“24 Works on Paper” Exhibition to be at SWOSU Through November 23

24 Works on Paper, a travelling exhibition of work by living Oklahoma artists, opened to the public on October 8 at the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Art Building Gallery on the Weatherford campus, and the public is invited to view the exhibition that will be at SWOSU until November 23.

The show features original, contemporary Oklahoman artwork.

The 24 Works on Paper exhibition features 24 works of art created on paper, including media such as printmaking, drawing, painting and photography. The 2018 guest curator is Louise Siddons, Ph.D., associate professor of American, Native American, Modern and Contemporary art history at Oklahoma State University. Siddons' research interests focus on the history of printmaking and photography, particularly in relation to representations of race, racialization, gender and sexuality. She is also interested in the history of modernism in the margins, both socially and geographically.
