at Binger, Oklahoma. During the spring of 1924, he quit teaching and coaching to come back to Southwestern in an attempt to make the olympic team to throw the discus. He used a method which he called the two whirl. At that time he was the only one using this method for throwing the discus, but this method is used throughout the world today.

However, instead of making the olympic team, he spent most of April and May in bed with the mumps. The disease sapped his strength and he was never athletically strong the rest of his college days.

At Binger, he was replaced by quite a famous coach named Steve Owens who later became the coach of the New York Giants.

"Kerr commented, 'As you can see, Binger never did miss me.'"

Kerr graduated from Southwestern in 1926 with an A.B. degree in English and a B.S. degree in Chemistry. Later he coached at Olustee, Oklahoma, from 1926-29. While at Southwestern, he went out for football, basketball and track. He played football in 1921 and 1922 and was one of 16 to 18 fellows who finished the season.

Due to prior health problems, his weight was only a little over 100 pounds when he entered Southwestern and upon graduation in 1926, his weight was only about 123 pounds.

"I don't think a coach would issue a kid a football uniform at that weight these days," Kerr said.

While playing basketball, he went on a few road trips but never made a letter.

"A letter meant something then and was hard to come by," he said. "I don't think over 6 or 7 fellows made football letters in 1921 and 1922."

In 1923, he won second place in the discus throw at the state track meet at Oklahoma City. After graduation and upon becoming a track coach, he was considered to be a professional and was no longer eligible for the olympic team. In 1935, while at the national guard camp at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, he put on an exhibition throwing the discus for a crowd of approximately 15,000 spectators. He got several throws off over two-hundred feet.

When Kerr graduated from medical school in 1933, his weight was over 240 pounds; he could always equal his weight and better throwing the discus.

After that exhibition, the two whirl became a popular throwing technique. Whether he could have made the olympic team is another question!

When track star, Jim Thorpe, was declared a professional, the rules became very strict.

Nowadays, you can make a million dollars and still be eligible to participate.

Kerr coached at Olustee, Oklahoma, from 1926 through 1929. While there, his basketball team won the district in 1929. There were several good track stars on the team. He took one of the young men to the national track meet at Chicago, Illinois, in 1927. His name was Clarence Burch.

Grover Bradley, another student whom he coached, was on the olympic team in 1932.

In 1929, his track team placed second in the state track meet after scoring thirteen points. Oklahoma City and Tulsa tied for first place with sixteen points to win the meet. E. H. Miles ran the quarter mile and was on the relay team. Before his death he became famous for starting all track meets at the University of Oklahoma.

"Guess he got even for the false starts he had made," Kerr added.

At that time there was only one class division of football and basketball in Oklahoma. In track, it was divided into class A and B and teams could choose the class in which they wished to compete. Kerr always chose class A.

In 1929, Kerr entered the University of Oklahoma Medical School and graduated in 1933. He interned at St. Vincents Hospital in Portland, Oregon, in 1933-34. Later he did postgraduate work at Harvard University in Boston, Massachusetts.

While in practice in both Picher, Oklahoma, and Fort Worth, Texas, he made it a habit to take post-graduate training throughout his years of active practice. The courses lasted all the way from one week to two months in length.

"In my mind, it is the only way a busy physician can keep up with changing medical technology and trends in health care", Kerr said. "Also, it gives you rest and keeps you more alert."

Most of the time he received no formal credit for such since he did not take time to document the hours of credit courses. His goal was to pursue additional education for only the benefit of his patients and himself.

While in general practice in Picher from 1934 through 1953, he delivered over 2,000 squealing, yelling, sweet and demure babies.

When babies couldn't breathe he used artificial respiration to revive them. The method was taught to him by Albert Mathews, M.D. and others at St. Vincents Hospital in Portland. The method involved clearing the throat of all mucus with a tracheal catheter and then massaging the chest by pulling the babies knees up and putting pressure on the chest. This, in reality, was a heart massage.

Adults were too large and stiff on which to perform the same technique.

"I could bring them back and talk to them but as soon as I stopped, they went out of the picture again," Kerr said.

He had only one patient live by sticking a needle into the heart and injecting adrenalin, but he used this method on five child-drowning victims and they all lived.

During his practice in Picher, he initiated artificial resuscitation on three or four hundred babies. An exact count was never kept but every time he has returned to Picher for a visit, someone has told him "thanks for my start in life".

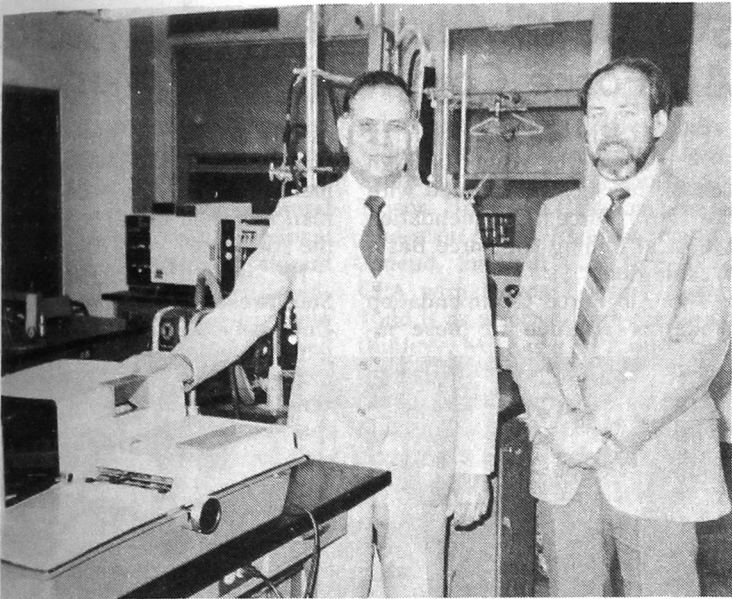

His most famous patients were Mickey Mantle's twin brothers whom he delivered. They had pneumonia at approximately one year of age. He breathed for them several times and got each one started breathing on his own not once but several times. Finally the hospital staff restrained him and did not want him to continue. But, he convinced them he could massage their chests, did so and finally they kept breathing without assistance.

There was no piped-in oxygen back in 1935, so it made resuscitation more difficult and not always successful.

A humorous anecdote about this was the Mantle brothers had grown up and during this time, their football team in Commerce beat the Picher High School football team. Bertha Tindall, R.N., the head nurse at Picher Hospital, teased Kerr that he had simply taken too good of care of the Mantle boys.

For the past thirty-three years.

THE SOUTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY chemistry department recently received an infrared spectrophotometer from the 3M Company of Weatherford. The instrument is being utilized by students in the organic and biochemistry laboratories. Dr. Dan Dill (left), chairman of the chemistry department, said infrared spectroscopy enables chemists to identify specific compounds by the absorption of specific wavelengths of infrared red radiation. Representing 3M Company in the presentation was Dow Jones, a process engineer at the Weatherford company.

Mashaney Named By Hospital

Southwestern Memorial Hospital in Weatherford has announced that Tana Mashaney, RN, has been named Director of Nursing Services. Mashaney, a 1980 graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University's nursing program, accepted the position on September 2, 1987.

As director of nurses, Mashaney said she is responsible for the overall nursing care to patients and for staffing and scheduling of the nursing department. She also acts as a liaison between the nursing staff and the medical staff.

"I will be planning and implementing new programs for the nursing staff," Mashaney said,

"but my primary goal is to provide the highest quality of nursing care that can be given to patients."

In addition to her nurses training, Tana has taken courses in cardiac care, fetal monitoring and prenatal care.

Ronnie D. Walker, SMH president, said, "I am extremely pleased to have someone with Tana's background, experience and professionalism to be director of our nursing staff."

Tana graduated from Lookeba-Sickles in 1974. She lives in Hinton with her husband Wayne, who is co-owner of Otasco in Hinton. They have a 3½ year old son, Jared.

All Greek Reunion

THE SWOSU ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HAS BEEN ASKED TO HELP PROMOTE AN ALL GREEK REUNION AT HOMECOMING 1988. IF YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE THIS DONE AND WOULD HELP WITH CONTACTING ALL FORMER FRATERNITY AND SORORITY MEMBERS SINCE THEY FIRST STARTED AT SOUTHWESTERN, PLEASE CONTACT THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION AT SWOSU.

Kerr

Kerr has been practicing medicine in Fort Worth Texas. His speciality is rheumatology and for several years he was the only rheumatologist. Now, there are several since arthritis seems to have become a popular ailment.

Kerr has written several papers but did not have the facts through personal research to support that which he knew. What he did was by observation and by the study of pharmacology and endocrinology. He remained in Oklahoma City during the summertime and repeated courses in pharmacology every year during summer school without charge.

Later, it seemed to him that everything new was coming from endocrinology so he became a student of that speciality.

The suggestions in the various papers which he has written are mostly still in use today. The following are some of Kerr's published articles and books:

"Blood Plasma As A Universal Donor", January, 1935.

"Vitamin C in Pernicious Anemia and Secondary Anemia and Toxemia of Pregnancy; and Adrenal Cortical Extract in Toxemia of Pregnancy.", July, 1940.

"Vitamin C in Pernicious Anemia and Secondary Anemia", August, 1942.

"Choline Chloride in the Treatment of Diabetes Mellitus", September, 1948.

"Testosterone Propionate and Crude Live Extract for Therapy of Essential Hypertension and Arteriosclerosis", August, 1951.

Ed Parsley Completes Internship

Ed Parsley Jr., of Guymon, recently completed his term as an intern at Memorial Hospital in Guymon.

He served as an intern at the Guymon Hospital from November 16 thru January 14, before moving on.

Parsley graduated from Guymon High School in 1979. He then went to Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford.

While attending Southwestern State he was active in Student Senate, Pharmacy Dean's Council and Southwestern Pharmaceutical Association.

He was Student Senate president at Southwestern in 1983 and made the President's Honor Roll along with being selected for the Walter L. Dickinson Award.

Parsley graduated summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Pharmacy and a minor in mathematics in 1984.

From there he went to Oklahoma College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery in Tulsa where he will graduate May 22 of this year.

As part of his training he has served as an intern at many different hospitals, his stay at Guymon fulfilled his internship requirement at a community hospital.

This is not Parsley's first stint at Memorial Hospital. He also served as an intern at the hospital pharmacy in the summer of 1984. "I became interested in being a doctor when I was still in Pharmacy school and decided to go on after I graduated," said Parsley.

Parsley has been very successful while at the Oklahoma College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery. His class rank is second out of 76 and he has been on the Dean's Honor Roll all five semesters he has attended the school.

Pharmacist Elected to Group's Board

Amarillo pharmacist, Lee Helms, recently was elected to the board of councilors of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association. Helms will serve as secretary of the board and as a member of the TPA Committee on Pharmacists' Rehabilitation. Helms is a partner in Buy Wise Pharmacy and active in the Panhandle Pharmaceutical Association. The board of councilors serves as the association's peer review and judicial organization, overseeing ethical activities of TPA's 4,000 members.

Lee is a graduate of Lubbock Monterey High School and received his pharmacy degree in 1973.

Southwestern Alum Receives Pilot License

Reba Massey, a graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University, received her private pilot license this past fall. She currently is a teacher at Yukon Mid High where she teaches Algebra I and general business. She has taught in the Yukon school system for the past 20 years.

Reba received her flight training from Dean Ritter and Don Corbin at Wiley Post Airport, Oklahoma City. She began her ground school training in 1986 at Wiley Post under Dean Ritter, Chief Air Traffic Controller. After completing ground school, she began dual flight training. This training consisted of doing take-offs, coordinated turns, stalls, cross-country flying, advance flight maneuvers, and landings.

After receiving 40 hours of dual instruction, she made solo cross-country flights to Sayre, Elk City, Duncan, and Ponca City. After completing her cross-country flights she worked on other solo work until she took her flight test at Wiley Post.

SWOSU Graduate Receives Air Force Commendation Medal

First Lt. Erwin R. Bander Jr., a 1974 graduate of Waynoka High School, has been decorated with the Air Force Commendation Medal at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington.

The Air Force Commendation Medal is awarded to those individuals who demonstrate outstanding achievement or meritorious service in the performance of their duties on behalf of the Air Force.

He is a 1979 graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Weatherford.

SCHOOL SPIRIT can be seen in the picture at Oklahoma Hall during homecoming. The sign is one of many new signs placed around the campus to identify the buildings.

Distinguished Alumni Nominations

Persons wishing to nominate alumni for the Distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame may submit names and a resume to Dr. Joe Anna Hibler, Vice-President, Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Weatherford, Oklahoma 73096. Dr. Hibler is chairman of the committee that will make the selection.

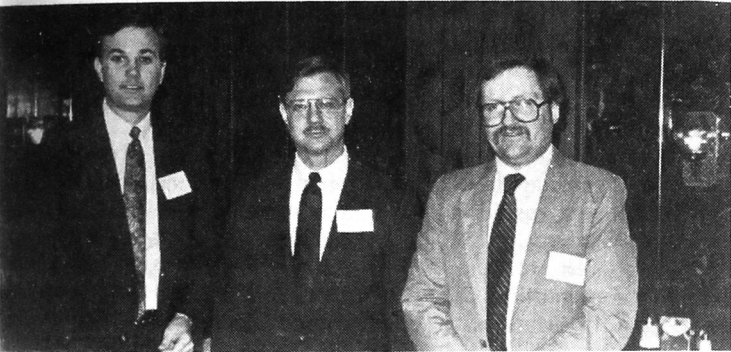

Downtown Alumni Meet For Lunch

A reunion of alumni who work in downtown Oklahoma City met for a dutch treat lunch on Wednesday, February 17, at 11:30 a.m. at the Continental Cafeteria in the First National Center Building. Twenty alumni attended and met with administrators and faculty from SWOSU. Each alumni informed the group of their name, hometown and where they work. The university staff gave reports about the progress of the university.

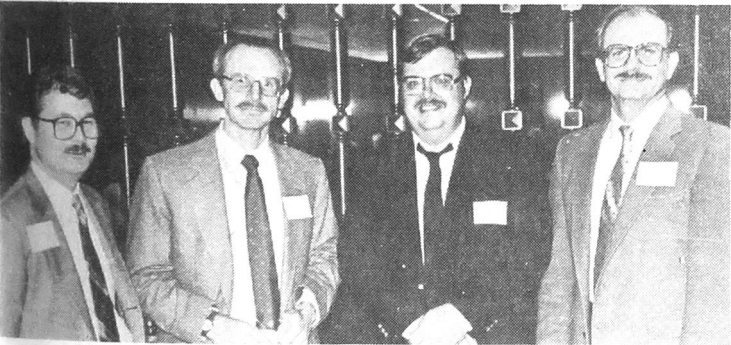

The three pictures that did not print were: Hope Engle Wade, Elaine Tuttle, Mike North, Jack Sanders, Jerry Jones and Todd Taylor. Hope is a CPA for Arthur Anderson & Co., Elaine works for Amend, Smith & Co., Jerry is a CPA with Devon Energy Corp., Todd is an attorney with Crowe & Dunlevy, Mike is a CPA and controller at the Oklahoma City Clinic; and Jack works for Kerr-McGee in International Accounting. We apologize for the mistake.

Over 52 SWOSU graduates work downtown in Oklahoma City within six blocks of each other and have never met. Some work in the same building, ride the same small elevator and meet on the streets, but do not realize the others also attended Southwestern. The next reunion is scheduled for August 31. Put it on your calendar.

MEETING AT THE Downtown Alumni Luncheon were (l-r) Gary Johnson, Sonic Industries; Jerry Grizzle, Sonic Industries; and Bruce Bailey, CPA, Midland Group Companies.

ALUMNI VISITING at the Downtown Alumni Luncheon are (l-r) Tom Libby, KXY sales manager; Dr. Randy Russell, Dean of the School of Business; Larry Claxton, marketing director for Meadowlake Hospital in Enid; Johnny Beech, attorney in Enid.

CHARLES EVANS, (center) Trust Business Department for Liberty National Bank, is getting a point over to Mark Mouse, director of Placement and High School Relations at SWOSU, and Dr. Joe Anna Hibler.

Alum New Air Traffic Controller

David E. Maddox recently completed the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) 11-week Air Traffic control (ATC) basic screen and course at the FAA Academy. Maddox is a graduate of Mustang High School and resides at 1705 Rose Oak, Mustang.

Before going to the Mike Monroney Aeronautical Center in Oklahoma City, Maddox, a 1986

Southwestern Oklahoma State University graduate with a BS degree in business administration, passed stringent written and physical examinations under Civil Service. Normally, only 62 percent of students complete the intense course, which teaches air traffic procedures and handling of large and small aircraft in the nation's airspace system.

Completion of the screening program gives Maddox a Civil Service rating of GS-9. Upon reporting for duty in FAA's Southwest Region, the new air traffic graduate will work toward the ATC journeyman classification.

The FAA, under the Department of Transportation (DOT), is the nation's regulatory agency for aviation. The FAA Academy is the agency's principal source of technical training with 300 resident courses.

THE RECENTLY-FORMED office administrative/business education advisory council for Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford recently met for the second time. Attending the council meeting were (seated from left): Arlo Gose, Kingfisher, Pioneer Telephone Co., Director of Public Relations; Kim Smid, Weatherford, 3M Company, Systems Analyst; Tim Salkow, Weatherford, 3M Company, Information Systems and Inventory Manager; and Mark Williams, Oklahoma City, Southwestern Bell, Senior Account Executive. Special Reunion

Dear Otis,

We, the 1977 Alumni and fans, would like to take this opportunity to thank you for making our 1987 Homecoming Reunion a memorable occasion.

Thank you also for all the time and effort your staff (especially Jean Matthews) gave to promote this Apple Bowl reunion. Your excitement and enthusiasm added to help reach all who remembered our successful 1977 football season and all of our good times.

We also appreciate all the publicity on the radio and articles that appeared in the newspaper. They made our reunion very special and memorable to each of us.

Thanks again,
Mike and Debbie Brown

Enjoys Visit

Dear Mr. Sanders,

Thank you for your part in making my visit to Weatherford so pleasant. I enjoyed every minute of my nostalgic return after 65 years.

Sincerely,

Wants Address

Dear Sir:

In reading your latest "Echoes from the Hill", I began to wonder what had happened to all of my very good friends from University days. Do you have a current address for Beverly Fries, from Guthrie? If so please forward it to me at: 414 Edinburgh Drive, Dublin, Ohio 43017

Thank you

Remembers '37

Dear Sir:

I am very sorry to have to tell you that I do not know the addresses of any of the 1937 Southwestern graduates.

After serving five years in the Army during World War II, on being discharged, I somehow stayed here in New York. And that is rather far removed from all the other senior classmates of 1937.

I am very, very sorry that I will be unable to attend the 1937 Southwestern class reunion. I have been beset with a nervous condition that makes it difficult and tiresome for me to be on my feet for a length of time.

I do need to thank you, Mr. Sanders, for sending me the list of the 1937 graduates from Southwestern. In looking over the list many names sound very familiar. But, after fifty years one is not sure anymore.

But I do remember the teachers in Southwestern State Teachers College during my sojourn there: Dr. Little, biology; Dr. Grace Jenke, English; Dr. Dora Anne Stewart, history; Dr. Pratt, psychology; Dr. Neff, Rankin Williams, athletics, basketball, baseball, track; Joe Milam, wrestling and agriculture; Mill Lilavrooman, child psychology; Miss Elsie Shoemaker, journalism, editor Southwestern's weekly newspaper; Miss Jones, American history; Mr. Hazilet, practice teaching; a young male typing teacher; I think, Millie Alexander, in charge of records, finance.

During the 1930's, state politics had college presidents come and go so fast it was difficult to learn to know them.

I would sure appreciate and be very thankful to hear from a classmate about Southwestern today. During our school years there were only a handful of buildings on the campus: the old rickety, four-story administration building; the sturdy, spatial, science hall (still very much in use); an oldish athletic building (coach Joe Milam trained the school's wrestling team here); a new library building; a new athletic building (basketball games and wrestling matches were held here); a new girls dormitory; a new boys dormitory; a very old college president's family home. Early football games were played on a very red, dirt gridiron on the east edge of the campus. The rickety, four-story administration building, with its oil-soaked, wooden floors burned down at the end of the school year in 1939.

Living on a small farm, southwest of Weatherford, between farm duties, I spent seven years attending Southwestern State Teachers College, a college that in its early years had an enrollment in the hundreds.

Yours very Truly,
Oliver H. Friesen

WHERE'S THIS ALUMNI???

The SWOSU Alumni Association is looking for Ivan Willford Smith. The alumni association received the following letter from Tom Butterfield, Resort Valley Ranch, Foxton, Colorado.

Dear Sirs:

I found a 1969 men's class ring in the Breckenridge, CO. ski area. The initials on the inside are IWS. He graduated with a BS degree and belonged to the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

If you could put me in touch with this person, I'm sure he would appreciate it.

Sincerely,
Tom Butterfield

Homecoming Highlights

DOYLE TAYLOR AND RUDIE JACKSON visit during the Athletic Hall of Fame Banquet. Doyle coached Steve and Lloyd Graham in high school. Rudie is pictured wearing the letter sweater he won when he ran track in 1927-30 at Southwestern.

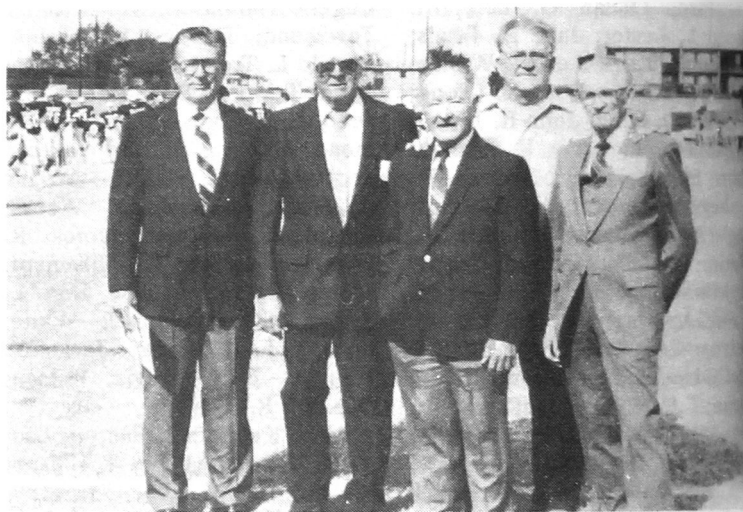

PICTURED ARE THE special alumni award winners (L-R): Marjorie and Don Pigg from Altus had the most children to graduate from SWOSU. There was a three way tie for this award. The tie was broken by the parents who had the oldest graduate. Dr. Walter Kerr, Fort Worth, Texas, was the oldest alum in attendance.

DR. RON ANDERSON, Dallas, Texas, and Anita Burgdorf Pauwels, Fort Worth, Texas were recognized at the Alumni Luncheon and during halftime ceremonies as the two distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame members. Dr. Leonard Campbell, SWOSU president (center) presented them with Hall of Fame plaques.

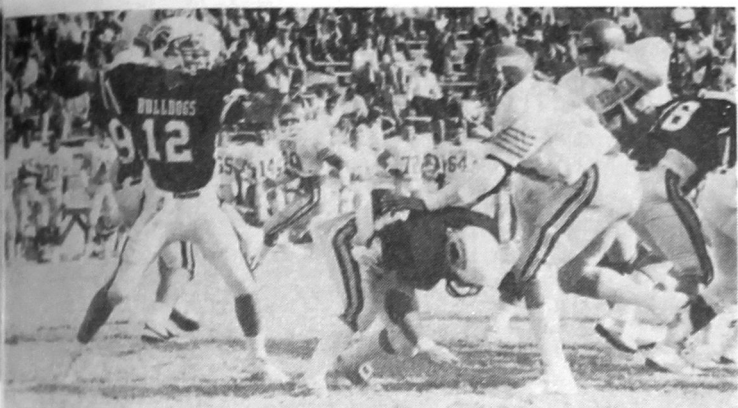

PRE-GAME ACTIVITIES featured Steve Graham, Clovis, New Mexico; Harold "Moon" Stinson, Eads, Colorado; Foy Stout, Sulphur; and Howard Welborn, Midwest City, who were inducted into the 1987 Athletic Hall of Fame. Cecil Perkins, Director of Athletics at SWOSU is pictured with the four inductees.

Who's No. 1? That is an easy question for Southwestern cheerleaders (from left): Robin Williamson of Oklahoma City; Kris Redinger of Seiling and Shawna Boothby of Balko. Also raising his foot in agreement is Brandy the Bulldog.

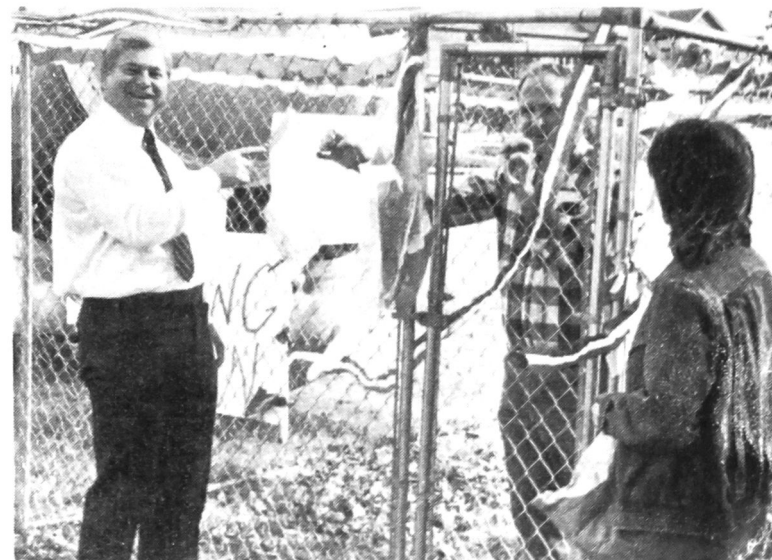

LOYAL ALUMNI, students, and friends are pictured at the SWOSU Homecoming football game. The crowd watched an exciting football game as well as a great pre-game and halftime activities.

TIM STROUD, a 5'10", 200 pound junior running back from Duncan was one of the leading rushers for the Bulldog offense. Tim is another returning letterman that will help the 1988 Bulldog Team.

ONE OF EIGHT cheerleaders lead the SWOSU Bulldog football team on the field in Milam Stadium. Homecoming was a great success. Plan to attend the 1988 homecoming on October 1.

STEVE HILTERBRAN, Dean of Men at Southwestern, laughingly points at Southwestern art instructor LeRoy Schultz who was thrown in the "Dog Pen" for not wearing Blue and White.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA was another outstanding float built by the fraternities. The Greeks always add a lot of spirit to the SWOSU Homecoming.

SOUTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY at Sayre was well represented in the Homecoming parade. The faculty and students built the float in Sayre and drove to Weatherford to be in the parade. We are proud of our Sayre campus.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON Fraternity had an outstanding float in the homecoming parade. The TKE's always build a float for homecoming.

THE FIRST PLACE float for the 1987 Homecoming was Gamma Delta Lutheran which represented the Lutheran Youth Group at Lutheran Church. Besides the parade, the float was also on display during the football game.

THE SOCIETY OF CREATIVE ARTIST, a club from the SWOSU Art Department built this attractive float for homecoming.

AS USUAL, a big crowd was on hand for the homecoming football game.

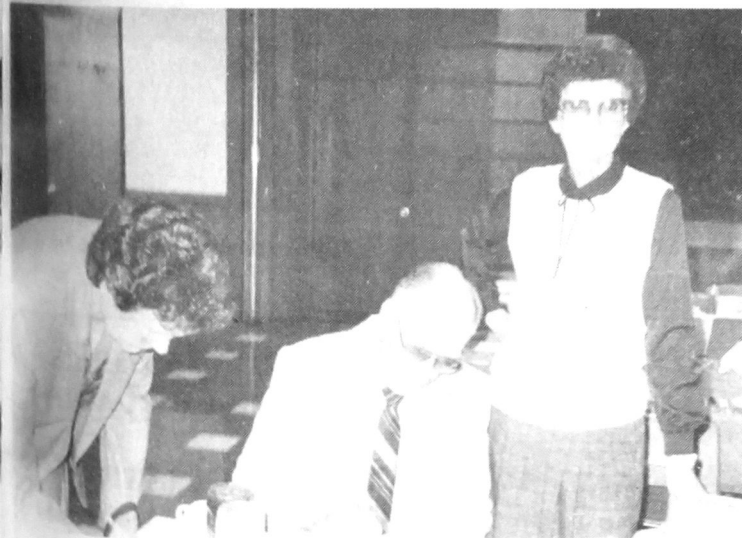

CATCHING UP on the latest are Marcella Sanders of Elk City and Winnie Ola Berrong of Weatherford.

THE EVER-GROWING alumni luncheon had another full house. More alumni attend the luncheon where distinguished alumni are inducted into the Hall of Fame.

VISITING BEFORE the alumni luncheon are (from left): Otis Sanders Jr., Director of Public Relations at Southwestern; Col. H.D. Stallings and his wife Nita of Lubbock TX; and Dr. Glenn Stallings and his wife Janna of Arlington TX. Glenn, who is now a dentist was an All-American football player for Southwestern back in 1977.

ATTENDING THE LUNCHEON were Twyla Beth Sanders, Don Prock and Peggy Prock, all of Weatherford.

REGISTERING FOR HOMECOMING activities are Walter and Genieve Kerr of Ft. Worth TX.

PERRY JONES and Ronnie Walker, both of Weatherford, attended homecoming festivities.

TALKING ABOUT the good 'ole days are Gilbert Norman of Weatherford and Orval Williams of Cordell.

CHATTING BEFORE the alumni luncheon are (from left): Orval Williams and Opal Armstrong Williams of Cordell and Janet Norman of Weatherford.

FILLING OUT THEIR NAME TAGS are Kerry and Linda Jones of Clinton. Kerry will graduate from Southwestern in May while Linda earned her master's degree from Southwestern in 1986.

ATTENDING THE HOMECOMING alumni luncheon were F.C. and Gene Burch of Weatherford.

Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford had eight players named to the 1987 NAIA District Nine All-District Football Team and nine players on the 1987 Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference Team. On the district team, one Bulldog was named to the first team, two on the second team and five were named as honorable mention. As for the conference team, four Bulldogs were named to the first team, three were selected for the second team and two were named honorable mention.

Kefrin Rusk, a 6-2, 280 pound junior offensive center from Houston TX, was named to the first team on both the district and conference teams. He was considered as one of the Bulldogs' best linemen this season at center.

Also named to the first team on the all-conference team were: Mark Baetz, a 6-3, 245 pound senior defensive tackle from Perry; A. J. Johnson, a 6-0, 237 pound junior linebacker from Oklahoma City Southeast; and Sohn Seifried, a 5-10, 160 pound freshman punter from Weatherford.

Baetz was also considered as one of the Bulldogs' best linemen. He ended up with 67 tackles this season. Johnson was the second leading tackler for the Bulldogs as the junior ended up with 103 tackles, recovered three fumbles and intercepted two passes. Seifried handled the punting chores for Southwestern and the freshman ended up averaging 38.9 yards per punt. His longest of the season was a 77-yarder against Northwestern.

Johnson was also named honorable mention at the district level while Seifried was named to the district's team.

Jeff Jackson, a 5-10, 200 pound senior wide receiver from Grapevine TX, was named to the second team on both the district and conference teams. Jackson was the Bulldog's leading receiver this season with 33 catches.

 ches for 431 yards. He also caught three touchdown passes.

Named to the OIC second team were Bill Fitch and Chris Norman. Fitch, a 6-1, 273 pound senior offensive guard from Desoto TX, anchored the offensive line for the Bulldogs. Norman, a 6-1, 211 pound junior linebacker from Minco, was the Bulldogs' leading tackler with 112. Both Fitch and Norman were named honorable mention for the district.

Also named honorable mention for both the district and conference were Bret Cabiness of Canton and Randy Messer of Amarillo TX. Cabiness, a 5-11, 178 pound senior free safety, had 46 tackles this season and one pass interception. Messer, a 6-2, 220 pound junior defensive end, had 43 tackles and eight quarterback sacks in eight games because he missed the Bulldogs' final two games of the season because of an injury.

Southwestern ended up the 1987 season with a 3-7 record. Victories came over Missouri Southern, Panhandle State and Langston. Losses were sustained to Central Arkansas, East Texas State, Howard Payne, TX, East Central, Southeastern, Northwestern and Northwestern.

LEE RICE (middle left) of Heppner, Oregon, and John Opie (middle right) of Crane, Oregon, recently transferred to Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford where they will be a part of the men's rodeo team. Both are former members of the men's rodeo team at Blue Mountain Community College in Pendleton, Oregon. Rice and Opie, who was named All-Around Cowboy at the 1984 national college finals rodeo, will be eligible for competition this spring. Southwestern finished as national champion runnerup at last summer's national college finals rodeo and, traditionally, always has one of the top teams in the nation. Pictured with Rice and Opie are George Howard (left), Southwestern assistant coach, and Don Mitchell, Southwestern head coach.

Marlow Has Been 'Unbelievable'

Mike Sparks has coached high school football for 16 years, but he's never had a team walk the tightrope like this year's Marlow squad.

Marlow is 6-0, but to say the eighth-ranked Outlaws have had a flair for the dramatic is an understatement.

The Outlaws were shutout the first three quarters of their first five games, but rallied on for victories on each occasion.

They won a game in which they never kicked off. Puzzled? We'll explain it later.

They have won all three home games in overtime, playing six extra periods.

"It's been unbelievable hasn't it?" Sparks said. "Believe it or not we're gradually getting better. I think it shows we have some character. These are the type of games you can build on."

Here's a quick recap of Marlow's first five games:

Game 1: a 25-yard TD pass with 2:01 remaining gives Marlow a 7-7 tie against Chickasha. Both teams miss opportunities in the first two overtimes before the Outlaws win it in the third overtime on a 27-yard field goal.

Game 2: Marlow trails Tecumseh 6-0 heading into the fourth quarter, but the Outlaws tie it 6-6 on the first play of the fourth period. They score the game-winning TD with about 9:00 remaining.

Game 3: Weatherford leads 7-0 after three quarters, but Marlow ties it 7-7 with 6:00 to play. After holding Weatherford in the first overtime, Marlow attempted a field goal on first down but misses. They win it, 14-7 in the second period.

Game 4: The Outlaws put Blanchard into a hole late in the game to set up the game's only score in a 7-0 victory.

Game 5: This is the game Marlow never kicked off but won. The two teams battled to a 0-0 tie in regulation. Frederick elected to kick off to start the game so Marlow received the kickoff both halves. The outlaws won in the first overtime.

Quarterback Danny Phillips and fullback Todd Alpers (398 yards rushing) are Marlow's top weapons on offense and defense. Defensive ends Ray Miller and Billy Griggs also played key roles on a defense that has given up just three TD's and is yielding 168 yards a game.

The Outlaws, 2-8 last year, reached the Class 3A semifinals in 1983 finishing 12-2.

"That team had a better offensive line, but I think this team has a better defense," Sparks said. "We've undoubtedly been fortunate sometimes this year, but a lot of it has been hard work. I believe teams that hustle get more breaks. We've seen a lot of unusual things, but it's made us a better football team."

Mike and Jane (Crabb) Sparks are both graduates of Southwestern. Their son, David, is a student at SWOSU and a member of the baseball team.

Basketball Teams Sport Winning Seasons

It was a winning season in 1987-88 for the Southwestern women's and men's basketball teams. The women ended up with a 23-6 record, while the men finished with a 14-13 mark.

Once again the Southwestern women proved they have a proud tradition as the Lady Bulldogs advanced to the NAIA District Nine playoff finals for the sixth time in the last seven years. In the previous championship contests, the Lady Bulldogs had won all five but this year the Oklahoma City

Lady Chiefs won a close one, 72-69, to snap the dominating streak of the Southwestern women.

Southwestern loses three seniors off this year's squad. Graduating are center Sharon Blair, forward Patrice Malphus and guard Stephanie Wyatt. The three were the leading scorers and rebounders for the Lady Bulldogs who tied for first in the Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference race.

As for the men, the Bulldogs started out slow but at one time won seven straight contests. The Bulldogs finished the OIC race with a 3-5 record. Two of those losses were in overtime and two others were lost by two and three points. So, as can be seen, the Bulldogs came out on the short end of several nailbiters.

The Bulldogs were led by Daron Harrison, a junior forward, and Stephen Joseph, a freshman guard from Oklahoma City Millwood. Harrison and Joseph averaged 17.4 and 11.5 points, respectively. Harrison also averaged 6.2 rebounds per contest.

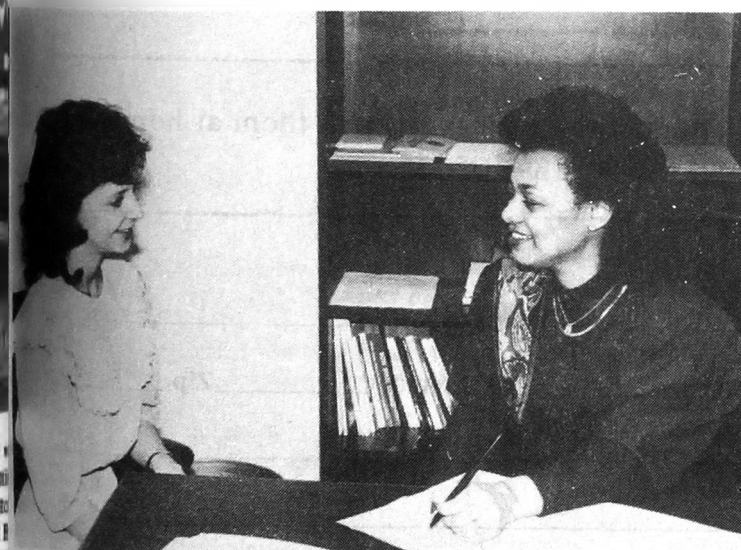

This season was also a special one for both coaches of the Southwestern basketball teams. Both coaches picked up their 200th career victories at Southwestern. Women's coach John Loftin, who has been at Southwestern for only seven seasons, has a 202-22 mark at the Weatherford school and is the NAIA's winningest active women's coach in the nation. Men's coach George Hauser also picked up his 200th victory this season as he now has a 203-133 career record at Southwestern.

Both the men's and women's clubs return many players next season so 1988-89 should be an exciting season for all Southwestern fans.

BUYING AN ALUMNI SHIRT at the Southwestern bookstore is Don Willis of Midwest City. Making the sale is Vera Williamson. Don was a wingback on the 1977 Southwestern football team.

LINDA S. BROWN (right), personnel administrator for the Oklahoma City Public Schools, was recently on the Southwestern campus interviewing students for upcoming job openings. Brown is a 1974 Southwestern graduate. Getting ready to be interviewed is Cathy Long, a 1988 Southwestern graduate from Oklahoma City.
