

SWOSU Student Interns at Department of Homeland Security

07.18.2014

SWOSU student Michael Morrison of Weatherford has participated in a summer internship with the Department of Homeland Security in Washington, D.C. He is shown with the many phones which are being held as evidence for legal cases.

Southwestern Oklahoma State University student Michael Morrison of Weatherford has participated in a summer internship with the Department of Homeland Security in Washington, D.C.

Morrison is a senior at SWOSU, majoring in computer science.

One of his first activities was completing Cellebrite CLO Certification, a mobile forensics fundamentals certification which teaches students the logical extraction and data analysis skills needed for various mobile devices.

Morrison works under the direction of a mentor to extract data from phones that can be used in a court of law when prosecuting an individual accused of a crime. One of his tasks has been sorting phones which are being held as evidence.