

Nursing Students Plan Car Wash to Benefit American Cancer Society

04.18.2006

Senior nursing students at Southwestern Oklahoma State University are participating in the upcoming Custer County Relay for Life event that benefits the American Cancer Society. The students are having a car wash this Saturday, April 22, in the 600 block of East Main Street in Weatherford to raise funds. Members of the team are (front from left): Amber Ruiz, Teja Leonard and Morgan Sides. Middle—Jaqlen Dalke. Back from left—Erin Bagwell, Susan Bedwell, Lauren Brown, Sheffield Southall, Natashia Malone, and Dennis Ward.

Junior nursing students at Southwestern Oklahoma State University are participating in the upcoming Custer County Relay for Life event that benefits the American Cancer Society. Members of the team are (front from left): Shannon Owens, Michelle Wilson, Billie Dorgan, Brittany Friesen, Sarah Quinn, Teja Leonard, Gala Powers and Anna Simmons. Middle from left—Connie Auston, Kirsten Mueggenborg, Kelly Harrell, Brandi Wise, Allison Krafels, Melissa Beatie, Emily Dewees, Emily Rodawalt and Grace Hassan. Back from left—Emmanuel Nwabude, Kristie Kurtz, Lu Kihien, Jayne Rozell, Brittany Friesen, Kirk Hatton and Tifuh Mofor.

Southwestern Oklahoma State University junior and senior nursing students at Weatherford are having a car wash this Saturday, April 22, to collect donations for the Relay for Life event that is coming up to benefit the American Cancer Society.

SWOSU students will have the car wash throughout the day in the 600 block of East Main Street between Fast Lane and the Mark Restaurant.

Everyone is invited, and all donations are welcome.

Team captain for the SWOSU nursing students is Teja Leonard, who is secretary for the SWOSU Nursing Association and a junior in the SWOSU nursing program.

The Relay for Life event that is being held in Custer County will be April 28 from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m. on April 29 at the YMCA in Weatherford.