Four different bands—led by red-dirt country sensation Jason Boland & the Stragglers—will play at the 16th annual SWOSUPalooza event this Friday, April 10, at Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford.

Other bands performing at the new Pioneer Cellular Event Center include Graham Colton, Jared Deck and the Travelers, and Autumn Ray.

The doors open at 6:30 p.m. and music begins at 7. Entry fee to the concert will be a donation ($5 minimum) that will go to the SWOSU Foundation Bulldog Angels fund, which is a program that is designed to financially help students who have fallen on hard times. Everyone is invited to the concert. Concession stands will be available.

The event is planned each year by the SWOSU Student Government Association, and questions may be directed to SGA President Taylor Kincaon at 580.02.4512.
