New Blood Drive Record Set for Greatest Number of Pints

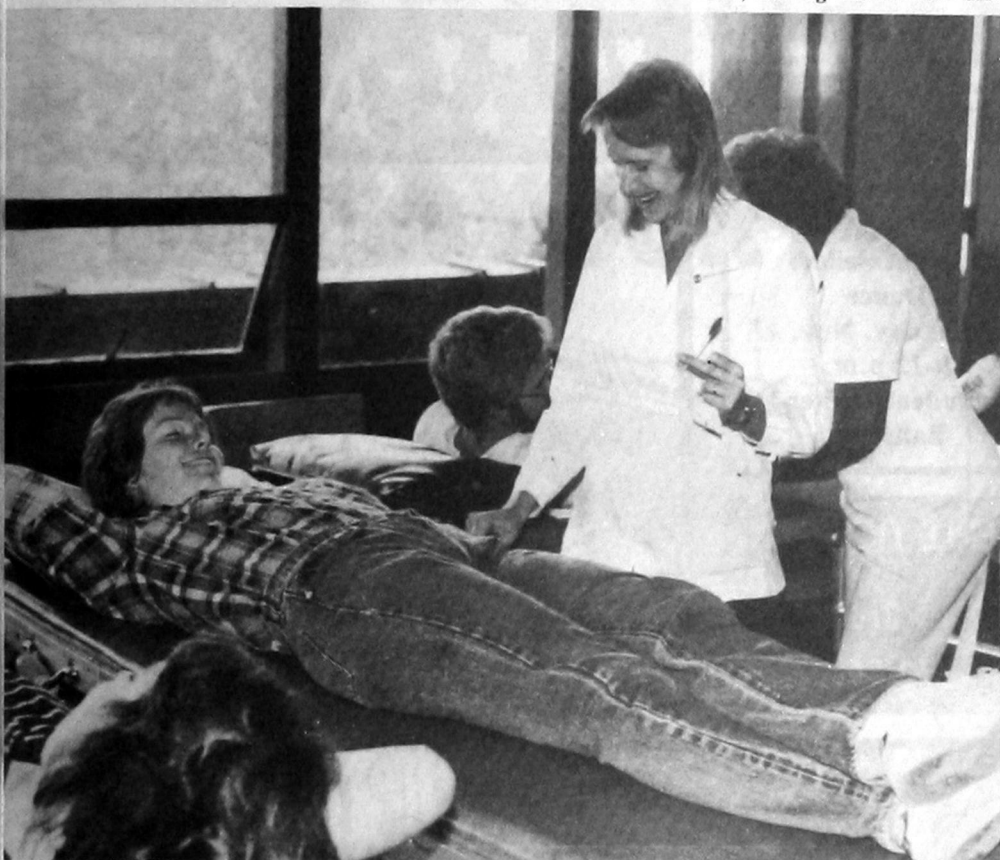

This semester's blood drive was a complete success, and Southwestern set a new record for number of pints donated," said Senate vice-president Ed Sley. As a result of the Nov. 10-11 blood drive, 434 pints of blood were donated to the Oklahoma Blood Institute. "This is a significant improvement over last year's drive of just over 200 total pints," Parsley added. Prizes were awarded to the three organizations with the greatest number of donors. One hundred dollars was given to the Baptist Student Union with 61 donors. Second prize and $50 was awarded to the Glee Club with 38 donors, and the TKE's with 24 donors received $50 for third place. The Senate expresses its appreciation to all those who took time to donate and also to the RK'd for donating game coupons to donors. A second blood drive will be held in March of next semester.

The Senate voted to accept Alpha Di Gamma Alpha, a national service organization, as an active campus organization. Its purpose is to serve and unify the liberal arts departments at Southwestern. The Senate also voted to organize a standing Homecoming Committee with Sandy Scroggins, chairman. The purpose of this committee is to plan Homecoming activities for next year.

GIVING BLOOD can be a beneficial experience. This student joined that experience along with 433 others, making this a record drive.

RELAXATION WOULDN'T seem to be among the feelings of giving blood, but this donor jokes with nurse as she prepares to begin.

Music Department to Present Jazz Festival Concerts

By CATHY HORN

Southwestern's department of music will present the 13th Annual Jazz Festival Concerts, Friday, Dec. 3, 6 and 8 p.m., at the Weatherford Public School Auditorium.

The concerts will feature the Andrea Baker-Steve Wilkerson Trio and be assisted by SWOSU's Jazz Ensemble, directed by Dr. Terry Segress, and Show Choir, directed by Skip Klingman.

Steve Wilkerson and Andrea Baker are Tulsans who, according to Leonard Feather, a nationally known jazz critic, "... would be making the major jazz festival scene if some agent or club owner in the Big Apple had the chance to discover them." They are becoming more known and admired everywhere they go.

Count B. J., WXXM Radio in Chicago, stated, "It didn't take much to recognize Steve Wilkerson as one of the most exciting, energetic, powerful tenor (sax) players I have ever heard."

Andrea Baker, Steve's wife since 1979, has been called "The White Ella" in the Chicago area. America's top jazz critics are comparing her to Ella Fitzgerald, calling her the next Queen of Jazz. An Okie from Muskogee, she received her B.M.E. at Tulsa University in 1977.

Tickets for the concerts are: Reserved $4, $5 at the door; General Admission $3, $4 at the door. For more information, contact SWOSU's Music Department, 772-6611, Ext. 4305.

COMPUTERS HAVE become a popular item as these students from Math Day experiment with the computer systems at Southwestern.

HIGH SCHOOL students from across the state seem to be fascinated with computer technology.

Rosie's Rap

By ROSE ANN RHODES

Many of us at one time or another feel this urge to do something either for our own benefit or for the benefit of others. Sometimes it may be a combination of both. We may feel the need to do some wild, crazy event such as sky-diving (no, I didn't jump out of a plane), or we may need to do something that will prove we can overcome a fearful event while at the same time help others such as giving blood (this I did).

For some time, I had wanted to give blood but have always had a terrible fear of needles. This time the blood takers were coming around, and several of my friends were going down to donate a pint. They wanted to know if I wanted to go too. Not only did I want to overcome this fear of needles, but I also did not want anyone to think I was that much of a chicken. Before I knew what hit me, I was standing in the line of blood donors.

There was a long line, so I had plenty of time to really give some thought as to what in the world I was doing. But how could I back out then? I always heard that the best way to overcome fear is to think of something else. While I stood in line not thinking about it, I looked down only to view this guy laying on a hard table with a needle jammed into his arm and blood running through a tube into a plastic bag. Yuk!

By this time, the line had drawn close to the nurses who were going to see if we passed inspection to give. Just as I was about to make a hasty retreat and get out of there, a nurse stuck a thermometer toward me, instructed me to put it in my mouth, and then proceeded to take my pulse. How could I get out of there!

About that time, I saw a girl in front of me who was getting ready to leave, and I knew she hadn't given any blood. Soon I heard someone say something about her being anemic. That was it! I would be anemic too. At any rate, maybe I couldn't give because my pulse rate was too high or my blood pressure was shot way up there. I couldn't imagine why it would be.

When I got up to the nurse who would take my blood type, I was fairly calm for I felt certain maybe I could be anemic. She tested it, asked me several questions, and wrote something down. She pointed to another line and handed me something. When I looked to see what it was, I knew I had had it for I was carrying a plastic bag with a long tube attached to it and a note that said I had passed. What now?!

Before I could think of "what," I was plopped on a hard table, and I was trying my hardest to remember that I wasn't scared. I started to turn to the nurse and tell her that I was terribly afraid of needles and please don't hurt me. I was too late. It was in, and she reminded me to keep pumping my arm.

Just like that, the event that had so long terrorized me was over, and I was again with my friends drinking orange juice and eating cookies. And to think, I helped someone too! I felt good.

Henson Elected

Faye K. Henson, Assistant Director of the Medical Record Program, has been elected vice-president of the Oklahoma Medical Record Association.

The vice-president of OMRA, aside from assisting the president, serves as chairman of the Education Committee which organizes continuing education programs for the medical record professionals in the state.

Henson, who is a registered Medical Record Administrator, received both her Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from Southwestern.

The next edition of "THE SOUTHWESTERN" is due Dec. 8, 1982.

'Westview' Receives Recognition

"Westview," a journal of Western Oklahoma, received one of the six awards--certificates of recognition--granted by Oklahoma Oil and Gas Association. The competition was an official project of Oklahoma's Diamond Jubilee. Published by Southwestern, the quarterly magazine received recognition for its numerous articles providing public awareness of Oklahoma's oil and gas heritage.

Sentinel Chamber of Commerce honored "Westview" by presenting its name in nomination for the competition. Mrs. Jane Rogers, secretary-treasurer of the organization, presented the Certificate of Recognition to the Editorial Board of "Westview."

"Westview" is the official quarterly of the Southwestern Center for Regional Studies of Southwestern Oklahoma State University. The magazine is available to everyone through subscription or at various news stands throughout western Oklahoma. It is beginning its second year of circulation.

Students Define Thanksgiving

By RENEE BAILEY

According to the Webster dictionary, Thanksgiving is a formal public expression of thanks to God for an annual U.S. holiday falling on the fourth Thursday of November.

For Glenn McNutt, Yukon junior, Thanksgiving is a time for being with his family. "It's a time for eating too. We always eat all the family together and have a big dinner."

"It's a time to be with my family and to eat lots of good food," said Karla Cameron, Missouri sophomore. Cameron went on to say, "It's also a time to give thanks for what my family and I have."

"It's when all of the family gets together and has a big dinner," stated Dave Smith, Mustang sophomore. "There's more people for Thanksgiving than for Christmas sometimes. It's definitely a time to eat good."

Brenda Daugherty, Custer City

freshman, says, "Thanksgiving is a time for being with family you don't see very often. It's also a time to listen to the older folks tell about their childhood."

Cydee Habekotte, Keystone junior, said, "It's an occasion many people take for granted. It's a time when the whole family can get together and have a great time."

Counselors to Hold Seminar in Union

Information on financial aids and discussions on housing and advanced standing exams will be the agenda for a seminar which is to be held Thursday, Dec. 2, in the upper lounge of the Student Union.

Beginning at 9 a.m., the seminar is especially designed for high school counselors and administration.

WOSU Concert To Feature Jazz Music

Southwestern's Music Department will present a jazz concert Nov. 21 at 3 p.m. featuring jazz ensembles A and B in the Oldence Auditorium.

Mike Knott, Lawton sophomore, plays trumpet for Jazz B. "I like jazz band because it gives me a break from classic and music."

"To be in jazz band you have to be devoted--practice when you really don't feel up to it or when you get frustrated," states Mike. Jazz A, directed by Dr. Terry Gress, practices every Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 3 p.m. The group is formed by audition only. Jazz B is for those who want to participate in jazz band and is directed by Mr. Robert Chambers.

Learning more by listening, Mike sits in on Jazz A and hasn't missed a rehearsal for either band. "I learn more about articulation and technique which helps me to enjoy concerts more."

The concert is free with student I.D.

Contamination Troubles Students

By James Nix

Contamination by people of nonprescription drugs, which has resulted in the death of seven and many serious injuries, has caused widespread concern across the nation and here on the Southwestern campus.

Asked what she would do if she found a contaminated product, Rita Kalk, El Reno senior, said, "I would immediately report it to the store so they could take the item off their shelves. Then I would contact the police."

With further contamination a possibility, many students are becoming increasingly aware of what they buy. Brandon Mithcell, Oklahoma City junior, said, "I've stopped buying anything that I don't absolutely need. I'd literally croak if I was poisoned."

When asked what should be done to avoid tampering of non-prescription drugs, many students expressed their ideas.

Jesse Adcock, Elk City sophomore, said, "The drugs should be placed out of reach from the public or placed in locked glass cases like 8-track tapes are. It would then be necessary to have a store clerk get whatever you needed; thereby eliminating the possibility of outside forces poisoning the drugs."

Russell Smith, Weatherford sophomore, said, "They should be continuously inspected to make sure they haven't been bothered with."

Trisha Barrows, Tulsa freshman, said, "I think the stores should upgrade their security measures. They should have plain-clothed security people watching the drugs and other things, such as candy, so that no one would have the opportunity to tamper with them."

Mike Hewitt, Woodward sophomore, presents a very simple, but unlikely solution. He says, "Ban them!"

Shoemaker and Kliever to Present Recital

Southwestern Music Department will present Rachel Shoemaker, saxophone, and Larry Kliever Jr., trumpet, in a Junior Recital on Thursday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in the Music Building, Room 101. Miss Shoemaker will be accompanied by Tonya Scott, piano, and three members of the Saxo-Alpha Pi Omega to Aid Special Olympic Funds

Funds for Special Olympics are being raised by Alpha Phi Omega. The Olympics will be held on campus during the spring semester. The fraternity hopes to raise the money by having a special kind of raffle. They plan to sell raffle tickets at $2 for a chance to win $200 for tuition and books. Drawing time is scheduled for Nov. 30 during the half-time of the Bulldog basketball game.

The Special Olympics is a track and field competition day for mentally retarded and physically disabled children. Participants will be given "sweats" for entering the competition. Alpha Phi Omega plans to raise enough to cover the cost of these sweats.

phone Quartet--Kay Thomas, Jennifer Willison, and Jim Laughlin.

Rachel is being instructed by Mr. William Hull, faculty member at Southwestern. She is working on her Bachelor of Science in Music degree. Her music activities include Tau Beta Sigma (treasurer, parliamentarian, historian), Kappa Kappa Psi, Wind Symphony, Woodwind Choir, Jazz Ensemble "B", Saxophone Quartet, and Marching Band.

Larry Kliever Jr. will be accompanied by Lavanya Banwart, piano. Larry is being instructed by Dr. Kenneth Snyder, faculty member at Southwestern. He is working on a degree in Music Education. His music activities include Kappa Kappa Psi (warden), Marching Band, Jazz Ensemble "B", and Brass Ensemble. Larry's future plans are professional performance and teaching.

SOSU Band Shines At Northeastern

The traditional away-from-home half-time performance of Southwestern's band, "The Pride of the Southwest," prompted Northeastern fans to applaud in a noisy fashion.

Whistles and whoops of acclamation followed each rendition as the band entertained before, during, and after the game between Southwestern and Northeastern at Tahlequah in late October.

Panhellenic Recognizes Faculty

By MELINDA NORTON

Panhellenic has voted to begin picking a favorite faculty member each week. All three sororities will pick three names, and these will be taken to Panhellenic where one name will be drawn. The faculty member will receive a carnation and recognition in THE SOUTHWESTERN. Panhellenic plans for this to be a way of recognizing the hard work and dedication that goes into each hour spent in the classroom and the hours spent preparing for class sessions.

Another idea Panhellenic has proposed is to give a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family in Weatherford. A $25 donation has also been made by Panhellenic to Weatherford to buy Christmas lights for the planned 75 ft. tree to be placed in the lot across from the Post Office.

Panhellenic has set the annual Awards Banquet for Nov. 30; time and place will be set later. Spring rush has been slated for sometime in January, and any interested persons should sign up in Dean Johnson's office.

Preparation was the key. Practicing every day at noon for the two preceding weeks, band members had put together a show featuring among other things, trombones, twirlers, and flag girls. And more.

Stunned at the number of sousa-phones, one Northeastern tuba player was heard to ask if everyone really played, or if they just carried the instruments.

Harvest Moon formal, put on by Sigma Kappa, has been set for Nov. 20. Gamma Phi Beta has set their swap with the PKE's for Nov. 17 and their pie throw for Dec. 2 beginning at 9 p.m. at Zak's. There will also be a combined pledge and member shopping trip in Oklahoma City Dec. 5. Alpha Gamma Delta is selling erasers to raise money for juvenile diabetes.

The people who get on in the world are those who get up and look for the circumstances they want, and if they can't find them, make them. George Bernard Shaw.

Tahlequah's homecoming parade started at 9:30 a.m., and Southwestern's band snapped to attention at the commands of drum majors Debbie Tapp, Enid senior, and Randy Brooks, Marlow junior.

A little later, during pre-game festivities, Northeastern fans had the opportunity to see and hear more of what the Southwestern music department has to offer as the band rendered additional selections.

Then came the half-time performance, and after that a trumpet duel with a member of the Southwestern band competing against a member of Northeastern's. The winner was Southwestern's August ne Garcia, Del City sophomore.

Other highlights of the trio, which began with Kappa Kappa Psi members loading band instruments on chartered Greyhound busses Friday, included a stop at Okmulgee High School.

Band members there joined Southwestern's in a pizza party featuring entertainment by pledges of band organizations, leaving less than four hours for sleep before the departure to Tahlequah the following morning.

Basketball Season To Be Tough

The Southwestern men's basketball team will have a difficult schedule this season because the number-one team in the nation is in their district. The Sooner Athletic Conference in which Southwestern plays is the strongest it has been in some time because all the top teams will keep their top players.

Coach George Hauser said, "We have to utilize the strength we have on the inside. The outside shooting is sufficient enough to make the inside game work, and we also need to bring out the defense. This year's additions will make a better team to start and will improve as time goes on."

This year's season is also unusual because we don't play outside of Oklahoma."

Coach Hauser noted the fact that if a team improves it may not make a difference because other teams have improved also.

Top starters returning to play for Southwestern this year will be Phil McManus, 6-7, who averaged 11 points per game; Myke Burum, 6-8, who averaged 11.5 points per game; Curtis Adams, 6-0; Rod Walker, 6-5, and Flonzo Hollins, 6-5. Transfer students will include Charles Harris, a 6-3 junior guard who transferred from Gulfcoast Junior College in Gulfport, Miss., and Dennis Mays, a 6-4 senior guard who has played with the Cameron Aggies.

Beginning his seventh season as head coach with a record of 99-70, Hauser is a graduate of Edmond High School and has a Bachelor of Arts and a Master of Arts degree from Central State University.

Hauser has led four Southwestern teams to conference championships. Before coming here, he was at American Christian College in Tulsa. Hauser also spent five years as head basketball coach at Bacone Junior College before going to American Christian College. His college coaching career is a 321-135 record.

Cheerleaders Prep For Basketball

As the football season ends and the basketball season begins the cheerleaders are shifting from one game a week to three or four games a week. "Basketball season is exciting!" said Paula Danley, Turpin junior.

Keeping eight cheerleaders well this past football season has been something to cry about. From pulled muscles to broken arms, the cheerleaders have suffered. "Through it we managed to get the job done," quoted Kathy Foster, Alex junior.

Containing the spirit that was formed this football season will be a job that has to be done by the cheerleaders. Promoting spirit is the main objective in this situation, and the cheerleaders plan for it to be a success.

Bulldog Season Ends Big

By ERNIE HOBERECHT
Southwestern killed East Central Saturday as they won 53-14. Southwestern took the lead with 12 left in the first quarter when Coley hitting his mark for the extra point. The Bulldogs scored more times in the first quarter when Giddings returned a punt for 87 yards and Price scoring on a 9-yard run, with only one point after by Coley being good.

Mean Machine Champions

The Mean Machine upset the state's reigning champions Playmates for the Tau Kappa Epsilon Powderpuff title. The win boosted the Mean Machines' record to 5-2 and the Playmates to 1-1.

The game was a defensive struggle that took three overtimes to decide. The first score by the Mean Machine was a halfback pass from Valerie Jenkins to Diane Johnson. The extra point failed. The Playmates stormed back with a 35-yard scamper by their quarterback to tie the score 6-6. The score remained in a deadlock until the third overtime. When Shelly Schultz, Playmates fullback, took a pitch on an option play and cruised in for the score. However, the Mean Machine got the ball and on their second try Valerie Jenkins smashed for the score from the five-yard line and led the score 12-12.

For the final score the Mean Machine's quarterback cut up the field and knocked her way into the end zone to win the game, 18-12.

The Bulldogs scored three times in the second quarter to make the half-time score 41-0. Ellenberg scored a 22-yard run with the point after no good. With 8:45 left in the second quarter, Hoffman completed a 12-yard pass from Price and a two-point conversion play was successful. With 2:23 left in the second quarter, Price completed a 15-yard pass to Ellenberg to score their third touchdown of the quarter with the point after successful.

In the third quarter East Central scored first with 8:28 left. The extra point attempt was no good. Southwestern came back and scored with 3:26 remaining in the third quarter on an Ellenberg 15-yard run. The extra point attempt was no good. East Central scored again in the third quarter with a successful two-point conversion to make the score 47-14.

The last score of the game was in the fourth quarter with 11:32 remaining to play--a 25-yard run by Ellenberg. The point after attempt was no good.
