

SWOSU Students Visit Louisiana as part of Class

07.07.2008

Taking the trip were (front from left): Crystal Stewart, Christen Westdyke, Monica Quezada and Brown. Back from left-Jeff Coakley, Evan Brooks, Matt McBride and Alan Moss.

As part of a summer political science course at Southwestern Oklahoma State University, several SWOSU students recently visited the Louisiana state capitol at Baton Rouge and toured the New Orleans area, examining the areas impacted by Hurricane Katrina. The course—Louisiana Justice and Politics—was taught by Dr. Dan Brown.