

11-15-1999

Old

Robert Parham

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.swosu.edu/westview>

 Part of the Fiction Commons, Nonfiction Commons, Photography Commons, and the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Parham, Robert (1999) "Old," Westview: Vol. 19 : Iss. 1 , Article 25.
Available at: <https://dc.swosu.edu/westview/vol19/iss1/25>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at SWOSU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Westview by an authorized administrator of SWOSU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact phillip.fitzsimmons@swosu.edu.

Old

by Robert Parham

I like old. Old gold. Old news. Old.

Old news is good news, I say. To be old news it must be tossed back at us, an insult, old news, you say, but you remembered it, or what you would return in its place is silence. Yes, old news is good news. Old.

New gold. Think of it. Do you think of gold as new? Just discovered, somehow gold or gems of any kind are somehow, always, old. Gold is never new except it's fool's gold shining in the eye of sharp-tongued faddist barking "old. . . old" while his polyester clothes wait by the shredder and his catalogs, damp (as tears) and smell of mildew, rot like pages from a calendar.

Old, I say, like stones. Pick up any one and put it on the scale for ballast. Any stone. Sit. Stone. Old.

