The free concert begins at 7:30 p.m. in the SWOSU Memorial Student Center Ballroom.

Edgar Cruz and Antsy McClain will perform a humorous musical duet as part of their "You Say Flamenco, I Say Flamingo Tour" on Sunday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the SWOSU Memorial Student Center Ballroom on the Weatherford campus.

Rockin' grooves and world class musicianship will be highlighted during the free concert. Everyone is invited.

"From classical to classics, from Flamenco to Flamingo, it's going to be an unforgettable show," said Jason Dupree of the Al Harris Library, which is sponsoring the show as part of its Library Showcase Series.

McClain received widespread national airplay in numerous genres with his previous release, Trailercana. He has infused his newest releases, New Good Old Days and The Beige Album, with rootsy, muscular blends of rock and roll that has become his trademark.

Having previously visited SWOSU in 2008, Cruz continues to be named Oklahoma's Best Performing Artist/Acoustic Guitarist five out of the last 10 years by the Oklahoma Gazette. Cruz gives over 200 live performances a year, mesmerizing audiences with his artistry and passion. With over 400 songs in his repertoire, solo performances by Cruz typically include amazing solo arrangements from traditional Latin songs to classic rock anthems.
