

Pharmacy Students Complete MBA in New Program at SWOSU

06.23.2015

Three Southwestern Oklahoma State University students—Ying Lin (third from left) of China, Malorie Vaughan of Altus and Jessica Murphy of Tulsa (Union)—were the first pharmacy students to graduate with dual degrees in pharmacy and Masters in Business Administration as part of a joint venture between the SWOSU College of Pharmacy (COP) and Everett Dobson School of Business and Technology. Honoring them were (from left) COP Dean Dr. Dennis Thompson, COP Assistant Professor Dr. Hardeep Saluja, SWOSU Distance and eLearning Director Marci Grant and COP Associate Dean Dr. David Ralph. The program allows pharmacy students to concurrently work toward the MBA degree.