

HIM Students Tour OKC Facilities

02.19.2008

Southwestern Oklahoma State University's junior class of the health information management program at Weatherford recently toured several hospitals in Oklahoma City.

The students visited with various SWOSU alumni who served as tour guides at the following hospitals: Integris Baptist Medical Center, St. Anthony's, OU Medical Center, Oklahoma Heart Hospital, and Mercy Hospital.

According to Teri Stubbs of the HIM Department, the students learned about various aspects of the health information field in a real-world setting. The day culminated with a tour of a facility that adopted the Electronic Medical Records system in 2002.