

Oklahoma Teacher of the Year to Speak to SWOSU Students on November 2

11.01.2011

Oklahoma Teacher of the Year Kristin Shelby of Hollis will speak to Southwestern Oklahoma State University students at the annual Student Teacher Professional Development Day being held November 2 on the Weatherford campus.

Shelby is a fourth grade teacher at Hollis Public Schools and was recently named Oklahoma's Teacher of the Year at a ceremony held at the Oklahoma State Fair in September. She will speak to SWOSU students at 9:15 a.m. in the SWOSU Conference Center.

Other speakers during the all-day event include: Bruce Belanger, coordinator of student teaching at SWOSU; Eddie Bennett, Weatherford Middle School principal; Paula Horn, Hydro-Eakly Elementary School principal; and Ed Klein and Debbie Case, both SWOSU Department of Education faculty members.
