

One Act Plays Planned This Week at SWOSU

04.22.2013

SWOSU's Department of Communication and Theatre presents DIRECTIONS, a series of student directed and designed one-act plays, in the Hilltop Theatre this Wednesday through Friday, April 24-26, on the Weatherford campus.

Shows are 7 p.m. nightly. Admission is free for everyone, and there will be no advance tickets. Seating is available on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Seven different plays will be showcased with two nights featuring two productions and one evening featuring three. Students producing the plays are members of Steve Strickler's play directing class and Stephen Haynes's lighting design and costume design classes. Actors are also SWOSU students from a range of academic departments.

Strickler said some plays feature language that some may find offensive, so discretion is advised. For more information, contact Strickler at 580.774.3082 or at steve.strickler@swosu.edu.
