Sarah Simpson of Elk City is the new Miss SWOSU and Lacey Russ of Cordell won the title of Miss SWOSU Outstanding Teen at the November 14 pageants held at Southwestern.

Simpson will represent SWOSU at next summer's Miss Oklahoma Pageant, while Russ advances to the Miss Oklahoma Outstanding Teen Pageant, which is held the same week at the Miss Oklahoma Pageant in Tulsa.

Simpson won the title and a $2,300 scholarship. Simpson is a sophomore majoring in business. Her platform issue is breast cancer awareness. Simpson also won the swimsuit, talent, crowd pleaser and most tickets sold competitions.

Alyssa Troy of Woodward finished as first runnerup. The sophomore won a $1,300 scholarship. Finishing second runnerup was sophomore Tanya Harrelson of Wichita Falls (TX) who won a $900 scholarship. Harrelson, along with Tori Nichols of Oklahoma City, tied for the most scholarship patrons sold award.

Kelsey Haught of Altus won the peer respect and leadership award. All non-finalists each won $250 SWOSU scholarships.

For winning the Miss SWOSU Outstanding Teen title, Russ won a $500 scholarship to SWOSU and various gifts and certificates from area businesses. She also won the talent award.

Molly Kitchen of Tulsa (Metro Christian Academy) finished as first runnerup. She won a $200 scholarship to SWOSU and various gifts and certificates. Allie Ayers of Snyder finished as second runnerup and winner of the crowd pleaser and most tickets sold awards. She won a $150 scholarship to SWOSU. Payton Berrong of Weatherford won the most scholarship patrons sold award.

Members of the SWOSU Bulldogs race to the field to kick off the homecoming game.

SWOSU's homecoming was celebrated on October 23-24. The Bulldogs were victorious over East Central, and Jonna May of Prague and Aaron Bark of Oklahoma City were crowned this year's Homecoming Queen and King at the game's halftime.

The SWOSU psychology club won first place for their float at the homecoming parade. There was also a marching band contest, in which Sayre High School and Enid High School 9th graders were awarded $250 from the SWOSU SGA.

In the lawn decoration contest, Neff Hall came out on top while Rogers and Jefferson Hall finished second.

Say hello to the new SWOSU president Mr. Randy Beutler.

Beutler was named President in December of 2009. He is a graduate of Southwestern Oklahoma State University. He grew up on a ranch north of Elk City, and was a graduate of Canute High School.

He received a Bachelor of Arts in Education at SWOSU and continued on to earn his Master in Education in 2003. He taught social science at Washita Heights High School and Weatherford Public Schools after graduating from SWOSU. He also received "Teacher of the Year" 1987 and 1990 at Weatherford Public Schools.

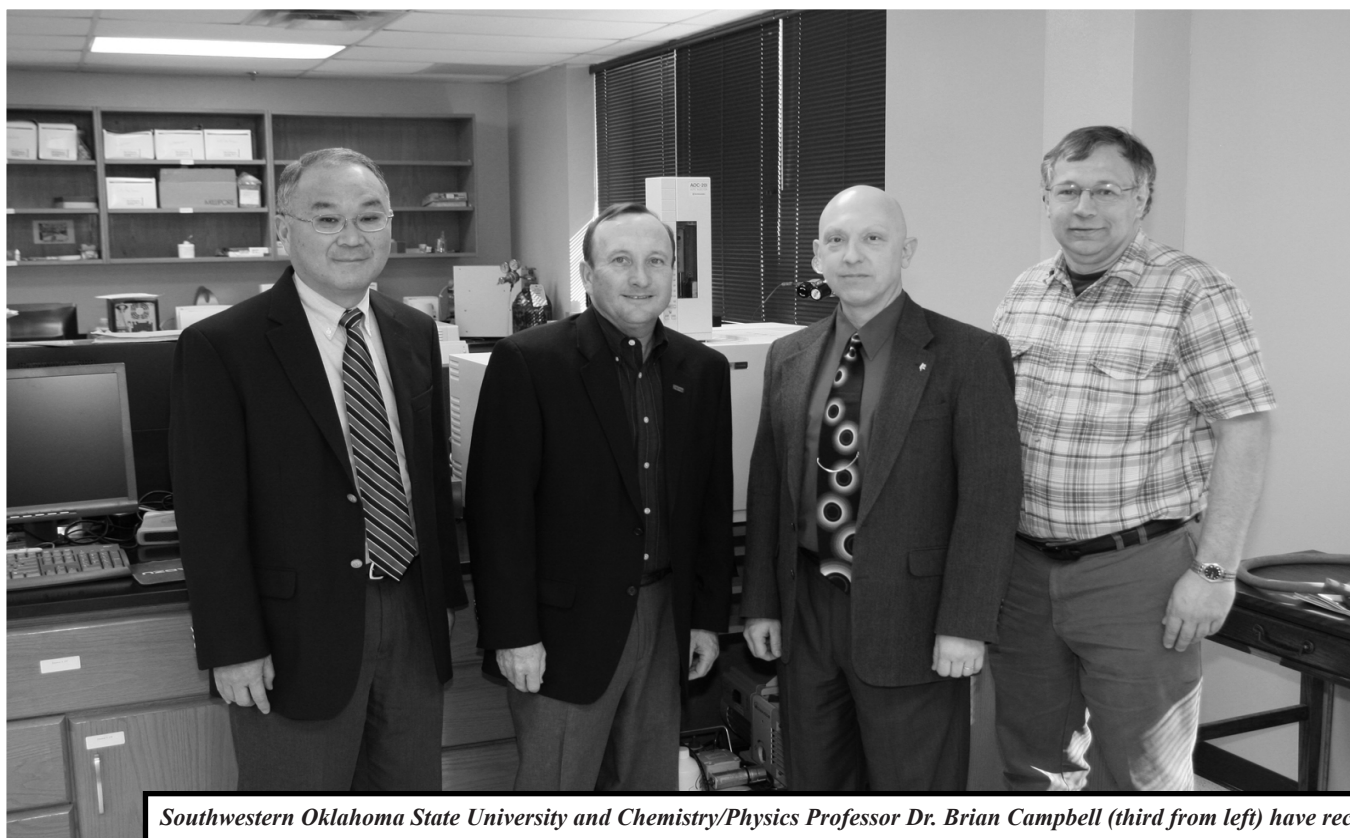

In 1992 Beutler decided to run for the District 60 seat in the Oklahoma House of Representatives. He was reelected three times without oppositions and served until 2000. Beutler represented the counties of Roger Mills, Beckham, Greer and Harmon. He eventually became Majority Whip of the House and was on the leadership team of both Glen Johnson and Loyd Benson. In 2003, Beutler was appointed by Governor Brad Henry as a legislative liaison to the Oklahoma House of Representatives. He was then promoted to director of legislative relations and in addition to his duties with Governor Henry, Beutler served as an adjunct professor of history at SWOSU.

Beutler serves on the Quartz Mountain Arts and Conference Center Board of Directors and Oklahoma Higher Education Chancellor Glen Johnson's Legislative Advisory Network. He is a member of the Weatherford Kiwanis Club and has been active in the Elk City Kiwanis Club.

He has served on the Oklahoma Academy of State Goals Board of Directors and the Elk City Old Town Museum Board of Directors.

Beutler becomes the 17th president of SWOSU, which was founded in 1901.

Seniors Phil Maucieri and Stephen Myers with Katie and Allen Deak at Mock Rock, which is hosted each year at the BCM around Halloween.

This past year has been a great one for the religious organizations on campus. These organizations provided a safe, comfortable place for students to go hang out, study, or even sleep. They became the place of escape from class and work, from annoying roommates and loud dorm buildings.

Each organization participated in its own events and activities each week. A few of the groups offered a time every week for students to meet and worship together. Some provided at least one meal a week for anyone interested.

During the year, these organizations hosted special events for students on campus. The BCM held Mock Rock, a lip syncing competition around Halloween, and Chi Alpha hosted its annual '80s night, as well as a masquerade ball. The groups went on mission trips and social trips over weekends and breaks during the year. They also came together to collaborate on a campus-wide night of praise held in the ballroom in September.

These groups created an atmosphere for students to meet new people and create lasting friendships centered around a common thread.

trends@swosu.2010

The winter season brought scarves, and more scarves. As well as BOOTS, rain boots, cowboy boots and the ever stylish tall boots were in full swing this season, and are showing no signs of slowing down. Snuggles were introduced to the world and made it easy to eat, talk on the phone, or play on the computer with out ever being cold.

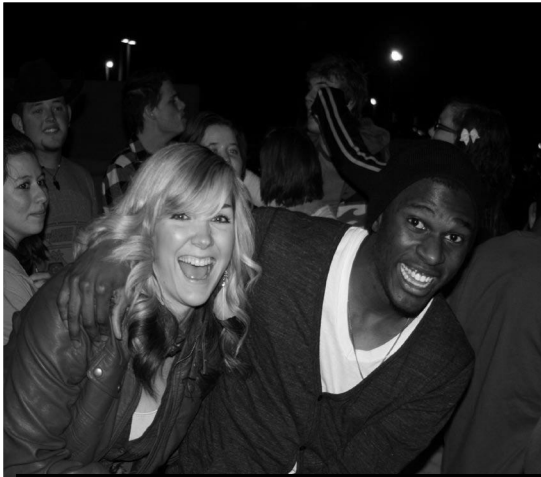

Spring, and summer brought on the dresses, long and flowing, and short and sweet. Of course strappy sandals and flip flops were still all the rage. There were even scarves for summer this year labeled "the summer scarf".

Styles for guys are changing also, they have a very diverse style choice from V-necks to tight jeans, to polos and button up shirts. A new style of hair has evolved, usually short, with longer bangs that sweep across the front of the face has been a big hit.

Technology wise iPhones, Mac Books and iPods are still very popular. The Wii was introduced to society and video games have reached a new level. Facebook and Myspace are still going strong, and there was a new network added this year called Twitter.

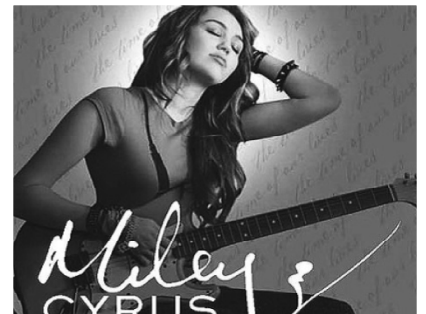

Taylor Swift knocked them dead in the music category this year, and is well on her way to setting numerous records in the music industry. Chris Allen won American Idol, over Adam Lambert shocking the nation. Miley Cyrus, along with Lady Antebellum had a break out year, and on iTunes the top-selling album, "Only By the Night" by Kings of Leon, was also chosen as album of the year. Lady GaGa was best new artist, while Michael Jackson was artist of the year.

Leather jackets, and V necks were all the rage this year, these swosu students rocked both at this residence life dance.

Greeks make a "Come Back"

This year, the Greeks have made a "come back." Greek life changed in the '90s when the social Greek organizations had to leave SWOSU. However, there are now 7 on campus; 4 national fraternities, and 3 local sororities. The fraternities include: Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Tau Gamma, Phi Delta Theta, and Theta Alpha Omega. The sororities include: Sigma Sigma Chi, Zeta Phi, and Kappa Delta Omega.

This year, the Greek system worked together and hosted one of the biggest blood drives ever held at SWOSU and held the first ever SWOSU Greek Sing to raise money for Relay for Life. The organizations also host many philanthropic events on their own such as Zeta Phi's annual calf fry, Tau Kappa Epsilon's annual Sit-In, and Sigma Sigma Chi's annual Batting for the Cure.

This school year, we have seen many new additions to the town of Weatherford. The campus has a new theatre, there is a new hotel for visitors to stay in, and there is a new deli where students can enjoy sandwiches. Also, there is a new clothing store, a new salon, as well as a renovated one, a new place to eat pizza, and of course, a completely new Wal Mart!

The College of Professional and Graduate Studies is a great program for SWOSU students. The college is growing and evolving. There are a lot of exciting things happening, such as the phenomenal growth of the business masters degree program (over 700 percent). The nursing school is moving out of the current building and into a new facility on campus (good-bye Stewart Hall basement, hello Parker Hall). Also, new innovative programs such as the First Tech Challenge robotic competition are happening all the time (the robots are coming!).

The college also has great opportunities for its students. There are career fairs throughout both semesters for students to explore future career and internship possibilities, and network with potential employers. The College of Professional and Graduate Studies also has many collaborative relationships with employers to help students get a foot in the door and gain experience and knowledge, along with their degree, to obtain employment after graduation.

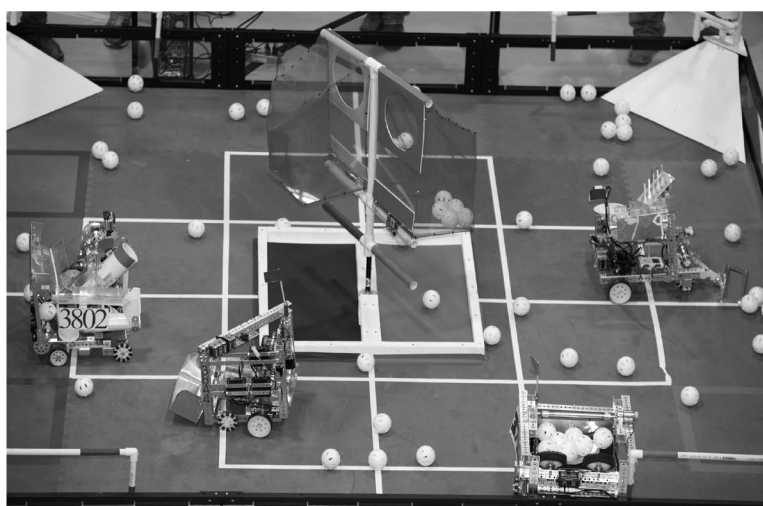

The college has a strong background and a bright future ahead. With the help of the finest faculty and a strong staff, students can expect to learn and grow and be apart of the best group on campus.

Southwestern had a rebuilding year in 2009. After adding a new coaching staff and many new players, the team finished 1-10.

The season was the first for coach Dan Cocannouer. The Bulldogs had several holes to fill for the season. Despite the obstacles, the Bulldogs were competitive in each game. Even in the last game of the season, the team stayed within three points of conference champion Texas A&M Commerce.

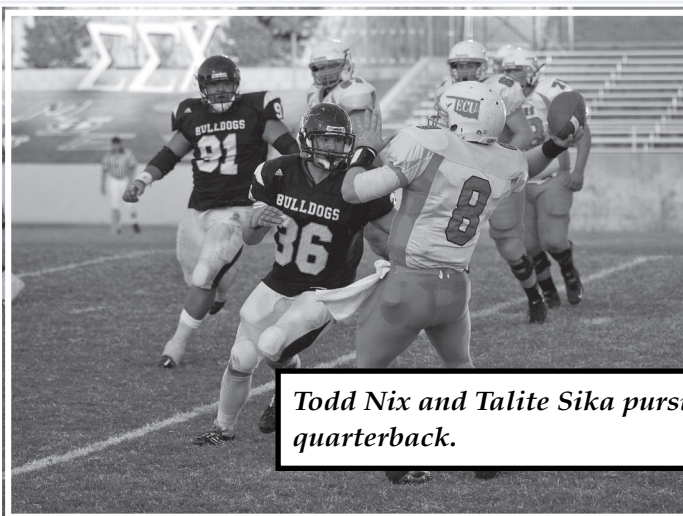

Southwestern had three players selected to the Lone Star Conference's North Division football team. Wide receiver Johnathan Haggerty, tight end Joe Sawyer and linebacker Fred Leak were each named to the division's top team. The first-team nod for Haggerty and Sawyer were the second of their careers while Leak's selections was his first. The Bulldogs had two other players - punter Chad McIntosh and offensive lineman Stephen Speer - earn second-team selection. SWOSU had three players earn honorable mention recognition. They were running back Bruce Hatton, defensive lineman Cory Summers and Nick Walker.

Southwestern quarterback Steve Day was again been selected as the Lone Star Conference's North Division Academic Player-of-the-Year. Day won the award in 2008 and was the top vote getter in balloting done by the league's sports information directors.

Day, graduate of Edmond Santa Fe High School, carries a 3.67 grade point average in kinesiology and is expected to graduate this May.

The SWOSU Lady Bulldogs ended the 2009-year with a 7-10-2 record. SWOSU finished 4-5-1 in Lone Star Conference play and placed seventh in the 11-team league. The Bulldogs narrowly missed qualifying for the LSC Tournament this year but Coach Persson has high hopes for next year.

Southwestern had one of the most improved soccer teams in NCAA Division II, according to Somis Sports, a nationally-known website that tracks improvements of sports teams at all levels. The Bulldogs were ranked third in NCAA Division II with an improvement rating of 2.12. No other Lone Star Conference school was ranked among the top 20 teams.

With seniors Rebecca Nelson, Samantha Dobson, Stephanie Kneedler, and Christina Kneedler the team had great leadership and direction.

The team put the finishing touches on its 2009 soccer season with a 2-1 victory over visiting Texas A&M-Commerce.

"I told the team afterwards that not a lot of teams get to finish the season with a win," head coach Mark Persson said.

Persson was selected as the Lone Star Conference Women's Soccer Coach of the Year with his great coaching and improvement with the soccer program. He says, "We have a lot of accomplishments to be proud of this year. Next year promises to be even better."

The Lady Bulldog Softball Team has jumped off to a great start.

With key players taking big roles the team is led by freshman Tori Joyner who holds the highest batting average in the entire Lone Star Conference.

Following behind her is sophomore Kristyn Shawver who tops the conference batting and sac bunt leader boards.

Four-year starter Stacey Creger continues to lead the team in Homeruns. The team's current record is 17-12. They recently closed the Lone Star Conference Crossover Tournament with a 2-0 loss to Angelo State. ASU is the nation's second-ranked NCAA Division II softball team, which shows the bulldogs can compete with the best.

SWOSU pitchers Cassie Chambless, Jenna Lilley, and Kristina Davis have really turned up the intensity for the season giving the team the extra push they need. The team plans to continue its' winning into conference play and onto the post season.

The women's basketball team had a huge task of replacing a head coach -- Shelly Pond -- and several starters from last year. Pond's replacement was Kelsi Bond, a former Canton High School and Cameron University standout. Bond had been serving as an assistant coach at Fresno State in California.

Bond spent the year instilling her work ethic and plays into the basketball program. Although the record (3-24) was down, the team showed progress and had a few very exciting wins at the end of the season.

The team loses only one senior to graduation. Jenna Sprague, a forward, says goodbye after four seasons on the team. This season, Sprague led the team with 11.7 points and 6.6 rebounds a game. She finished her career with 100 games played as a Lady Bulldog.

With such a young squad, Bond is looking forward to next year with more excitement, more energy, and more wins.

The Southwestern men's basketball team showed toughness to return to the Lone Star Conference playoffs for the seventh straight year.

After losing nearly all the starters from last year, the team still found ways to win, especially during a run in the late part of the season. Several key wins qualified the Bulldogs for the playoffs. Even though the team lost in the first round, the players showed determination throughout the game and season.

The team was led by first-year coach Charlie Schaef, who replaced Todd Thurman. Thurman resigned as coach to become Athletic Director.

Expectations were low due to the loss of several all-conference players. However, the team put together a 12-16 record while improving throughout the season. Schaef was pleased with the year despite the season-ending loss.

"Obviously, it is not the way we wanted to end the season with a loss, but I couldn't be more proud of our group," Schaef said. "We won six of our last nine games and had to work extremely hard to get this point. No one who watched this game could have faulted our effort."

Southwestern's cross country team competed in six meets in the fall, including the Lone Star Conference meet in October.

Brittany Strickland was the lone senior on the cross country team. The highest finisher for many of the meets was Chelsey Dillon. She won two meets and finished 27th out of more than 360 runners at the Missouri Southern Stampede.

Senior Brittany Strickland starts off strong at a cross country meet.

Freshman Chelsey Dillon won two meets out of six this year.

What's on your mind?

Southwestern's men's and women's rodeo teams had a great year. The teams featured several seniors performing well at both fall and spring rodeos. Through April 10, the women's team was second place in the Central Plains Regional Standings. That came after the team was forth in its own rodeo. SWOSU's top cowgirl in the event was Amy Outhier who placed first in the goat tying event with a combined score of 15.5 seconds. Outhier, a sophomore from Weatherford, finished seven tenths of a second faster than the second-place finisher, Jessica Birdsong of Southeastern.

The men placed third at a few rodeos and had several great individual efforts throughout the season. In the Kansas State Rodeo, Jared Parker was the top scoring cowboy for SWOSU at K-State by capturing the bareback riding event. Parker had a 78-point ride in the short round after earlier finishing in a tie for fifth in the long round. Parker's two rides were high enough to place him first in the average.

Tyler Kincaid, so. - Yes, you should see my grades!

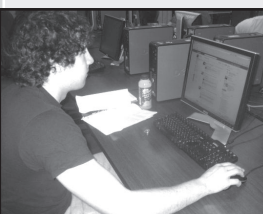

Kauli Broadhead, fr. - Yes! For example, I'm supposed to be writing a paper right now, but I'm on Facebook.

Xavier Prince, sr. - No, because I feel it gives you a little break.

Breann Robinson, jr. - Yes, most definitely! It's kind of an addiction but I'm getting better at doing important stuff before getting on.

Jarett Boss, fr. - On occasion, but that is not always bad.

Charleston Flemmings, jr. - Yes, all the time. I find myself about to do laundry, then I check my Facebook for a minute. Time flies by and my laundry is still sitting there.
