

College Trivia Game Show Coming to SWOSU

02.22.2007

“What’s Your Final Answer?” is a college trivia game show coming to Southwestern Oklahoma State University this Tuesday, February 27.

The game show is being sponsored by the Baptist Collegiate Ministries at SWOSU as well as the Collegiate Activities Board.

The show will be held at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom on the Weatherford campus. All SWOSU students are eligible to be in the contestant pool. The public is invited to watch, and admission is free.

BCM Director Ron Henderson said the event is billed as Oklahoma’s traveling college trivia game show. The show is a lot of fun, and all of the questions are trivia based with no religious content.

The show has been put together by the state’s Baptist Collegiate Ministry. The grand prize winner receives a gift worth $300 and runner-up prizes are valued at $100.

Participant prizes are worth $30. The prizes are furnished by the Oklahoma BCM and SWOSU’s BCM.

There are four preliminary rounds in the game and a final round. Round winners advance to the final round and compete for the grand prize. In between rounds, the audience will be asked trivia questions and can win prizes worth $10. Approximately 12 of these will be awarded.

Contestants will be randomly drawn from a pool of contestants that have pre-registered to be in the game show. They can pre-register with Henderson at the BCM or they can come by a table that will be set up in the Student Union on February 22-23. Henderson said the SWOSU BCM is excited to bring the game show to SWOSU.
