

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank the contributors to this volume, who were kind enough to respond to my invitation to participate and went on to produce some of the finest academic writing I've yet encountered.

I owe thanks to Christina Wolf, Archivist & Special Collections Librarian at Oklahoma City University, for help acquiring excellent samples of artwork for this text.

I also appreciate the valuable time and feedback the following manuscript reviewers offered: Marc Lucht and Catherine DiPaolo.

Finally, I'd like to thank the organizers of the March 11, 2012, Southwest Commission on Religious Studies conference — including Katherine Brown Downey and Darren Middleton — who helped introduce our work-in-progress to a larger audience of fellow scholars who reassured us that we were, indeed, onto something special with this project.
